CHINA'S CRISIS GROWS AS CHIEF IS HELD CAPTIVE

Charges Fly Between Tokio and Moscow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 14.—China was drawn to the verge of civil war and perhaps an international war today as the whereabouts and fate of her virtual dictator, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, remained unknown to the population. However, Nanking was sending many divisions of troops to his rescue.

The mystery of what happened over the week-end at Sianfu, Shensi province, was deepened today by a flood of conflicting reports regarding Chiang and his captor, Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, from whom Japan took Manchuria.

The international tension was enlivened by vigorous charges by Japan that Moscow prompted communists to stage the Shensi revolt and kidnap China's dictator. These charges were met by Moscow statements that Japanese provocateurs brought matters to a boil to gain Tokio's aims in the far east.

Report Second Meeting.

When Marshal Chang's troops mutinied and seized Gen. Chiang, "strong man" of China, on Saturday, Chang demanded that the Nanking government immediately declare war on Japan; regain Chang's lost province of Manchuria [Manchukuo], and reform the Kuomintang [Chinese Nationalist party] to admit communists.

Today's dispatches to Shanghai contained these conflicting reports:

1. Loyal troops rescued Chiang from Chang.
2. Chang's troops had "gone communist," mutinied, seized Chang, and were holding him as well as Chiang.
3. Representatives of Nanking and Marshal Chang are conferring at Loyang on a compromise to effect Chiang's release.

Sends Message to Wife.

Gen. Chiang's wife, who made a plane trip to Loyang and returned to Nanking, received a telegram from Sianfu, signed with her husband's name advising her his health was good, urging her not to worry, and acknowledging receipt of her telegram sent yesterday. Authorities in Nanking, Peiping, and Shanghai received telegrams from Marshal Chang saying he would be responsible for Gen. Chiang's safety.

The marshal telegraphed the military affairs commission at Nanking reporting that Gen. Chiang's chief aid, Gen. Chien Ta-chun, had committed suicide, but the government believes he was killed by the rebels. Otherwise private and news messages from Sian were cut off.

Government observation planes reported street fighting in Sianfu today and also a severe battle at Sianyang, fifteen miles to the northwest, between a government detachment and rebels.

Troops Surround Shensi.

Gen. Ho Ying-chin, Nanking war minister, who has assumed Gen. Chiang's usual duty of directing the army, has sent 25,000 troops north from Nanking toward Sianfu, 800 miles northwest, to fight for the release of the generalissimo. Government troops in all surrounding provinces were marching to the borders of Shensi. These included Suiyuan troops, to the north of the province, which have been battling Mongol rebels and Japanese-Manchukuan forces on the borders of soviet controled Outer Mongolia.

Two of Marshal Chang's rebel divisions, remnants of his former army which the Japanese drove from Manchuria, were said to be holding Tungkwan, strategic city, after cutting the Lunghai railway, chief entry to Sianfu.

Tokio Consults Germany.

Tokio reported that the Japanese government was in consultation with Germany to adopt a stand in conformity with their recently signed anti-communist pact.

[Berlin said that if any conversations were going on, it was merely between the German ambassador on his own authority and the Tokio foreign office. Previous reports had said that Marshal Chang's revolt was a protest against the Japanese-German pact.]

Japanese reports also asserted Nanking was trying to "buy off" Marshal Chang. The Domei agency said it was feared that anti-Japanese agents of the Chinese "popular front" would attempt to divide China into two hostile camps, a popular front against the national front.

Tokio officials pointed to the

WHEAT JUMPS 5 TO 8 CENTS ON SHORTAGE NEWS

German Disclosures Agitate Market.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Grain prices shot upward yesterday in the biggest one day rise since the wild "inflation" market in July, 1933. Wheat gains ranged from 5 to 8 cents per bushel on the American markets.

All grains were affected by the disclosure in news stories of a sudden worldwide rush to buy before the impending shortage becomes acute. The closing prices on the Chicago Board of Trade represented gains in all grains ranging from 2⅝ to 8 cents a bushel. Wheat reached a seven year high for the second time in five days. It rose last Thursday to $1.29⅝ and yesterday hit $1.35⅝.

Clamoring buyers in markets all over the world thus suddenly dramatized the fundamental change in the grain situation which has been developing ever since the last summer's drouth began to accentuate the political crop reduction schemes in the United States and in other big grain producing nations.

Nazi News Is Touchoff.

The touchoff came over the week-end when news dispatches disclosed that statisticians had underestimated the German grain needs and the Nazis would have to buy a million metric tons of wheat [about 36,500,000 bushels] and the same amount of rye.

This sensational development was all the market needed to let loose a buyers' panic and the mad rush to accumulate supplies, especially by nations anxiously preparing for possible war, was on with a rush.

Most spectacular performance on the Chicago Board of Trade was the upsurge in wheat for December delivery. At one time yesterday December wheat here was up 7½ cents above last week's closing price. In Minneapolis it was up 8 cents. The close in the pit here was at $1.35 to $1.35⅝, a gain of 6½ cents for the day. This represented a gain of 50 cents from the low of 85 cents per bushel early this year.

The tumultuous buying wave, however, was not limited to the Chicago and other American markets. With the exception of Canada, where markets were closed for a holiday [King George's birthday], similar performances were being witnessed in grain trading all over the world.

European Prices Soar.

Liverpool wheat futures soared more than 4 cents a bushel, with cash wheat quoted within a fraction of $1.50 per bushel, or about a dollar above the low price touched in 1933. In Buenos Aires wheat for future delivery closed 6⅝ cents per bushel higher.

In Chicago, where Board of Trade rules place a ceiling on quotations, permitting a daily fluctuation of not more than 5 cents per bushel in wheat for delivery in future months, wheat for delivery next May and July shot up the full 5 cents and closed there. The limit on price fluctuations on December wheat is 8 cents.

As other grains rode upward in the big parade, corn quotations rose more than 3 cents per bushel; rye, 5 to 6 cents; oats, as much as 2⅝ cents; barley, 4 cents; and soy beans, 3¾ to 4½ cents. New high prices for this season were rung up on all deliveries of grain traded in at the Board of Trade except corn for delivery this month.

Other Nations Buying.

Added to the prospect of heavier purchases of food and feed grains by Germany was the actual taking of substantial quantites by European nations in the leading exporting regions. Trade reports indicated that about three and a half million bushels of Canadian, Argentine, and Australian cash wheat were bought yesterday by importing nations, about half of which was understood to have been taken by Italy. German buying was reported, but the actual amount was not known.

The United States, formerly one of the leading exporting nations, is not participating in foreign sales because of the effects of the drouth, plus the crop reduction schemes of the New Deal. This country is now buying millions of bushels of corn from the Argentine and quantities of wheat from Canada.

In fact, America is a net buyer of wheat for the third successive year, according to a copyrighted article,

IF PRESIDENT WILSON HAD KEPT US OUT OF WAR

COPYRIGHT 1936 BY CHICAGO TRIBUNE — McCUTCHEON —

President Wilson sat before the fire. His face was white and drawn. Upon him pressed the grave responsibility of making a decision of vast consequence to his country for generations to come.

"The country has reëlected me because I kept it out of war," he reflected. "Even after the provocation of the Lusitania and the following year and a half of submarine warfare, they have still voted against being dragged into a conflict which owes its origin to causes entirely European.

"I'm convinced this terrific propaganda to get us into the war does not express the sentiment of the people as a whole.

"I'm convinced it is promoted by a relatively small but powerful minority, mostly from the eastern states; and so convinced am I that this is true that I solemnly believe that if we declared war there would not be 1,500 volunteers in the first twenty-five days from all the six New England states that have been so vociferous in urging us in, and not 3,000 volunteers from all of the New York state's ten million.

"We should have to draft our armies under threat of drastic punishment. They would not enlist voluntarily.

"These passionate propagandists say America will lose its soul if it doesn't go in. I have heard nothing about Sweden, Norway, Holland, or Switzerland losing their souls, and heaven knows they have had much greater provocation to enter the war than we.

"American expatriates from France are over here telling us our duty is to rush to the aid of France.

"Would France help us if we were at war with an European nation? Not much! In the Spanish American war she was against us. In the civil war, when we were desperately involved and unable to defend the Monroe Doctrin, Louis Napoleon sent shiploads of French soldiers to establish imperialism in Mexico.

"Royalist France helped us during the American revolution, but Republican France has always opposed us. History warns that help now given to France will be repaid by the basest ingratitude." He smiled bitterly as his eyes rested upon a portrait of Andrew Jackson.

"The United States has been greatly provoked by both sides. This was inevitable as long as we, professed neutrals, were selling and sending billions of dollars' worth of munitions and food supplies to the allies, while at the same time yielding our legal right to ship noncontraband foodstuffs to Germany.

"Britain stops our ships and opens our mail. Germany sinks ships in the war zone with American passengers on board. No allied ship will sail from America without at least one American on board.

"By one belligerent we lose our trade secrets; by the other we lose American lives. It is a question which most deeply outrages our national honor.

"If America stays out Page will be broken hearted. He has allowed himself to become more British than the British. I shall not be surprised to find, after the war is over, that he has been advising the British as to the best means of outwitting this country in its effort to compel the allies to honor our rights under international law.

"I refuse absolutely to accept the doctrin that the United States must inevitably be drawn into every major European war, no matter if we have nothing to do with its causes. If we accept this doctrin we shall have to surrender the God given advantage with which geography has blessed us.

"This country is composed of all European races. If we embark in European wars we cannot have a united nation. We shall always be torn by European controversies. The hyphen will be a spearhead pointed at the nation's heart.

"Lives and money are not the only things a nation loses in a war. History tells us that the cost in character and ethics and morals is much greater.

"War leads to vast profits, frenzied greed, lowered standards of business ethics, lowered morals and conduct.

"Nations cannot spend years in exalting the grim business of killing by wholesale, of nurturing lies to fan the flames of hate against the enemy, of claiming God as a partisan, and of teaching the philosophy of eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we may die, without seeing a wholesale wreckage of moral standards that will endure long after peace has been declared.

"A nation cannot mortgage its future to the extent of many billions of dollars to make the world safe for democracy without creating financial conditions that will hang like a millstone upon the necks of its people for generations to come.

"I shall go before congress and demand that a state of preparedness be created as a measure of national insurance.

"To the demand of the propagandists that we throw our vast power into the flames of war I shall say NO!

"I shall say that the people of this nation have not shown by any test yet made that they want to go into the war.

"I shall say that future generations of Americans will thank God that I withstood the impact of this terrific propaganda and kept the nation out of war!

"Statesmen should try to keep their people out of war. If small groups of statesmen persist in leading them into war it is inevitable that governments everywhere will be overthrown and new forms set up.

"Of course I know that if war is declared the nation will follow where I lead—that is, after they are conscripted. They can be worked up to sublime heights of patriotic emotion. They will sanction any cost, any sacrifice. They will waste billions in hasty, ill-considered preparations as they wasted it in not being prepared.

"But in spite of all this I know they will come out of the war disillusioned, tricked, resentful, embittered, and millions of broken veterans will feel they never want to hear the name of their European allies again."

DEAF MUTE GIRL SHOT TO DEATH BY A DEAF SUITOR IN ELEVATOR

New York, Dec. 14.—(AP)—In a closed automatic elevator, Miss Alberta Castello, 26 year old deaf mute, was shot to death tonight. Valentino Orrigo, 25, her former sweetheart, was arrested by police as her slayer.

The tragedy took place in the apartment house where the girl lived, 711 East 230th street.

Detectives asserted Orrigo, also deaf and dumb, who stood by while the woman was being carried to an ambulance, asked in sign language for pencil and paper and wrote out a confession to the shooting.

SUIT AGAINST MAE WEST LOST IN N. Y. COURT

New York, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Frank Wallace, vaudeville actor, lost his court action today to have Mae West declared his legal wife after the film actress established she has had "neither residence nor domicile" in this state for many years.

Supreme Court Justice Joseph M. Callahan, for this reason, ruled he could not serve her with notice of action by publication in newspapers of New York state.

Justice Callahan also said that an affidavit by Wallace revealed the couple were separated many years by mutual consent and that Wallace "went so far as to marry someone else from whom he has since been divorced."

Miss West denied Wallace's claim they were married in 1911 in Milwaukee, Wis.

125 Officers Seize Bandit in Gun Battle

New York, Dec. 15 [Tuesday].—[Special.]—Driven by fire from his apartment hideout Harry Brunette, 25 year old bank robber wanted for the kidnaping of a New Jersey state trooper, stood off twenty-five G-men under the personal command of J. Edgar Hoover, their chief, and a hundred patrolmen and detectives early this morning. They had surrounded his flat in West 102d street. They finally captured him.

For thirty-five minutes after firemen, who were trying to put out the blaze started by tear gas bombs, had been driven to cover Brunette exchanged shots with the G-men and police, armed with submachine guns, while the flames roared from furniture and draperies in the room in which he had been trapped.

Girl Companion Shot.

In the 35 minute battle there was only one truce for a brief moment—when a young woman who had been living with Brunette staggered into the line of fire, wounded.

The young woman, later identified as Arlene Le Beau, 25, fell in the hallway of the apartment. Fire from the federal raiders ceased and an agent darted into the hall, caught up the girl and carried her to an upstairs apartment. Later she was taken to Bellevue hospital, where she was found to be in a serious condition from a bullet wound in the spine.

Not until his ammunition began running low and the flames creeping closer did Brunette surrender. Finally, after he had fired more than 50 rounds of ammunition, he came into the hall. His hands were upraised in surrender, and the firing stopped.

Spectators Jam Street.

Brunette was placed in an automobile and taken to the federal building. Mr. Hoover, hurrying away with his agents, declined to make a statement except to say that the New York police and the New Jersey authorities had coöperated.

Many of the police had to brave the line of fire during the siege to keep away crowds of spectators who jammed West End avenue and Riverside drive.

Brunette was wanted as a suspect in bank robberies in Pennsylvania and other states and for the abduction of State Trooper William A. Turnbull last Nov. 11. Turnbull was carried from Somerville, N. J., to Freemansburg, Pa., by two armed men and a woman he had stopped for speeding. The special agents of the department of justice were called in because he had been taken across a state line.

Wanted for Wisconsin Robbery.

Green Bay, Wis., Dec. 15 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Harry Brunette, 25, reported arrested in New York today, is wanted in Wisconsin on charges of robbing banks at Seymour, Ripon, and Monroe.

Brunette and Merle Vandenbush, 29, have been accused of crimes in Wisconsin, New Jersey, and Ohio. Both formerly lived here.

The last Wisconsin robbery attributed to them was at Citizens' bank of Monroe, Nov. 17. Bank officials identified pictures of Brunette and Vandenbush as those of the two men who escaped with $8,000.

Both men are fugitives from the state prison farm at London, O., from which they escaped last July.

REPORT ITALIAN KING, VICTOR EMMANUEL, ILL WITH INFLUENZA

ROME, Dec. 15 [Tuesday].—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel was reported early today by usually well informed sources to be ill in bed with influenza.

These sources said the king, who is 67, became ill three days ago. Influenza has been prevalent in Rome for the last few weeks.

They said he went to bed yesterday after consulting palace physicians. He was reported to be uncomfortable, but not a serious condition.

Jury Acquits Thomas; U. S. Demands Quiz

The trial of Frank R. Thomas of Park Ridge, an insurance underwriter, on a charge of using the mails to extort $2,000 from Harry R. Kendall of Evanston, a wealthy insurance company executive, ended last night under unusual circumstances in the Federal court of Judge Charles E. Woodward.

After about three hours of debate the jury found Thomas not guilty. Assistant District Attorneys Martin Ward and Austin Hall immediately announced that today they would ask the grand jury to investigate the Thomas jury.

See Witness Talk to Juror.

The prosecutors said that last Friday a defense witness was seen to talk with one of the jurors as he left the courtroom at the end of that day's session of the trial. The jurors were allowed to go home at night.

"This is not a case of losing with bad grace," declared Ward. "We simply want to know what connection the defense witness and the juror have. After witnessing their talk we informed Judge Woodward who advised us to wait until the end of the trial before taking any action."

Story of the Case.

Thomas, the father of four children and a respected citizen in his community, was arrested on Sept. 8 in his home at 325 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge. Department of justice agents and Evanston policemen had followed Thomas' son, Billy, 12 years old, to the home after the boy took a package from a locker in the Park Ridge station of the North Western railroad.

The package, a decoy, was placed in the box in accordance with instructions given Kendall in two letters received at his home, 425 Grove street, Evanston. Thomas insisted he had no knowledge of the plot. He sent his son to the station, he declared, after a telephone caller asked that Billy get the package and leave it on the front porch of the Thomas home to be called for later.

Friend of Kendall's Son.

The agents learned that Thomas was employed as chief underwriter for the Great Northern Life Insurance company and served also as a consultant for other companies, including the Washington National Insurance company, of which Kendall is chairman.

At the trial the government produced a typewriter from the Great Northern Life Insurance office. Experts testified that it was on this machine that the extortionist wrote.

The defense offered witnesses to show that Thomas was playing golf when the first letter was posted on Aug. 30 and was working at his office when the second letter was time-stamped on Sept. 3.

Superior Testifies for Him.

R. G. Royer, president of the Great Northern Life Insurance company, was one of several witnesses who testified to Thomas' good character.

"If the G-men hadn't bungled the start of the case," said Edward Hess of defense counsel in his closing argument yesterday, "they would have caught the real culprit who used Billy Thomas as a dupe."

PRIMATE LAUDS KING'S LOYALTY TO THE CHURCH

Realm's Honor to Be Upheld: George.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Dec. 14.—According to the Daily Express, cabinet changes may be expected during the parliamentary recess which begins Friday. The Express says any changes, it is believed, will be among ministers at the head of Whitehall departments. Prominent among those departments is the war office, headed by Alfred Duff Cooper, who is reported to have been one of few critics within the cabinet of Prime Minister Baldwin's policy to oppose any suggestion of a morganatic marriage between King Edward and Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 14.—The conflict between the Church of England and Edward VIII., who abdicated the British throne for the love of Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, was aired tonight by the archbishop of Canterbury in the house of lords. The head of the Church of England spoke of the "humble address" of loyalty and devotion passed earlier in the day by the house of lords and the house of commons in reply to the first message to parliament of the new king, George VI.

Following up his attack on Edward and the "social circle" in which the exiled monarch moved, over the radio last night, the primate told the lords of his "immense satisfaction" that he would now have the task of crowning and administering the oath to a king whose close attachment to the church was conspicuous.

"I think we already look back on the last week as a painful past," said the archbishop. "We all look forward with thankfulness and hope to the great event of the coronation.

Voices His Satisfaction.

"May I say as one to whom a special responsibility of that ceremony is entrusted, that it is to me an immense satisfaction to realize that I can address to his majesty those noble words with a full sense of their reality and that they will find response in the king's heart."

George VI.'s message which was read to both houses, said:

"I have succeeded to the throne in circumstances which are without precedent and at a moment of great personal distress, but I am resolved to do my duty and I am sustained by the knowledge that I am supported by widespread good will and sympathy from all my subjects here and throughout the world.

"It will be my constant endeavor, with God's help and supported by my dear wife, to uphold the honor of the realm and promote the happiness of my peoples."

Baldwin Praises King.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, who read the royal message to the house of commons, praised the new king. He said:

"I have the honor of knowing the new king well and I would tell the house, if they do not know it already, that what will endear him to his people, if he be not already endeared, is that more than any of his brothers he resembles in character and disposition his father [George V.], whose loss we were lamenting eleven months ago.

"He has the same devotion to duty. Whatever may happen to him, no personal predilections of any kind will stand between him and what he conceives to be his duty—and that is to fulfil his great task as king and emperor."

Archbishop Bitterly Criticized.

The excoriating attacks by the archbishop of Canterbury on former King Edward and his social circle aroused much criticism in parliamentary lobbies and in the press tonight. It is probable that the primate's broadcast will become an issue in the house of commons this week.

Most newspapers printed letters from subscribers denouncing the archbishop for "hitting a man when he is down," as an irate Daily Telegraph reader put it. The News-Chronicle and the Daily Express for Tuesday editorially castigated the archbishop, whose full name is the Rt. Hon. Cosmo Gordon Lang, and demanded an end to pinpricking.

The Express extended its editorial chastisement to include Archdeacon

Lamble of Melbourne, Australia, who was reported today to have declared that "if the former king had been controled by his sense of responsibility toward the Eternal and not guided by his exotic entourage he would not be gone."

The opinion of the house of commons at present is divided into two schools. The first holds that the archbishop was right in making the statement as head of the church of England. The second holds the attack was unfair because the king and his friends had no adequate means of replying.

It is probable the subject will be raised when commons debates the British Broadcasting corporation charter on Thursday. Members of parliament then intend to ask whether the archbishop's broadcast was made with the approval of the cabinet, and whether any minister saw the archbishop's manuscript beforehand.

Since no minister is answerable for any action by the head of the established church the members of parliament are finding difficulty in framing an acceptable question.

Swear Fealty to King.

Throughout the day members of parliament continued to swear fealty to the king. William Gallacher, the communist, and several others declined to swear the oath of allegiance with hand on a Bible. They substituted the words, "affirmation of good faith."

Parliament's expression of loyalty will be conveyed to King George tomorrow by a delegation of privy councilors headed by Prime Minister Baldwin.

The king celebrated his 41st birthday today by conferring upon Queen Elizabeth, who once was a commoner of Scotland, the Most Noble Order of the Garter. This is the highest honor of the land. Queen Mother Mary is the only other woman member of the order.

Queen's Famous Words Recalled.

Founded in 1349 by Edward III., the Order of the Garter is said to be the oldest in the world. It has a very limited membership. It is generally believed the order originated when Edward's queen dropped her garter and uttered the famous words, "Honi soit qui mal y pense!" [Shamed be he who thinks evil of it] as the king picked it up. By way of rebuke to those who "saw harm" in it Edward then placed the garter around his own knee.

Queen Elizabeth was recovered sufficiently from an attack of influenza to act as hostess at a family birthday party in the king's London home. Those attending were: Queen Mother Mary; the princess royal, who is the king's sister; the duke and duchess of Gloucester, his brother and sister-in-law; Princess Alice, the countess of Athlone, and her husband, the earl of Athlone, who is a brother of the queen mother.

George VI. spent his birthday quietly, visiting Buckingham palace in the morning to deal with state affairs. He took with him two packages—presents from his daughters, Princesses Elizabeth, 10, and Margaret Rose, 6.

Spends Evening at Home.

He lunched with his family and spent the evening at home. By the king's own wish there were no official celebrations of his birthday apart from firing gun salutes in Hyde Park and in the Tower of London and the hoisting of flags on government buildings.

Contrary to usual custom, it was announced the New Year's honors list, elevating favored ones to new ranks or titles, will be deferred until Feb. 1. The king, who will spend Christmas at Sandringham castle with his family, also decided not to broadcast the traditional yuletide message to the empire, thereby carrying out a previous decision of Edward.

Move to Block Divorce Dropped.

It was learned that the movement to prevent Mrs. Simpson's divorce decree from becoming absolute next April has been abandoned. A complaint against the granting of the decree was entered by a "common informer." The informer decided not to file an affidavit supporting notice of appearance which was filed last Wednesday. The limit for filing such an affidavit expired this afternoon.

"I am not proceeding because I have no wish to inconvenience Edward," said the "informer's" lawyer. "I was stirred and impressed by his broadcast in which he honestly and frankly declared his love for the woman. I am writing Mrs. Simpson's lawyers to this effect."

EX-KING PLANS TO STAY IN AUSTRIA OVER CHRISTMAS

Edward Rests at Castle of Baron Rothschild.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Dec. 14.—Edward, the Duke of Windsor, who renounced the British crown for the love of Mrs. Wallis Simpson, rested today in his retreat at the castle of Baron Eugene Rothschild at Enzesfeld while armed gendarmes kept newspaper men at bay a mile and a half from the gates.

An appeal to reporters to leave the ex-king in peace during his stay at Enzesfeld until after Christmas, issued at the request of the British legation, was effectively backed up by gleaming steel. He was not disturbed.

Lord Brownlow, Edward's gentleman in waiting when he was king and who had accompanied Mrs. Simpson on her flight from England to Cannes, France, was said to have arrived to report to the duke.

To Stay Over Christmas.

Edward apparently intends to stay at Rothschild's castle until after Christmas. If he does not it will be due to a sudden change of plans.

Nevertheless, he was reported to be planning all sorts of moves today. Some said he would go to Kitzbuehel immediately for winter sports. Others said he would go there after Christmas. One report indicated he was going to Corfu, Greece, another to Athens, and yet another to Dubrovnik, Jugo-Slavia.

For a time considerable credence was given one report that the royal exile would go to Vienna for a consultation with Dr. Heinrich Neumann, ear specialist who treated him during his visit to Austria with Mrs. Simpson last summer. This proved false. Lieut. Col. Piers Legh, his equerry, announced that Edward no longer was troubled by his ear.

Takes Walk About Grounds.

Edward rose at 9 o'clock this morning and had breakfast in his room. It was a cool and dreary day. The duke took a walk about the vast estate with his Cairn terrier "Slippers." Later he played golf with Baron Rothschild. When rain threatened he bowled in the castle's basement alley.

Soon after Edward had dined with the baron and his wife, the former Katherine Wolff of Philadelphia, he retired.

Baroness Rothschild has long been a close friend of Edward. She is one of the group of American friends that so embittered London aristocracy which feels that its traditional superiority is threatened by the social equality the former monarch granted to Americans.

Rothschild's castle has old associations with Edward's family. His grandfather, King Edward VII., when he was prince of Wales, visited there as the guest of Baron Nathaniel Rothschild, grandfather of the present owner.

A painting of Windsor castle is one of the dominant notes of decoration of the castle's drawing room.

Perfect Spot for Seclusion.

The castle was restored by Nathaniel Rothschild in the 1880s on the remains of a twelfth century edifice. It is one of the noted estates of Austria. It offers a perfect spot for seclusion and is a delightful place to spend the holidays.

Edward's romance and his abdication hits close to home in Austria, for there are those in Vienna who have not forgotten the existence of an heir to the Hapsburg throne. These Austrians feel that any blow struck at monarchy as an institution anywhere helps cut the ground from under them. Furthermore, they definitly feel that Edward has hurt the cause of monarchy in general. There is no part of the world where he has been more liked than in Austria. They regret his stand for this reason, but are too fond of him and too sentimental to be severe in judgment of his case.

Mrs. Simpson Will Get Royal Title if She Marries Exile

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CANNES, France, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson may never rule as the queen of England, but she will get a title if she becomes the wife of Edward, the duke of Windsor, who abdicated his throne for the love of her.

News from London today said that as the royal exile's wife she would receive the title of "her royal highness the duchess of Windsor."

Graced with this title, the American woman would enjoy the privileges of her husband's rank. She would receive the same diplomatic immunity granted to persons of royal blood in their travels. For instance, Mrs. Simpson never again would be compelled to open and exhibit her luggage for inspection by customs officers.

Wally Shows Herself.

Mrs. Simpson did a manikin act this noon and deliberately strolled about the garden of Lou Viei, the villa of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Livingston Rogers of New York, in order to show the world she is still at Cannes.

Her appearance followed a petition addressed by newspaper men to Rogers, who is acting as her spokesman. She gave visible evidence that a report she had left for Marseilles and intended to join Edward in Austria was untrue.

When she sent out word that she would show herself all spectators were first driven back by her private detectives to a corner of a lane approaching the villa so as to avoid having anyone shout at her: "Do you still love him?"

Walks Back and Forth.

The distance from the garden was more than 100 yards. Then Mrs. Simpson walked out of the front door and took a short stroll back and forth before returning to the house.

Through field glasses THE TRIBUNE correspondent saw that she was hatless. Her hair was parted in the middle in her usual style. She wore a simple blue tailored suit. Her step, which ordinarily was reported jaunty, was listless, and her whole bearing was one of infinite weariness.

All signs at Cannes seemed to indicate she intends to remain at the villa and to keep her reported promise not to rejoin Edward until after her divorce decree nisi becomes final next April.

In her seclusion it is said she plays cards a great deal of the time. It also is said that as soon as the reporters let her alone she intends to go to Cannes and join a golf club.

Royal Chauffeur Leaves.

Another sign that her exceptional situation is changing was the departure for England today of George Ladbrook, who for eighteen years was Edward's personal chauffeur and who piloted Mrs. Simpson's automobile in her flight across France. Ladbrook left with a heavy heart, having little expectation he would get a job with the new royal family.

At the same time he was unwilling to follow Edward into exile.

More poison pen letters of threatening nature poured in on Mrs. Simpson today. She was kept busy replying to hundreds of sympathetic letters from friends.

DOCTOR FINDS SERIOUS VARICOSE CONDITION IN POPE'S LEFT LEG

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 14.—(AP)—A serious varicose condition in Pope Pius' left leg has complicated his circulatory stagnation, attendants said tonight on the tenth day of the pontiff's confinement to bed. He has no fever, but has become increasingly restless because of the chilly humidity of the last few days, they declared.

Last night the 79 year old holy father was less tranquil than some previous nights and Dr. Amanti Milani, his physician, was called to administer to him. Vatican sources said, however, improvement in his condition was shown by the fact Dr. Milani makes only three daily visits now instead of four as previously.

The pope's strong will, it was said, has helped his resistance against partial leg paralysis and other old age infirmities. He is assisted by his two secretaries, Msgr. Carlo Confalonieri and Diego Venini; two nurses; his valet, Cavalieri Malvestiti, and by Franciscan brothers who take care of his apartment.

Calls Abdication of King Victory for Moral Feeling

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 14.—(AP)—President Charles C. Selecman of Southern Methodist university told Methodist educational leaders here today King Edward's abdication was a "conscientious" victory for moral sentiment. "Let us be thankful," he said, "that there was left enough sturdy conscience and unyielding moral sentiment to force a mighty monarch from his throne and proclaim to the world that there are certain sanctions that will speak with the distinctness of Sinai."

ASKS EXEMPTION FOR FIRMS WITH PENSION SYSTEM

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Representative James L. Quinn [Dem., Pa.] filed with the house clerk today a bill to amend the social security act by exempting corporations which have their own old age benefit plans.

The bill would provide that any corporation may become exempt from the law and its pay roll taxes provided that it "shall have in operation an old age benefit plan [otherwise known as an old age pension plan] which shall meet with the approval of the social security board as to the stability of the said corporation . . . and as to the adequacy of the provisions of its old age benefit plan."

Nail Up Wally's Birthplace to Foil Souvenir Hunters

Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Souvenir hunters, bit by bit, have been carrying away the house in which Mrs. Wallis Simpson, the former King Edward's friend, was born. As a result, the owners have installed padlocks on all the doors of the vacant house and have nailed shutters on the windows. Several hundred persons visited the house yesterday, and many of them carried away twigs from the yard.

THE FRED SMITHS RISE AND DEMAND ALL BE IDENTIFIED

Seek to Improve Their Lot with New Middle Names.

New York, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Those souls of anonymity, the Fred Smiths of the country, rose up in their collective wrath today and set about finding ways and means of establishing themselves as individuals.

Eight of them, all New Yorkers, met for luncheon and decided:

1. To call all Fred Smiths together for the first annual banquet of the Fred Smith association here on Jan. 15.

2. To seek both national and state charters for the association, the objectives of which shall be:

A. Preservation of domestic tranquility through prevention of mistaken identity [i. e., one Fred Smith shouldn't be called to account at home for some scrape another Fred Smith gets into.]

Work to Identify Them.

B. Identification by adoption of middle names classifying Fred Smiths by the kind of work they do, thus insuring proper delivery of Christmas packages, mail, telegrams, etc.

C. Concrete expressions of gratitude to the wives who gallantly have seen fit to submerge their own identities in the name "Mrs. Fred Smith."

A skeleton organization was formed today along these lines. Fred [advertising] Smith was named provost. Fred [syndicate] Smith was chosen scrivener.

The provost said the only thing that kept them from naming another of their number as beadle was that no one knew what a beadle was.

25 Cities Join the Parade.

In addition there have been nibbles for information from Fred [alumni] Smith of Davidson, N. C., who is an officer of Davidson college there; Fred [university] Smith, manager of a club in Columbus, Ohio; Fred [railroad] Smith of Cleveland; Fred [C. P. A.] Smith, an accountant in Kansas City, Kas.; Fred [securities] Smith, a broker in Philadelphia; and Fred [fuel] Smith, who sells exactly that in Plainfield, N. J.

OIL WORKERS STRIKE IN VENEZUELA; SEEK MORE PAY, VACATIONS

MARACAIBO, Venezuela, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Employés in all oil fields in this section walked out today because the companies did not comply with demands submitted two weeks ago.

The strikers sought pay raises, vacations of one month each year, transportation to work when the distance is greater than one kilometer [five-eighths of a mile], comfortable houses for workers and their dependents, continuance of pay during strikes and reinstatement of workers dismissed because of previous strikes.

COUPLE USE 1924 LICENSE TO WED; EXPLAIN DELAY

Emil Kokko, 54 years old, a carpenter, and Miss Ida Wilpulo, 47, both of Kenosha, went to Waukegan yesterday and were married on a marriage license they obtained on June 3, 1924. They explained to Justice of the Peace Harry Hoyt, who married them, that the twelve year delay was occasioned by lack of money. Neither has previously been married.

Strikers Threaten to "Sit It Out All Winter."

The WPA sit down strikers won a concession yesterday when Robert I. McKeague, business manager for federal projects, announced that all relief persons discharged from federal projects will be given other white collar jobs. But the twenty-seven men and seven women who spent their third day in a windowless room at WPA headquarters in the Merchandise Mart announced they would remain "all winter" to gain further concessions.

McKeague said that 600 persons have been fired on orders from Washington, of whom about 450 originally came from relief rolls. After conferring with state relief officials, he declared that the 450 will be given jobs on other projects. Reassignment slips will be written by the time the dismissal orders become effective tomorrow, he said.

Cut Quota of Federal Projects.

Included in the dismissals were 200 musicians, 200 actors, 100 writers, 40 artists, and 60 other persons on minor federal projects throughout the state. The dismissals were ordered when the state quota of professional workers on federal projects was cut from 3,600 to 3,000.

The state's quota remains at 160,000 workers on projects sponsored by local government bodies, and WPA officials have given assurance that no change will be made in this quota before Feb. 1.

Leaders of the strikers asserted that the sit down or stay in tactics would continue until all those laid off in the last two months have been put back to work. However, WPA officials said that the current weeding out of nonrelief persons, including those whose family finances have improved in the last year, will go on.

"The national administration must keep its promises," said Louis Harper of the Technical and Research Employés' union. "Roosevelt was reelected with our help on the understanding that WPA would continue at its full strength. Harry Hopkins, federal administrator, stated recently that no one in need would be dropped."

Bedding Is Made Softer.

More blankets were brought in by sympathizers yesterday for the strikers, who during the preceding two nights shivered under insufficient covering on the floor and tables. They had their first hot meal yesterday also. Several complained that they had caught colds and that their diet of sandwiches was becoming tiresome.

The fetid air in the strikers' room was improved somewhat when H. K. Seltzer, WPA director for the Chicago district, granted permission to keep the door open. Until then it had been kept closed to prevent too much gaping by the 500 WPA administrative employés at the headquarters. A physician was called in the late afternoon to examine the strikers at their request.

Not all the strikers were idle. One woman was knitting socks for Christmas. A man offered to sell an account he had written about the minutes of the strikers' life. Several leaders were busy sending telegrams to Hopkins and handling telegraphic communications with WPA unions in sympathy with the strike.

FIREBOAT BUSSE TO BE LAUNCHED IN RITES DEC. 29

Largest Diesel Craft of Sort in World.

Chicago's $134,000 fireboat, the largest Diesel fireboat in the world, will be launched at Bay City, Mich., on Dec. 29 and is expected to arrive in Chicago after two weeks of testing to replace two antiquated steam driven vessels now in service on Chicago's water front, according to word received yesterday by Michael J. Corrigan, chief fire marshal.

The boat will be christened the Fred A. Busse in honor of the late mayor. Mrs. Busse is to attend the ceremonies at Bay City.

"When the new boat goes into service," said Deputy Chief Anthony J. Mullaney, "the 29 year old Graeme Stewart will be stripped and the 38 year old Illinois will be taken out of active service and, because it has better boilers, will be placed in reserve. The Joseph Medill, which is the same age as the Stewart, probably will be shifted to South Chicago."

Clears Most of Bridges.

The new boat's 15 foot clearance from the waterline will permit her to pass under all bridges with the exception of the railroad bridges, such as the one at Kinzie street.

"It costs the city about $14,000 a year for standby expense keeping up steam on the present boats," Mullaney said. "The new Diesel boat will save two-thirds of this cost.

"With a rated speed of 15 miles an hour she will be six miles an hour faster than the present boats.

"Before the boat is delivered to us she will undergo an eight hour pumping test at her full four nozzle capacity of 8,500 gallons per minute. Each of the boats now in service has two nozzles and an approximate capacity of 6,000 gallons per minute, but they can be kept at capacity for only a few minutes because of dropping steam pressure."

The Busse will have five engines, one centered aft solely for propulsion; one on each side of the main propelling engine usable for either propulsion or pumping, and two more amidships solely for pumping. Parts on all five engines will be interchangeable.

The craft is to have accommodations for eight men. Government regulations require the present steamboats to carry nine.

ROOKIE COPPER'S FIRST PRISONER IS HIS OWN SON

Hackensack, N. J., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—A rookie policeman, John Mundorf, jailed his first prisoner today. The prisoner was his son, Joseph, 22 years old, who pleaded guilty to stealing a purse containing $410 in cash from the office of the mayor of the Town of Bogota last Saturday. The purse belonged to Mrs. Carolyn A. Earle, head of Bogota's relief administrator.

Young Mundorf was in the mayor's office filling out an application for a job when Mrs. Earle walked in with the purse. She left it on the desk and went out. When she returned, Mundorf and the purse were missing.

Patrolman Mundorf, assigned to regular duty only six months ago, asked to be detailed to the case. He followed his son to New York and arrested him.

POLICE OFFICIALS LEARN TRICKS OF POUNDING A BEAT

Big Shots Take a Turn at Night Snooping.

There comes a time in the lives of even the best intentioned policemen when patroling of the deserted streets during the long, cold mornings becomes a downright task, and the cozy corner tavern, or even the warm bed at home, seems much more inviting.

Anyhow, that's what police headquarters heard, and early yesterday five of the highest officials did a little snooping. The five were Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed force and Supervising Captains John Stege, Richard Gill, Joseph Goldberg, and James Mooney.

They burst into the North Damen avenue station at 1 a. m., startling Desk Sergeant Robert Bloom, who had never before seen so many departmental big shots together except at a parade or a funeral. At a motion from Chief Prendergast, Capt. Mooney took a post behind Sergt. Bloom. "No outgoing calls," he ordered.

Officials Stand Watch.

The other supervising captains then went upstairs. They looked grim and determined. They walked straight up to the four police operators at the switchboards, shoved them aside, and sat in their places.

It should be mentioned here that the North Damen avenue station is the division headquarters for north side police districts, commanded by Supervising Captain Goldberg, including Chicago avenue, Hudson avenue, Sheffield avenue, Town Hall, Summerdale, and Rogers Park. To that station uniformed men in these districts, men who actually patrol beats on foot, are supposed to telephone hourly from the regularly designated pull boxes on their beats.

Chief Prendergast and Capts. Stege, Gill, and Goldberg sat at the switchboards to find out for themselves just how regularly the men pulled in. And Capt. Mooney stood downstairs to prevent any warning from being passed out.

They Make a Discovery.

The first hour passed casually enough for the four captains at the boards. Four or five calls came in. But there should have been dozens. The second hour passed more slowly. Only two or three calls were made. The third hour was awful. It got to be that a buzz on the board became an event, jolting all four captains into rapt expectancy.

At 4:30 the captains departed, lips tight, faces dour. It was said that they had received a total of 15 pulls, not more than two from the same men. Eight patrolmen had not bothered to call in at all.

None of the five captains would comment on their early morning snooping last night.

Widow of Edward Hines in Hospital with Flu

Mrs. Loretta A. Hines, widow of Edward Hines, multi-millionaire lumberman, is in the Michael Reese hospital suffering from a slight attack of influenza, it was learned last night. She was taken to the hospital Sunday, and is expected to leave it within a day or two, according to her son, Ralph Hines, of the Ambassador East hotel. Mrs. Hines also lives at the Ambassador. She is under the care of Dr. Morris W. Lev.

Science Evolves a New Light from an Old Case of Lockjaw

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Back before the American civil war a European physician, trying desperate measures to save a patient stricken with lockjaw, dosed him with quinine and iodine. Making a microscopic examination later, the doctor discovered that the dosage had produced crystals in the patient's body which polarized light.

The patient died and was forgotten and the crystals, which the doctor identified chemically, were relegated to the fine type reserved for unimportant sections of chemistry manuals. Recently they were dug out of their obscurity to solve the problem of headlight glare on American highways.

Progress a Jigsaw Puzzle.

The development of the polarized automobile headlight was one example cited last evening by Dr. Warrington Chubb, director of research of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, of the fact that scientific and engineering progress is a jigsaw puzzle, in which a single piece cannot be placed until adjoining bits of knowledge have been identified and put in their place in the picture.

Dr. Chubb spoke before the electrical engineer section of the Western Society of Engineers and the Chicago section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in the auditorium of the Engineering building at 205 West Wacker drive.

How Light Is Polarized.

Light waves originally vibrate in helter skelter fashion. Certain crystals [in nature, Iceland spar is the best example] have the property of filtering out all the waves except those vibrating in a certain plane.

In the application of this principle to automobile headlights, a chemical screen polarizes the light at an angle of 45 degrees from the vertical. Through a screen of the same material on his windshield, polarizing light at the same angle, the motorist sees the light of his own headlight beam on the road. But the polarized beam from a car approaching him strikes his screen at a right angle to the plane of polarity of his screen, and is filtered out.

For a long time chemists tried, unsuccessfully, to make large crystals of the polarizing material. The problem was finally solved by a mechanical method of spreading thousands of the tiny crystals discovered by the European doctor, on a glass plate so that their planes of polarity all lie parallel.

Mass Production Developed.

The polarized light has now been developed to the point where it can be produced on a mass basis at reasonable cost, Dr. Chubb said. A minor problem remains in connection with its use in automobiles now on the road. Since polarization reduces the intensity of light by 50 per cent or more, use of the lights would place a greater strain on present battery and generator installations.

Many of the new products and processes which are coming out of the commercial research laboratories of the country, Dr. Chubb said, are byproducts of searches for other products. In his own laboratory, he said, search for an alloy to replace expensive platinum in radio tubes yielded not only the platinum substitute but another alloy which, by reason of retaining high tensile strength at high temperatures, is an improved material for the blades of giant turbines.

Copper Riddle Is Solved.

Research on another alloy sought for radio tube manufacture solved the age old riddle of tempered copper. An alloy—99.4 per cent copper, the remainder chromium and silver—can, by heat treatment, be made harder than mild steel, yet it retains 90 per cent of the electrical conductivity of copper.

Another piece of research, on electric heating furnaces used in the automobile industry, showed something which steel men had not known—that steel changes its molecular constituency between the time it is rolled and the time it is fabricated—is, in a limited sense, a "perishable" commodity.

CATALANS CHEER 1,500 FOREIGNERS ON WAY TO FRONT

Anarchists Cause Fall of Cabinet in Barcelona.

BARCELONA, Spain, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Catalans lined sidewalks to cheer tonight as 1,500 new foreign volunteers to the socialist government's cause reached here, en route to the front.

The volunteers arriving today, most of them French and some Belgians, brought to 5,200 the number of new recruits passing through Barcelona recently. Twelve hundred men arrived a few days ago and 2,500 others had preceded them a short time before. They carried communist banners and anti-Fascist placards.

Premier José Tarradellas and his Catalonian cabinet resigned tonight because, Tarradellas said, they could not control anarchist and extreme labor factions.

Luis Companys, president of the autonomous Catalonian state, announced he would begin work immediately with all anti-Fascist parties and workers' organizations in an effort to form a new government.

Hits "Uncontroled Groups."

Tarradellas, in disclosing Saturday that his cabinet planned to quit, declared he would not accept further responsibility for "the action of irresponsible, uncontrolled groups."

He indicated at that time he was opposed to demands by anarchists for further representation in the cabinet as well as increasing pressure for socialization of Catalonia and a growing tendency toward violence.

Companys said the new government would have "the same characteristics as the previous one."

[Tarradellas' cabinet was predominantly leftist, including members of labor groups, the left Catalan party, and Socialist and communist organizations.]

Rebel Tanks Beaten Back.

MADRID, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Sluggish Fascist tanks smashed at Madrid suburbs to no avail today as militia defenders hastened transfer of women and children from the windswept and hungry Spanish capital.

Sixty thousand men, women, and children were escorted to warmer and safer areas during the last week, the military announced. Of these 30,000 were children.

Thus far, about 300,000 citizens have been evacuated from the besieged city, open to Fascist air bombardment, lacking food and fuel, and swept by icy winds from the Guadarrama mountains of the northwest. An estimated 200,000 remain, awaiting transportation to the south.

Moscow Irritated.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Dec. 14.—Increasing irritation is being shown here at the reported interception and searching of soviet cargo ships by the Spanish rebels. Seventeen vessels have been so treated, according to reports here, which state no arms have been discovered.

Report Russian Ships Afire.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—(AP)—The Lloyd's signal station at Gibraltar reported tonight the British steamer British Isles sent word that an unidentified Russian steamer is afire in the Mediterranean southwest of Cartagena and that the crew apparently had been picked up by a Spanish warship.

Norwegian Ship Freed.

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Spanish Fascists have released the Norwegian steamship Einar Jarl, the vessel's master reported to the Norwegian government today. The Einar Jarl was detained yesterday in international waters off Cape Finisterre on the western Spanish coast. The government, notified of the steamer's detention, sent a formal protest to the Fascist provisional government at Burgos.

Give Up Hope for Truce.

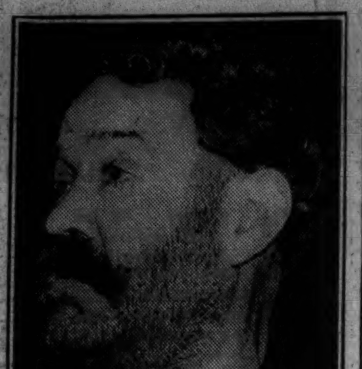
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 14.—After receiving a message from Gen. Francisco Franco, leader of the Spanish Fascist rebels, last night, officials in Berlin said there is no hope of reaching a compromise on the Spanish conflict.

Gen. Franco insisted upon "absolute victory or unconditional surrender."

It is understood that Franco is attempting to induce the "friendly powers," which have recognized his rebel government, to lend further and greater aid.

POETIC BURGLAR



JOSEPH MURPHY.

Arraigned yesterday before Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley in Criminal court on a charge of burglary Joseph Murphy, 52 years old, who has spent much of time in the Bridewell, twirled his handle-bar mustache and recited several poems to illustrate his philosophy of life.

"We are all serving a life sentence," he concluded. "The only difference is where you serve it." Murphy was arrested Dec. 6 as he was prowling in a grocery at Leavitt and Van Buren streets. "When I'm in jail I take what I get, but when I'm out I like the best," he explained to police at that time.

Murphy blamed his troubles on liquor and started to recite another bit of verse. Assistant State's Attorney Patrick McNamara interrupted. He did some reciting himself, tracing Murphy's long police record to 1926. The court ordered the public defender's office to act as counsel for Murphy and set his trial for Friday.

Vandals Smash Window of Sears Store in Loop

ENGLAND WARNS 3 NATIONS: KEEP HANDS OFF SPAIN

Treaty Scrapping Must Cease, Eden Demands.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 14.—A warning to Europe that there must be a limit to unilateral denunciations of treaties and a reminder of Great Britain's "deep interest" in the maintenance of Spanish integrity were uttered tonight by Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, in an address before a meeting at Bradford.

He held up the United States as an example to the powers which are violating nonintervention pledges. Eden, whose words apparently were directed toward Germany, Italy, and Russia, declared that Britain wanted neither blocs nor barriers in Europe.

"There is a spirit of violence abroad in Europe today which bodes ill for the future unless all the restraining responsible influences in humanity are brought to bear to check it," the foreign secretary declared.

Hits Treaty Scrapping.

Tearing up a "scrap of paper," he added, led to the world war in 1914.

"If Europe is to be littered with scraps of paper in 1936 and thereafter nobody can look ahead with any confidence," he cried.

Stressing the sanctity of treaties, Eden said that "there must be a limit to unilateral denunciations, or we will reach the point where force and force alone would be the sole arbiter of international relations."

Turning to events in western Europe, the foreign secretary explained the pledge he voiced last month that British arms would be used to protect France and Belgium from unprovoked aggression and the reciprocal pledge made by Yvon Delbos, French foreign minister, did not represent a new departure or imply an alliance.

Extends Offer to Germany.

"We desire," said the foreign secretary, "coöperation with Germany not only in a western agreement, but in European affairs generally."

Replying to Germany's demand for colonies, however, Eden insisted that Britain "cannot be expected to help others either economically or financially if the only result of such action is to be further piling up of arms."

The international agreement for nonintervention in Spain, the foreign secretary admitted, has been violated by certain powers. Nevertheless, he said, he saw no reason for abandoning the principle of neutrality.

JAPAN IN NEW MOVE TOWARD EXPULSION OF FOREIGN CAPITAL

TOKIO, Dec. 15 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Another step toward the expulsion of foreign capital from Japan and the substitution of domestic financing was taken today by the Nissan, or Japan Industry company.

It concluded arrangements for the purchase of shares in the Victor Talking Machine company of Japan held by American investors. The shares represented 68 per cent of the company's capitalization and about 5,000,000 yen [about $1,425,000].

The rest of the shares are held equally by the Mitsuibishi and Sumitomo banking interests.

The price was not announced, but was believed to have been high because of the Victor company's recent declaration of a 20 per cent dividend.

Nissan, which previously had bought out all British and other foreign interests in the Columbia Gramaphone company, now dominates the Japanese talking machine field almost without opposition. Japan is regarded one of the most fertile fields for phonograph sales because of the more widespread use of radio in other countries.

BEAU BRUMMEL OF OTHER DAYS LANDS IN CELL

Neal McDougal, 46 years old, who 20 years ago was known as a devotee of the dansant and tango tea, as well as the lucrative art of swindling, was in the lockup at the detective bureau last night, and very blue.

"Now I can't see my dear old mother down in Bryant, Tex.," he said. "Nine long years I have been wanting to see her, and just when it looks as if I will be able to make a Christmas visit, the police take me over."

Police had their reasons, according to Lieut. Edward Kelly. McDougal, he said, cashed a stolen traveler's check at a railroad station last week, and tried to repeat a few days later. In his room at 500 North Clark street, Kelly said, detectives found $130 in travelers' checks which were stolen last January. McDougal denied the theft, explaining he was to have cashed them for another man for a 10 per cent commission.

Back during the war days and just after them, McDougal was the sartorically correct young man with patent lether hair and nimble feet who had a way with women. Police then called him a lounge lizard. He had entree into some of the best social gatherings, not only in Chicago, but in New York, mid-western spas, and Florida colonies. He was considered the lure of a ring that duped victims out of $1,500,000. He served two terms in prison. He bore no resemblance last night to his old splendor.

STUDENT STRIKE IS THREATENED IF FRANK IS OUSTED

Madison, Wis., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—The possibility of a general classroom walkout of students at the University of Wisconsin should President Glenn Frank be forced to resign appeared today as a group of students sounded sentiment on the campus.

"We believe we already have 2,000 to 3,000 students behind us and the word is being spread around," said an anonymous spokesman. The university enrollment is more than 10,000.

Various other groups and individuals rallied to the support of the president in the latest of frequent controversies which have marked his 11 year tenure. A showdown between him and a majority faction of the regents over administrative policy is expected when the board meets Wednesday to act on budget recommendations.

MADRID SEEKS CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR CHILDREN

MADRID, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Spanish children won't be forgotten at Christmas despite the civil war, if the government can do anything about it.

The Madrid administration opened a subscription today for Christmas gifts for the children, particularly war orphans and refugees from the Madrid zone.

"Christmas will be sad for thousands of youngsters in Spain this year," an announcement said. "Hundreds have lost their fathers and other members of their families. Money or presents of food and clothing will help cheer the tragic lives of these unfortunates."

ENGLISH CHURCH REPORTS DROP IN COMMUNICANTS

LONDON, Dec. 14.—(AP)—A decline in the number of church communicants last Easter is reported in the official year book of the Church of England, which is to be published tomorrow.

Easter communicants numbered 300,000 in 1936, a drop of 20,000 from the previous year, the book says. Baptisms totaled 381,000, an increase of 2,000.

The last three years witnessed a decline of more than 150,000 in Anglican Sunday school pupils, the year book states.

41 MILLIONAIRES IN 1935; 8 MORE THAN 1934 TOTAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Preliminary figures on collections of income taxes for 1935 announced today by the bureau of internal revenue showed that 41 persons in the Unite States received incomes of more than a million dollars during the last year as compared with 33 in 1934.

The millionaire group was small, however, in comparison with the 513 in this category in 1929 and even less than in 1933 when there were 50 receiving the top incomes.

The 41 millionaires made up .001 per cent of the 3,992,627 returns filed for 1935 income but the little group footed 6.344 per cent of the income tax bill amounting to a total of $654,116,000 for the year. The millionaires received an income of $73,630,000 for the year and returned $41,499,000 of this amount to the treasury.

Top Income Drops.

One person whose name was cloaked in secrecy received an income of between 4 and 5 millions of dollars during 1935. The two years previous, however, one person obtained more than 5 millions of income for each year.

Reason for the release of the figures was not readily clear. The bureau had made a complete tabulation of 1934 income tax analyses public for this morning and then turned loose the 1935 tentative figures in the afternoon.

Returns of individuals reporting income for 1935, filed to Aug. 31 of this year, numbered 4,473,426. Of this number 2,067,736 were taxable and 2,405,690 were nontaxable. The aggregate net income indicated by small returns was $14,656,079,421.

Return Total Increases.

The number of returns increased by 485,157 or 12.2 per cent as compared with returns received up to Aug. 31, 1935. The total net income increased $2,199,816,930, or 17.7 per cent over the previous year while the tax liability was boosted by $147,634,938, or 29.1 per cent. Tax liability on all returns averaged $146.22 and for taxable returns, $316.34. The average tax rate for all returns was 4.5 per cent.

Under 5	3,992,627	$ 44,763,000	6.843
to 10	322,779	47,207,000	7.217
to 25	12,895	102,257,000	15.633
to 50	25,623	105,728,000	16.163
50 to 100	7,878	110,557,000	16.902
100 to 150	1,384	53,694,000	8.209
150 to 300	886	73,232,000	11.195

3 NOW CONFESS PART IN KILLING OF CINCINNATIAN

Brookville, Ind., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Three of the four former convicts accused of the "head and hands" slaying of Harry R. Miller, wealthy retired Cincinnati fire captain, were in jail here tonight.

Capt. Matt Leach of the Indiana state police brought in William A. Kuhlman, 28, the third prisoner, from Portland, Ore., late today.

Meanwhile attorneys for Heber L. Hicks, former chauffeur, on trial for first degree murder, lost their fight against use of a confession to state police naming the other three as the actual killers and the jury heard the statement.

John J. Poholsky is the other man under arrest. Frank G. Williams is at large.

Capt. Leach said a confession made by Kuhlman to Portland police and repeated after his arrival in Indianapolis, substantiated Poholsky's testimony naming Hicks as an active participant in the slaying of Miller last June 11. They said Hicks planned the crime and hired them to aid him.

Kuhlman substantiated that Poholosky dismembered the body before it was disposed of in two separate portions of Kentucky.

Leach disclosed that information had been obtained indicating others than the four former convicts were involved, but said Kuhlman's references to a woman were only hearsay.

Court Ties Up Insurance of Dr. Charles N. Gartin

Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court tied up yesterday $16,377 of insurance money on the life of Dr. Charles N. Gartin, south side physician who drowned June 16 at Gary. His order forbids the First National bank and Dr. Gartin's divorced wife, Gladys, 1962 East 75th place, sole beneficiary of her former husband's will to draw on the fund. Suit to set aside the will was filed in the Circuit court last week by Dr. Gartin's mother, Mrs. Nancy Gartin, and her daughter, Mrs. Anna Mae Arnold.

CHASE BY AIR, SEA AND RAIL BRINGS MOTHER TO SON, 3

Battles U. S. Father in Court Today for Custody.

Mrs. Carmelina Diaz Hayes, 30 years old, a high school teacher of Carolina, Porto Rico, was reunited in Chicago yesterday with her son, Ronald, 3 years old, and now faces a legal battle for his custody. The reunion was the climax of a $1,200 search by sea, rail, and air that began on May 1, when Ronald and his father, Paul, 43 years old, left Porto Rico.

Mrs. Hayes saw her son for the first time in 7½ months when she accompanied Deputy Sherif Mary Deverman to Hayes' home at 3323 West 61st street to serve a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Feinberg. Hayes was not at home, but Mrs. Deverman took the child from its caretakers, and will keep him until the end of a hearing on the writ today.

A Romance of Detroit.

Hayes, a pattern maker, met and married the former Miss Diaz in 1930 while she was visiting with relatives in Detroit. Soon after their marriage they went to Porto Rico where Mrs. Hayes resumed her teaching of Spanish and English in the Carolina High school.

Ronald was born in 1933. His parents quarreled and talked of divorce. Last spring they arrived at the parting of the ways.

"Our main difficulty," Mrs. Hayes said yesterday, "was that Paul didn't seem willing to work. Most of the time he let me support him. In addition, he was cruel to me and on many occasions threatened to kill me.

Recounts Futile Pursuit.

"My husband and our son disappeared last May 1. At a steamship office I learned that Paul had sailed for New York. Though I took an airplane, I got to New York too late. Paul had gone to Chicago."

Mrs. Hayes said that she found her husband, who refused to let her see the child. She returned to Porto Rico by airplane, and obtained a divorce on Oct. 31, on grounds of cruelty and desertion. She was granted custody of Ronald.

After hearing the story Judge Feinberg continued the hearing until today to enable Hayes to appear, and ordered that Ronald remain under the surveillance of the woman deputy sherif.

IDENTIFIES AMNESIA GIRL.

An amnesia victim found wandering at Lake street and Hamlin avenue was identified yesterday as Miss Minnie Hirst, 15 years old, 6436 South Richmond street, by her father, Meyer.

WIND AND FLOOD BUFFET BRITAIN; FEAR 17 KILLED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 14.—A furious eighty mile an hour gale lashed Great Britain today and exacted a heavy toll of life and property. A death toll of at least 17 was feared as a result of the storm. The victims include a father, son, and daughter, who leaped overboard from a stranded motorboat at Oxfordness, Suffolk, twelve members of the crew of a Fleetwood trawler, a Kettering laborer who was blown from a scaffold sixty feet high, and a Lowestoft fisherman drowned when a huge wave broke across the deck of a trawler.

PERIL CHAIRMAN WITH A PISTOL IN CUBAN CONGRESS

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 14.—(AP)—A verbal battle in which a pistol was drawn threw the house of representatives into a 20 minute uproar tonight. Tempers flared in a fight over an army sponsored sugar tax bill during a special session which followed a regular session.

At the height of the disturbance, José R. Andrea, acting president of the house, left the session and German Lopez, oldest member of the house, tried to take the chair, but was shouted down. He was escorted out of the chair by a man with a drawn pistol.

The bill which caused the trouble was one levying a tax of 9 cents a bag on sugar at the mill.

14 INJURED IN STRIKE RIOT AT KNITTING MILLS

Police Resort to Gas to Stop Battle.

Reading, Pa., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—At least 14 persons were injured today in a clash of strike pickets and workers at the Berkshire Knitting mills before the disorder was finally quelled by police with the use of tear gas. New disorders were reported tonight, but there were no further injuries.

Officers said the violence, which included damage to half a dozen automobiles, began when some of the pickets left their line to intercept workers who got out of their cars and started to walk a block to the mill entrance.

Strikers and sympathizers claimed they were slugged by mill employés as the latter pushed through the picket lines to enter the plant. Several police officers were hit by stones during the mêlée but no one's injuries were serious. Two women sympathizers and a man were arrested on charges of assault and battery and inciting to riot.

Threaten Glass Shutdown.

Toledo, O., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Glen W. McCabe, president of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers, declared tonight that all Libbey-Owens-Ford plants in Toledo, Shreveport, La., and Charlestown, W. Va., will be shut down by the union unless an agreement is signed by 6 p. m. tomorrow, the time the old contract expires.

David H. Goodwillie, executive vice president of the company, said tonight the company and the union committee appeared to be far apart in proposed contract terms but that the company executives would continue at work all night on a new agreement.

"We intend to submit an agreement which will come as close as possible to the ideas which the committee has given us as their requests and we will also include a general wage increase," he said. "In other words, we intend to go the limit."

An agreement has been made between the United Automobile Workers and Federation of Flat Glass Workers for a joint council for joint action.

New Strikes in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—"Sit down" strikes broke out anew in two plants of the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company today after members of the United Automobile Workers of America said the company declined to grant their demands.

An employés' committee and union officials met with company officers a short time after 4,000 workers resumed their jobs following a cessation of operations because of similar strikes last week.

Following the meeting a union organizer said that new "sit down" strikes were called in both of the company's plants which supply parts for automobile companies.

Union Blames La Guardia.

New York, Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Full responsibility for the impending strike of 11,000 emergency relief bureau administrative employés today was placed directly on Mayor F. H. La Guardia by the employés' union.

The planned walkout is aimed at compulsory open competitive examinations for emergency relief bureau investigators scheduled for Dec. 30. The union—the Association of Workers in Public Relief Agencies—will meet tomorrow night to consider a "series of actions." It seeks the transfer of ERB workers to civil service without competitive tests.

A strike was approved by the union Nov. 10. Today Abram Flazer, general manager, assailed the mayor for "failure to take a decisive stand on the request for a postponement of the open competitive examination for ERB investigators."

Little Maritime Hope.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Little hope of an early settlement in the maritime strike that has hampered shipping for six weeks on the west and east coasts was expressed here today by Harry R. Bridges, Pacific coast district president of the International Longshoremen's association.

Bus Drivers Stand Pat.

Flint, Mich., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Striking bus drivers remained adamant here today in the face of threats to withdraw their union memberships because they rejected proposals to settle the week old "sit down" strike which has tied up transportation facilities in this city of 165,000. They still occupied the garages of the Flint Trolley Coach, Inc., after voting 103 to 3 to maintain the strike despite a warning from Edward McMorrow, vice president of their union, that they are violating their contract.

DENIES KILLINGS

New York, Dec. 14.—[Special.]—John Caputo, 42, a longshoreman and junkboat owner, with a criminal record, appeared in the lineup today and denied angrily that his real name is Gennaro Caputo and that he is a fugitive from justice from France, having escaped in 1924 after being sentenced to the guillotine for the murder of two men.

"I have never been in France," he told Acting Capt. John J. Leahy. "I was born in San Francisco in 1894."

"That was a little while before the fire that destroyed all the birth records, I imagine," Capt. Leahy said.

"I don't know anything about that," the prisoner replied. "That was when I was a baby. I don't remember it."

ARGENTINA HOLDS UP APPROVAL OF NEUTRALITY PACT

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 14.—The Argentine delegation today again upset the equilibrium of the inter-American conference for the maintenance of peace by withdrawing the approval it was understood previously to have given to the neutrality convention coordinating existing peace machinery of the Americas.

After seven hours of consultation a special subcommittee prepared a revised draft to be circulated tonight among all delegations, hoping to get unanimous approval by tomorrow morning.

The history of the neutrality convention illustrates the uncertainty of the situation here which seems to change every few hours. When the conference love feast Saturday won unanimous adoption of the collective security and nonintervention agreements by the standing committee on organization of peace it was understood that the neutrality convention was equally acceptable.

Convinced of Acceptance.

Because it had to go before another standing committee this convention was put over until today for action. Secretary of State Cordell Hulls, leader of the United States delegation, was so strongly convinced that the unanimous backing of all delegates would be obtained that he ordered release of the text of the draft Saturday.

This afternoon, however, Saavedra Lamas of Argentina announced he thought the measure needed further consideration.

The special subcommittee then revised the document but it was agreed to keep the revised text confidential until it has been presented to the delegations not represented at the drafting session.

Asked whether the revisions included major changes of principle or only phraseology, Sumner Welles, assistant United States secretary, said: "My opinion is that the revisions affect only form, not substance."

16 Delegations O. K. Pact.

Other sources indicated that 16 or 17 delegations had already agreed to back the new draft, but Hull and Welles are holding out for the same unanimity that characterized the collective security move.

In the draft believed to have been agreed upon over the week-end the project for a permanent consultative committee of foreign ministers of the 21 republics, which the United States proposed, was deleted, leaving the machinery for consultation described vaguely as among "the high contracting parties."

If unanimous backing can be won for the draft as revised tonight, it is planned to call a meeting of the standing committee on neutrality tomorrow to give formal approval by acclamation.

Delay Plenary Session.

The plenary session scheduled for tomorrow has been postponed to Wednesday, apparently in the hope that the principal political measures to be put before the conference can be passed.

These would include a resolution urging ratification by all republics of the five peace treaties, the nonintervention protocol, the collective security convention, and the neutrality convention.

The sum total of these declarations would commit the Americas to pacific settlement of difficulties among themselves; obligatory consultation in case the peace of the Americas was threatened in any manner; consultation in case of intervention in the internal and external affairs of one republic by another the same as though actual hostilities had broken out; and a general objective to try to pursue a common neutrality policy in case a pacific settlement failed in any given dispute.

ROOSEVELT PATS NAVY ON BACK FOR KEEPING HIM 'IN TOUCH' ON TRIP

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today complimented the navy department for keeping him constantly in touch with national and international developments during his cruise to South America.

Capt. Paul H. Bastedo, naval aid, today wirelessed the following message from the cruiser Indianapolis:

"The President has directed me to say that throughout the cruise to South America he has been comfortable in his mind in the knowledge that he has been constantly in touch with national and international developments via naval communications, and that he is exceedingly pleased with the efficient performance. He sends 'well done.'"

Doctor, Cut by Scalpel, Dies of Blood Poisoning

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Pricked by his own scalpel while treating a patient, Dr. Leyden F. Wilson, 48, of New Kensington, was dead today. As he was removing a patient's finger nail last Friday, the patient jerked with pain, and the scalpel struck Dr. Wilson's thumb. He treated the wound, and thought no more of it until blood poisoning developed.

Bud Fisher Asks Court to Cut $400 Weekly Alimony

New York, Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Bud Fisher, cartoonist, today applied in Supreme court to have the $400 weekly alimony he pays his wife, Countess De Beaumont, released on the grounds that his income has shrunk from $3,000 to $700 per week. The cartoonist revealed that he already has paid $166,400 to the woman he married in 1925 on board the liner Leviathan. Mrs. Fisher obtained separation shortly after the wedding and since 1926 Bud has been paying alimony.

SWISS SEND JEW TO JAIL 18 YEARS; NAZIS PLACATED

Student Is Convicted of Killing German Agent.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 14.—The sentence of eighteen years in prison passed today on David Frankfurter at Chur, Switzerland, has satisfied German opinion, it appeared tonight. Frankfurter, 27 years old, a Jewish medical student, was convicted of killing Wilhelm Gustloff, 41, official Nazi agent in Switzerland, last Feb. 4.

Prof. Grimm of Essen, German legal representative at Chur, paid tribute to the way in which the five Swiss judges handled the case and added:

"This verdict will help to clear the atmosphere and we hope it will also have a favorable effect on German-Swiss relations."

Grimm further declared that the verdict established the legality of the activities of the foreign branch of the Nazi party and also the blameless character of Gustloff.

Grimm, however, demanded that the question of Frankfurter's backers also be cleared up. He was supported in this by the Nazi press which has charged that "world Jewry" was responsible for the killing.

Gets Credit for 8 Months.

CHUR, Switzerland, Dec. 14.—(AP)—David Frankfurter, Jewish medical student who said he wanted to assassinate Adolpf Hitler, began an 18 year prison term tonight for killing Hitler's Nazi leader in Switzerland.

Actually he will have to serve 17 years and four months, for he was given credit for eight of the ten months he has been held since he went to the home of Wilhelm Gustloff last Feb. 4 and pumped five bullets into the Nazi chief's head and neck.

The five judges who conducted the trial and convicted Frankfurter of premeditated murder ordered his expulsion from Switzerland at the end of his prison term.

Police quoted the young student, son of a rabbi in Jugo-Slavia, as shouting when he gave himself up: "My bulllets should have struck Hitler himself, but I did what was within my power to avenge the sufferings of my fellow Jews in Germany."

The slaying of Gustloff drew attention to the existence of the Nazi group in Switzerland, and the Swiss government banned the whole organization which Gustloff headed.

WRITES 8 MONTHS ON SIXTY PAGE LETTER EXPLAINING SUICIDE

PARIS, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Police today disclosed that Mrs. Helen Breaker, 46, an artist and photographer who once lived in St. Louis, Mo., had left a 60 page suicide letter, written over a period of eight months before she was found dead in a gas filled kitchen last Friday. She had been ill for some time.

The letter, police said, was begun last April. Apparently Mrs. Breaker had added to it from time to time, relating her memoirs. It said she was tired of living. It was addressed to the police chief of suburban Auteuil.

Mrs. Breaker's body was found by a friend whom she had asked to visit her the previous night. She had lived in Paris for eight years.

NEARLY CRASHES, BUT SETS RECORD MIAMI TO HAVANA

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky set a new speed record for amphibian planes from Miami to Havana today, but almost cracked up as he landed.

His top speed for the trip was 230 miles an hour and he bucked headwinds all the way, the Russian pilot asserted. On his first takeoff from Miami, De Seversky almost encountered disaster and was forced to return. A cap on the oil tank came off and he and his passenger, James Killgallen, New York newspaper man, were doused with oil. Almost blinded, De Seversky headed back and made a forced landing at Miami.

FIRE DRIVES THREE FROM HOME.

Mrs. Marie Mead, 45 years old, a widow, her daughter, Miss Lois Huber, 21 years old, and her son, Robert, 17 years old, who is convalescing from an operation, were driven from their home at 6452 South Hermitage avenue, early yesterday when fire broke out in the basement. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

FINLAND PAYS BIG TRIBUTE TODAY TO HERO-PRESIDENT

Nation's Leader Reaches His 75th Birthday.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 14.—Pehr Evind Svinhufvud, president of Finland, will celebrate his 75th birthday tomorrow amidst national rejoicing. Helsingfors and other Finnish cities have been decorated for the occasion, and the capital is crowded with thousands of visitors. Many have come from far above the polar circle to honor the country's leader.

Three kings of Scandinavia have sent special envoys to Helsingfors. Under Svinhufvud's administration Finland recently has become a member of the Scandinavian group of nations.

Parade to Pass His Home.

Affectionately called Father Pehr by the Finns, Svinhufvud will be honored by a special session of parliament, and a parade and demonstration will pass the modest home of the president.

Svinhufvud is still hale and hearty despite his years. Three weeks ago, in his capacity as a sportsman, he shot an elk, and he still is rated one of the champion marksmen of the country.

Exiled to Siberia in 1914, the Finnish leader was freed by the Russian revolution. He returned to Helsingfors to play a leading part in forming the government. Becoming the first premier he helped the new state drive out the bolsheviks.

Saves Finland from Fascism.

Twelve years later, in 1930, Finland was threatened by a Fascist dictatorship. Victor Kosola, organizer of the Lapua movement, led 20,000 home guards in a march on Helsingfors. After he had almost surrounded the city the government called upon Svinhufvud for help. He managed to get Kosola on the telephone and the Fascist leader meekly obeyed his stern order to disband the rebel forces and return home.

BY KAY HALL.

While some zoölogists shook their heads yesterday and averred they did not know the answer to "Why is a singing mouse?" Mickey, the mouse at Woodstock that sings like a canary, was tendered a radio appearance. The mouse was discovered last week in the basement of the Chicago Industrial Home for Children in Woodstock and was brought into the parlor, where it now occupies a cage.

Herbert C. Gensch, superintendent of the home, said that a radio chain had called to arrange a broadcast of Mickey's nonsqueak tones and a tentative engagement had been made for Thursday night.

Prof. Slye Open to Conviction.

"I have had 160,000 mice and I never had one that sang," commented Prof. Maud Slye of the University of Chicago, internationally known for her experimental work on mice in cancer research. "I would be glad to hear this mouse. Otherwise, I'm afraid I could offer no explanation.

"Sometimes a mouse has a breathing disorder which produces a peculiar sound. This is called rales as in a human being. If there is a singing mouse I am open to conviction."

Prof. Slye described the rales sound as being low and closely identified with the breathing. She declared she had never heard a mouse keep up a prolonged squeaking. Mickey's songs last several minutes and hit two keys with a prolonged trill, interspersed with chirps, according to listeners.

Dr. Osgood Has Heard of 'Em.

Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood, curator of the zoölogy department of the Field museum, said that he had heard of singing mice but had no direct personal knowledge of them.

"They have been bred in experiments in heredity just as other physical characteristics have been bred," he said. "The only difference between them and other mice is that they make a wheezing noise and keep it up. This mouse could be the result of such breeding or the characteristic could have originated in it—a sport or mutation. Waltzing mice have also been known, distinguished for their habit of whirling on their hind feet."

According to Mr. Gensch, Mickey's song fests appear to be associated with moods of contentment or excitement. Twisting the mouse's cage, or stirring him up a little with gentle prods from a pencil sometimes brings on his song, but there is no method that can be relied on.

The mouse sang Sunday morning, was silent all Sunday afternoon, sang two hours Sunday night for the children in the home, and was silent again yesterday. The children were afraid the mouse was ill when he got his feet wet in a tin of drinking water and stopped singing.

New Diet Perks Him Up.

Dr. W. W. Lichty, a Woodstock veterinarian, visited him yesterday, however, and the mouse perked up after a new diet was put into effect.

Under this regimen the mouse ate five grains of corn, several of wheat, four teaspoonsful of milk, a small piece of butter, and about a half teaspoonful of meat. It nibbled the meat from a small bone which had both gristle and fat on it, in accordance with the veterinarian's prescription. "But no canary seed," said Dr. Lichty with a smile.

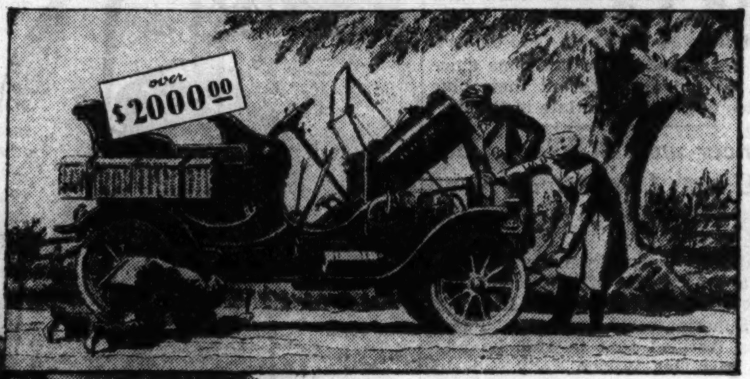
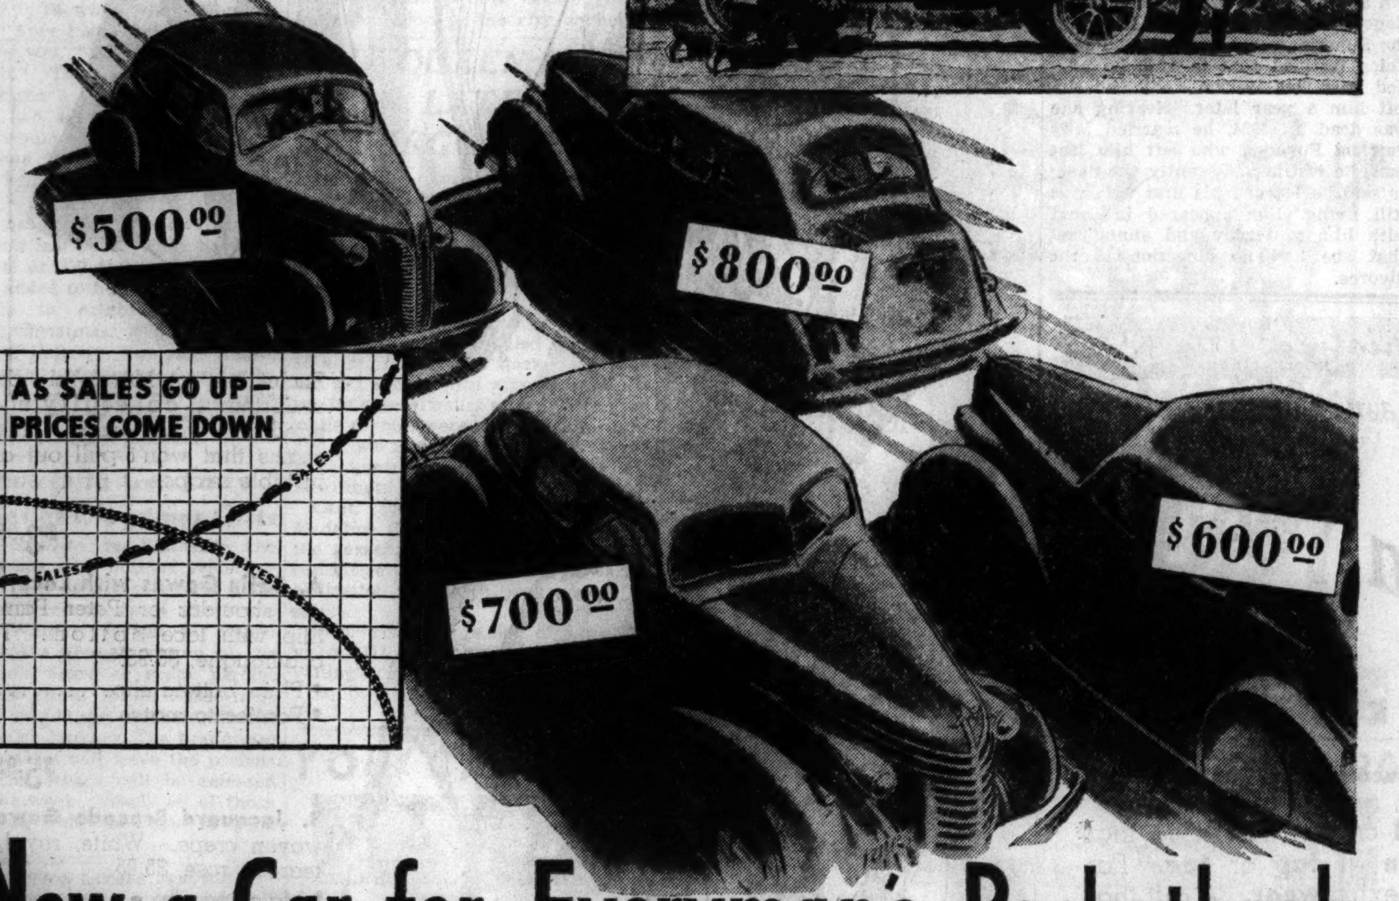
Once they Cost a Mint of Money





Now a Car for Everyman's Pocketbook

-with the aid of Instalment Buying

When the average car sold for $2,000, the high price and the cash terms were hard to meet—only the wealthy could buy.

But this problem was solved when mass production and instalment selling brought lower prices. Superior cars were offered on convenient terms. Responsible persons were invited to make a small down payment and drive the car home. The financing company supplied the rest of the money; dealers got cash; the buyer paid as he drove.

Turning Luxuries into Conveniences

As sales increased prices dropped, so that more and more families could enjoy cars. And in spite of each year's new and better models, prices have continued to drop, benefiting both the cash purchaser and those who buy on the C. I. T. Budget Plan.

Similarly, instalment buying and mass production have brought refrigerators, automatic heating plants, washing machines and other onetime luxuries within the reach of the average family.

Since 1908 C. I. T. has taken a leading part in this industrial and social progress. Today a nationwide network of C. I. T. offices, giving dependable, courteous service, enables responsible persons to enjoy the convenience of time payments. Watch for products advertised for sale on the C. I. T. Budget Plan. You can buy with confidence from dealers who display the initials C. I. T. in their showrooms.

French Stand Surprise; Parley Expected.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—France and four other defaulting European war debtors today notified the United States government that they would not meet instalments due tomorrow. Thus with thirteen countries owing $155,093,973 tomorrow, only $213,315, which Finland has deposited for payment, will be collected.

Besides the $155,093,973 due tomorrow, a total of $1,159,958,451 was previously due and unpaid from the defaulting nations.

France's default note, addressed to Acting Secretary of State R. Walten Moore by Ambassador Andre de Laboulaye, surprised officials, who had expected an invitation to negotiate another "settlement" of the $4,000,000,000 French debt. The expectation was based upon informal overtures made to Ambassador William C. Bullitt in Paris by Yvon Delbos, the French premier.

Time Not Expedient.

However, De Laboulaye's note indicated that his government did not regard the time expedient even to make new "proposals." He recalled that Moore's note of November 25, calling attention to the instalment of $22,308,312 due on Dec. 15, reiterated the American government's willingness to discuss any proposals for a settlement that might be put forward.

"Therefore, desirous of promising only what it will be able to perform, it [the French government] regrets profoundly that the distressing economic depression which the country has just undergone and the state of world economic relations do not permit it as yet to present any proposals," said De Laboulaye's note.

"Such proposals, in view of the disequilibrium of the balance of trade and of the balance of payments, might have an influence on its effort toward recovery and might compromise the beneficial effects of the international monetary understandings in which it has been happy to participate recently."

Hopeful of Future.

The French note expressed a pious hope that these "coöperative understandings," together with the improvement in world conditions and "the triumph of the democratic thesis which it [French government] is endeavoring to sustain by the limitation of armaments" would at some future date permit the opening of new negotiations.

The government of Lithuania served notice that it would default payment of $121,466. Hungary defaulted on $51,230; Latvia on $187,383, and Poland on $5,559,039. Previously Great Britain and the other defaulters had sent regrets.

The thirteen countries owe the United States a total of some $12,000,000,000.

Postoffice Issues Warning on Christmas Card Rates

A warning that Christmas greetings may be delayed if the 2 cent local postage rate for letters is confused with the regular 3 cent rate, was issued yesterday by Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen. Letters with insufficient postage will be withheld from dispatch until the deficiency is supplied by sender or addressee, he said. The 2 cent rate for first class letters applies only to Chicago and Cicero. Letters for Berwyn, Blue Island, Evanston, Niles Center, Oak Park, and Park Ridge require 3 cents.

SCHOOL CHILDREN AID MAYOR'S CHRISTMAS FUND

Children of the Hibbard Elementary school, 3244 Ainslee street, as they gathered papers yesterday and sold them to aid Mayor Kelly's Own Christmas Benefit. With the children are Mrs. Irving Raben, ways and means chairman; J. L. O'Brien, principal, and Mrs. Martin Weinberger, student aid chairman.

PARIS VEGETABLE TRADE TIED UP BY FARMERS' STRIKE

Demand Higher Prices of Wholesalers.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Two strikes, one of which threatened to deprive Paris of vegetables and the other, which might affect tourist trade, harrassed the French government tonight.

A short time after truck gardeners supplying Paris were called out, Edouard Jonas, as chamber reporter on tourists, asked Premier Leon Blum what he could do to settle the strike aboard the French liner Champlain.

Jonas warned, that in view of the 1937 Paris exposition, the government should take "indispensable measures" to assure normal operation of liners to guard against loss of tourist business.

Blame Middlemen.

The Champlain crew struck Dec. 12 at Le Havre. Tonight the French liner Normandie passed up its scheduled stop at La Havre and discharged 260 passengers in a hurry to reach France at Cherbourg, while 380 others remained aboard until morning.

The truck gardeners were called out by Henri Dorgeres, peasant front leader. Dorgeres said the walkout was called mainly because prices paid to farmers by wholesalers were much less than the retailers were required to pay.

Mobile guardsmen immediately were ordered to watch the Paris central markets and many others in the suburbs to prevent any incidents between strikers and nonstrikers.

Predict General Strike.

The strike call covered three Seine departments of France. Officials of the peasant front predicted the strike would be general throughout the Paris region by Wednesday.

The truck gardeners in one of their demands called for the markets to be put under control of the minister of agriculture. At present they are under the prefect of police.

Dorgeres said Paris still would receive its supply of vegetables tomorrow since many farmers had started their conveyances to the capital before the strike was called.

Program Ready

The program for the fourth annual "Night of Stars" to be given at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night was completed yesterday, according to Barnet Hodes, secretary of Chicago's own Christmas benefit committee, which sponsors the charitable enterprise. Proceeds from the benefit will provide clothing for more than 65,000 underpriviliged children in the city.

During the day the Stevens hotel agreed to contribute to the benefit the services of Frankie Masters and his orchestra, Maurine and Nova, and Florence Kope, dancers, and Donna Dae, singer. Other band leaders who completed arrangements with Mayor Kelly, head of the benefit committee, are George Olsen, Freddy Martin, Kay Kyser, Dick Jurgens, Roger Pryor, Henry Busse, Little Jack Little, Red Norvo, Glen Gray, and Al Kavelin.

ORDERS MENTAL EXAMINATION FOR MORON SUSPECT

A mental examination was ordered yesterday for Edwin Lakowka, 31 years old, 2645 North Kimball avenue, who was arrested Friday for annoying the small daughter of Mrs. Pauline Ford, 2151 iVlas place, by Judge Lambert K. Hayes in Town Hall court.

"This man's family have pleaded with us to be lenient," Mrs. Ford told the court, "but we can't see it that way. He might harm some child if we let him go now."

Hearing on a disorderly conduct charge against Lakowka was set for next Tuesday. In another case Judge Eugene L. McGarry in South State Street court imposed a $200 fine on Michael Hagen, 48 years old, 4329 West 26th street, alleged "peeping Tom."

PRESIDENT LANDS TODAY; WILL HEAD FOR WASHINGTON

WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AT SEA, Dec. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's flotilla hummed with activity tonight as members of the presidential party packed and said their farewells in preparation for landing at 7 a. m. tomorrow at Charleston, S. C. The Indianapolis will dock a few blocks from the special presidential train due to leave at 9:00 a. m. for Washington, D. C.

President Roosevelt, ending the 28 day cruise with which he linked a "good neighbor tour" of South America, is due in Washington tomorrow night. It was expected the President would start work on his inauguration and congressional speeches later in the week.

Tonight the cruisers Indianapolis and Chester and the destroyer Phelps steamed through ground swells well out at sea off the Florida coast. The weather remained warm despite the proximity of home shores and officers, who have used white uniforms since Nov. 20, did not take out their blue service uniforms until late in the day.

Dancer with 2 Wives Goes to Court; Leaves with None

José Perez-Chica, 33 years old, 1033 Lawrence avenue, a dancer, was granted a divorce from his first wife and an annulment of his second marriage by Judge Joseph B. David in the Superior court yesterday. Perez-Chica testified that in 1926 he married Miss Ona Wilson Kelly and she left him a year later. Hearing she was dead, in 1934, he married Miss Patricia Furness, who left him last year, he testified. Recently the dancer said he learned his first wife was still living. She appeared in court with him yesterday and announced that she had no objection to the divorce.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—The maritime commission announced today that it had communicated with the war and navy departments to determine whether they had any use for the one-time queen of the seas, the Leviathan, which has been laying idle at Hoboken, N. J., since September of 1934.

Besides conversion into a military ship, it was learned, the commission has been toying wit hthe idea of using the Leviathan for a merchant marine training ship or a floating hotel for New York City's World's Fair in 1939.

The commission also notified the United States Lines company which owns the huge vessel that the company is expected to maintain her until a final disposition has been made.

GOOD FELLOWS OF AIR TO CARRY YULETIDE CHEER

Aviators Will Help Needy for Fourth Season.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

For the fourth consecutive year the aviation industry will join hands in distributing scores of baskets of food, toys, and candy to Good Fellow families the morning before Christmas day. This announcement was made yesterday by Maj. George W. Vest, supervising nautical inspector of the bureau of air commerce, with offices in the Chicago airport administration building, who is chairman this year of Aviation Good Fellows, and by Capt. Benjamin B. Lipsner, under whose management the aviation baskets are delivered each season.

A committee meeting will be held at 2 p. m. today in Hangar No. 2 of the United Air Lines to discuss plans for a Christmas tree sing and service which will precede the taking of the baskets from the airport building. Among those expected to attend are presidents of two air lines, C. R. Smith of the American, and W. A. Patterson of the United; John A. Casey, airport manager and former Good Fellow chairman; Maj. M. D. Mann, commanding officer of the United States air corps detachment; David Behncke, president of the Air Line Pilots' association; Mike Caffarello of the Blue Bird Air Service, and O. W. Young, assistant to Maj. Vest.

Other Committee Members.

Others on the Good Fellow committee are Marguerite Greene, chairman for women; E. G. Baringer, Eastern Air Lines; C. F. Timmerman, Northwest; Russell Cowles, Chicago and Southern; Earl Kelsey, T. W. A.; Daniel F. Glasser, Aviation Legion post; William McHale, Illinois Air Pilots' association; Emma Sprague, Chicago Flying club; Jane Ray, Ninenty-Niners; Rosalie Gimple, United Air Lines Transport corporation, and Edward J. Eidsor, air lines' ticket office.

Representing three air lines the following publicity men will act in an advisory capacity to the Aviation Good Fellows: T. W. A., Milton Van Slyck; United, Harold Crary and Robert Johnson, and American, William J. Dunn, Dick Smith, and Mark Nevils.

As in past years several of the baskets will be flown into Chicago from distant points.

Christmas Cheer from the Sky.

A story is told about the late Clyde Holbrook, pilot, who carried a basket on his arm to a needy family on the south side of Chicago. A little fellow, impressed by having a pilot in uniform call at his home, asked him, "You're really not an aviator, are you?" To which the visitor answered, "Sure I am, little man." And the reply was, "Aw, go on, I don't believe it." The aviator pulled out his pocketbook and it wasn't until the boy had seen his pilot's license that he would believe this Mr. Good Fellow had come down out of the skies to bring a basket of Christmas dinner.

The Aviation Good Fellows carried 109 baskets last year. They have set their goal at 200 this season. That number, added to hundreds of others, will help to brighten up many homes at Christmas. Won't you also be a Good Fellow? You may obtain the names of unfortunate families by sending in the Good Fellow coupon or calling Superior 0100 and asking for the Good Fellow bureau.

40 Convicts to Get Early Paroles as Christmas Gifts

Forty convicts in Stateville and Joliet prisons were notified yesterday that they will be given several extra weeks of freedom as a Christmas present. Warden Joseph E. Ragen said it is the annual custom of the state parole board to grant paroles before Christmas to all those who normally would be released during December or January. The first group of ten convicts will leave the prisons today. The others will be released during the week. Nearly all of those to be freed were convicted in Cook county.

INFECTION CAUSES DEATH.

Joseph Shinto, 47 years old, 900 Rush street, a Japanese, died yesterday in the Alexian Brothers hospital of an infection which developed from an injury to his leg two months ago.

ALDERMEN FIRM ON PAY CUT FOR ELECTION BOARD

Contrast Wages with City Employes.

Salary rates for city and election board employés were contrasted yesterday by members of the city council finance committee in support of the committee's request that the election employés take the same pay reduction in 1937 as city employés.

The tentative city budget for next year continues the 39 days' pay reduction for city employés. Election employes are paid out of city funds, but in the budget submitted for them by the election commissioners no pay cut was included. The committee then asked County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, who appoints the election commissioners, to recommend a reduction equal to that to be taken by the city employés.

Submit Substitute Budget.

The committee hasn't heard from Judge Jarecki, but the election commissioners have submitted a substitute budget. The latest one totals $381,240, a cut of $50,900 from the first, representing a reduction of 11 positions. The aldermen said this change doesn't meet their request for equalization of pay reductions.

Assertions in some quarters that election board employés are paid less than employés in similar classifications in other city hall offices were denied yesterday by aldermen who cited the 1936 budget to prove the contrary.

The minimum for clerks of the election board, they showed, is $145 a month. In the city controler's office clerks are paid $125 and in other city offices the same minimum is in effect, the aldermen pointed out. Higher rates prevail in Municipal court offices.

Court Fixes Own Salaries.

Explaining the disparity in minimums, the aldermen cited the authority of the Municipal court to fix the number and salaries of the court employés. The council has fixed the rates for the election employés in the past without the question of jurisdiction being raised. The controversy arose this year when the election commissioners brought in their budget without pay cuts.

Pending a final reply from Judge Jarecki the finance committee staf is delaying action on preparing the budget sheets on the election office for submission to the city council.

SHIP QUEEN MARY RUNS LATE; WILL UNDERGO REPAIRS

New York, Dec. 14.—(AP)—The liner Queen Mary, which arrived here today on its fourteenth crossing, seven hours late due to motor trouble, will undergo superficial repairs after its return trip and be out of service until Feb. 17, Cunard White Star line officials announced tonight.

The ship was scheduled to dock at 10 a. m., but missed slack water and did not arrive until after 5 p. m. It ran for several hours at reduced speed while repairs were made Friday night and again Sunday night. It averaged 26.14 knots on the crossing, almost four knots below its high speed.

Capt. Philip Astley, husband of Madeline Carroll, movie actress, said the passengers appeared to be more concerned with former King Edward's abdication than with progress of the ship.

Formerly a companion of King Edward VIII., Capt. Astley said the prevailing opinion of his passengers was "too bad he did not remain on the job."

THREE GET LIE DETECTOR TESTS IN GARY THEFT

Three persons who have been held by Gary police in conection with the disappearance of $1,400 in currency and endorsed pay checks worth $18,400 from the safe of the Calumet Protective association of Gary, were subjected to a lie detector test at the Northwestern university crime laboratory last evening. The authorities have refused to reveal their names but two are said to be employés of the association.

According to the Gary police the money and checks disappeared from the company safe a week ago today. The checks, which were the pay vouchers of the General American Tank Car corporation of East Chicago, Ind., were recovered from a tavern at Indiana Harbor where they had been cashed.

PLEA OF GUILTY WINS HABITUAL A 20 YEAR TERM

CRIMINAL COURT.

William Mislaszik, Stanley Kosla, and Stanley Placzek, burglary, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Benjamin Epstein.

Elmer Scanson, robbery, sentenced to 30 years in the penitentiary by Judge Peter H. Schwaba.

After a jury had been selected to try him for the robbery of a south side tavern Elmer Swanson, 26 years old, an ex-convict, changed his plea of not guilty to one of guilty yesterday before Judge Peter H. Schwaba in Criminal court. He was sentenced to serve 20 years in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act.

His plea of guilty came after the state's attorney's office agreed to waive the gun count which would have provided a mandatory life sentence upon conviction. On Sept. 26 Swanson and three companions attempted to hold up a crowded tavern at 900 West 59th street. Among the patrons was Sergt. John J. Ryan of the Englewood station.

Sergt. Ryan opened fire and in the ensuing gun battle. Erwin J. King, 27 years old, one of the gunmen, was killed. Swanson and two other robbers, Walter Boreman, 25, and John Kozlowski, 26, fled but were seized at 1232 West 49th place. Boreman and Kozlowski have been granted separate trials.

Police records show that Swanson was discharged from parole last spring after he had served six years on a robbery charge.

EXPERIENCE VS. THOUGHT

By CALEB

ONE of the country's most eminent business men told us of a period in his career when he was accessible to a group of law students. They would often come to him to discuss problems and argue cases.

"Almost invariably," he said, "they tried to find solutions to their case problems in other cases. They sought out similar—or nearly similar—cases, saying, 'Now that's almost like Duffy versus Duffy, or it's between the cases of Brown versus Humpty, and Black versus Dumpty.'"

This business man would urge them to abandon this method of seeking their solutions. He would say, "Analyze this particular problem. Reduce it to the issues involved. Then in the light of your fundamental knowledge of the law, reason out a solution instead of trying to find one ready-made."

Similarly, a successful young scientist recently told us that many young engineers are walking text-books. They learn by text-book example rather than by fundamental principles. They study the instance of the application of a principle rather than the principle itself.

"So," he said, "they are poorly prepared to do any venturesome original thinking. They must go entirely by example and prior experience."

•

THE business man mentioned above and the young scientist have never met each other. They are in vastly different fields. But they have observed the same thing. They indicate that the average man is inclined to arrive at judgments based on experience or known examples.

Such a procedure hardly fits them for meeting unusual or new situations. They function best only when they can substitute experience or precedent for reasoning.

Businesses which are to lead cannot rely on actions based only on what other people, or they themselves, have done. They have to do original thinking. They have to blaze trails.

In the field of business, there is opportunity for original and creative thinking, precisely as there is in art or sculpture. New concepts in business—new forms of organization—new methods in old fields—are all the result of business thinking which starts from scratch and arranges fundamentals in new sequences and patterns. Experience is a good teacher, but it rarely shows genius as a creator.

SUPREME COURT CONDEMNS NEW DEAL 'RUSH ACT'

Assails "Irregularities" in Power Loan Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Sharply condemning "irregularities in practice" and "delusive interests of haste," the United States Supreme court today remanded for a new trial the Duke Power company case involving the right of the PWA to finance construction of public power plants in competition with private enterprise.

The court expressed no opinion on the merits of the case, in which the constitutionality of PWA power loans and grants made by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes is challenged, but for the second time within a week the highest tribunal assailed the type of procedure which the administration lawyers have been urging upon the lower courts.

The record in the case was complicated when Secretary Ickes, after the District court had entered a decree permanently enjoining Greenwood county, South Carolina, from proceeding with a PWA power plant, presented a new contract and contended that it overstepped in no wise the powers he possessed.

Urges "Orderly Procedure."

"Delusive interests of haste should not be permitted to obscure substantial requirements of orderly procedure," said the per curiam [by the court] opinion read by Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes.

A week ago today the Supreme court, in an opinion written by Associate Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo, rebuked the District court for the District of Columbia for granting a stay of all constitutional attacks on the New Deal's Wheeler-Rayburn public utility act pending a final Supreme court decision on the government's own hand picked case.

Temper of Court Shown.

The Supreme court, in these two cases, has indicated clearly its impatience with the irregular practice urged upon the lower courts by enthusiastic but inexperienced young New Deal lawyers. In the utility holding company case, it was a stay that the government wanted, whereas in the PWA power loan case the government was motivated by "delusive interests of haste."

Secretary Ickes intervened when the Duke Power company and the Southern Public Utilities company brought suit to restrain Greenwood county from constructing the power plant or from issuing bonds on which to borrow the money from PWA. The District court granted the injunction, holding that there was no constitutional authority for the government to go into the power business, and the defendants appealed.

Lower Court Criticized.

Ickes then informed the Circuit Court of Appeals that the old contract, dated Dec. 8, 1934, had been terminated and a new agreement substituted. He asked that the cause be remanded for further consideration on amended pleadings. This the Circuit court did, without reversing the District court or vacating its decree. The Supreme court held that the District court had no jurisdiction to reopen the case, its final decree not having been vacated, and hence could not understand the Circuit court's order.

"The subsequent proceedings were extraordinary," said the Supreme court's opinion. Back again in the District court counsel for Ickes failed to amend their pleadings, although this was the representation on which the case was remanded.

New Evidence Introduced.

They added that there was not time "to file supplemental pleadings as would be done were this case to proceed in the usual course."

The District court permitted the taking of new evidence, heard testimony of Secretary Ickes and even permitted the introduction of his book, "Back to Work," written for him by a ghost writer on the government pay roll.

But the District court excluded from consideration any evidence except that relating to the new contract and held that this agreement justified no modification of the original decree. The case again was taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals, whose action was described thus by the Supreme court:

"Ignoring the fact that . . . the pleadings had not been amended and the case properly retried, the Court of Appeals proceeded to pass upon the question of the validity of the act of congress under which the federal loan was to be made, and of the action of the public works administrator, reversed the decree appealed from and directed the dismissal of the bill for want of equity."

"Irregularities" Are Stressed.

The Supreme court, in ordering the case back for a new trial, said it presented "irregularities in practice which we think should not be overlooked."

Speaking of the orderly methods of procedure, the opinion said, "There is no exigency here which demands that these requirements should not be enforced."

FIGHT AGAINST RADIO NEWS 'PIRATING' LOST BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—The Associated Press today lost its fight in the United States Supreme court to restrain radio station KVOS of Bellingham, Wash., from "pirating" and broadcasting news carried by member newspapers.

The opinion of the Supreme court, delivered by Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts, held that the amount of damages in controversy had not been shown to exceed $3,000, as required by statute, and hence the federal courts were without jurisdiction. A decree of the Circuit Court of Appeals, ordering an injunction in favor of the Associated Press, was reversed, and the District court was instructed to dismiss the complaint for want of jurisdiction.

The immediate effect of the court's decision will be the removal of all limitations on the "pirating" and broadcasting of news by radio stations.

However, the controversy between newspapers and press services on the one hand and radio stations on the other may not end here, for two courses are open to the former, and John W. Davis, counsel for the Associated Press, announced that one or the other would be pursued. The Associated Press may renew its action in the federal courts on a showing that the broadcasting of its news results in damages in excess of $3,000, or it may proceed in the state courts.

NEW YORK G. O. P. ELECTS MURRAY STATE CHAIRMAN

Choice Seen as Victory for "Old Guard."

New York, Dec. 14.—[Special.]—William S. Murray of Utica, a chemical engineer who for the last three years has been chairman of the Oneida county Republican committee, was elected chairman of the Republican state committee at a meeting of that body today. The selection was unanimous.

In picking Mr. Murray to succeed Melvin C. Eaton, whose resignation as state chairman had been pending since the Nov. 3 election, the Republican state committee turned on former Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley of Westchester, G. O. P. nominee for governor in the November election.

Judge Backs Jaeckle.

Bleakley had expressed preference for Edwin F. Jaeckle, chairman of the Erie county Republican committee.

The new state chairman is not looked upon as a reactionary, but inferentially his election may be regarded as a victory for the "old guard" element now in control of the Republican state organization, which the followers of ex-Justice Bleakley and Mr. Jaeckle were pledged to oust from power.

Result Called "Paradox."

To a great many it appeared paradoxical that close upon the "old guard" victory the state committee should adopt a resolution offered by Representative Hamilton Fish, committing the state organization of the party to "liberal leadership and liberal policies.

JAP INDUSTRIAL CHIEF LINKED TO MILITARY REVOLT

Jailed Ten Months for February Uprising.

TOKIO, Dec. 15 [Tuesday].—Strong intimation that men of national reputation were connected with the sensational Tokio military rebellion of last Feb. 26-29 was given today by the war office.

An announcement said a special court martial had released Fusanosuke Kuhara, former minister of communications and wealthy industrialist, who, it is revealed, had been in prison nearly ten months.

The war office said the court found insufficient evidence to convict Kuhara on the charges on which the military authorities had held him, but his case was taken in hand immediately by civil courts. There will be further investigation on accusations of shielding men involved in the uprising and of being accessories before the fact.

Dropped from Sight.

This was the first official intimation that Kuhara has been under suspicion, although he simply dropped from sight after the February revolt.

The name of Gen. Jinzaburo Mazaki, former inspector general of military education, also appeared prominently in the court martial's report, which said the rebels planned to make him premier of a military government.

Although the government was silent on the question it was generally believed Gen. Mazaki, once one of the army's "big three" and a leader of its extreme nationalist wing, was in military prison.

Mazaki, like Kuhara, dropped from public view several months ago.

The court martial charges Kuhara was closely connected with Tetsuya Kamekawa, notorious organizer and leader of reactionary patriotic societies, arrested last March and still held as one of the principal civilian supporters of the uprising.

[The rebellion was principally military, but several civilians of ultra-patriotic stripe were involved. Early on the morning of Feb. 26 nearly 1,500 officers and men of the two divisions stationed in Tokio seized several government buildings in the heart of the capital. They assassinated three outstanding statesmen and for four days paralyzed the life of the empire.]

Court Reveals Tie.

The court martial's examination as published by the war office revealed that since the autumn of 1934 Kuhara had been obtaining from Kamekawa information on internal conditions of the Japanese army and developments which led up to the February revolt. It also showed that on Feb. 23 Kuhara handed 5,000 yen [about $1,450] to Kamekawa when the latter told him of the details of the uprising planned for Feb. 26.

Fifteen army officers, none of higher rank than captain, were executed July 12 as leaders of the uprising. Two more are in prison under sentence of death, while more than fifty officers, noncommissioned officers, and civilians are serving prison terms for their share in the revolt.

Mission Board Receives $1,000 from DictatorChiang

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. C. W. Turpin, editor of the secular press bureau, announced today Gen. and Mrs. Chiank Kai-shek of China had given $1,000 gold to missionary funds of the Methodist Episcopal church, south. Chiang is the Chinese overlord detained at Sianfu in a coup by mutinous troops.

CRISIS GROWS AS CHINA SEEKS TO FREE GEN. CHIANG

Officials Parley with Marshal Chang.

leged communistic sympathies of new members of the Chinese military council at Kanking as tending to bear out the contention. Tokio fears that should Chiang be executed, a faction favorable to Moscow would gain control. All Japanese warships in Chinese waters and troops on the mainland have been ordered to protect Japan's interests.

Accuse Japanese Agents.

Dispatches from Moscow quoted the soviet press as hinting broadly that "Japanese provocateurs" and their "clumsy work" to further the dismemberment of China were behind the affair. Moscow flatly denied the soviet was in any way involved in the Chang rebellion.

The newspaper Pravda charged that while it might appear Marshal Chang was raising his banner against the Japanese, he is "actually helping Japan," asserting "Japanese imperialism systematically works to divide a country into small units incapable of united resistance."

Replying to Japanese assertions that the soviet had concluded an offensive and defensive alliance with Marshal Chang, Moscow officials said that even if the rebel general had proposed any form of alliance with them they would have rejected it if for no other reason than "because he was not the kind of person with whom any serious government would treat."

Finance Minister H. H. Kung revealed that the government has been remitting 1,700,000 Chinese dollars monthly to Chang Hsueh-liang for the support of his army but admitted the belief that the general possibly pocketed a portion, leaving his troops unpaid.

Close Stock Exchange.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Authorities closed the stock market here today because of the crisis created through the capture of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek by mutinous troops. The bonds of the national government declined sharply when the market opened and the action to suspend trading was taken immediately.

Hold Up Fishing Treaty.

Seize Japanese Fishermen.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Dec. 15 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese ambassador to Russia, today informed the Japanese foreign office fines had been levied against seven Japanese fishing vessels which were seized off Kamchatka by Russian authorities on charges of illegally fishing in Russian waters. The fines were stated to range from 100 to 500 rubles. [By Russian government decree the American dollar buys 5.06 rubles.]

Chicagoans at Sianfu.

PEIPING, Dec. 14.—The United States embassy here has records of twenty-five Americans residing in Shensi province, including missionaries and their children, of whom fifteen are at Sianfu.

Americans residing at Sianfu include Mrs. J. W. Bergstrom, Rockford; Miss Ruth Johnson, Chicago; and Miss Jenny Weddison, Foreston, Minn.

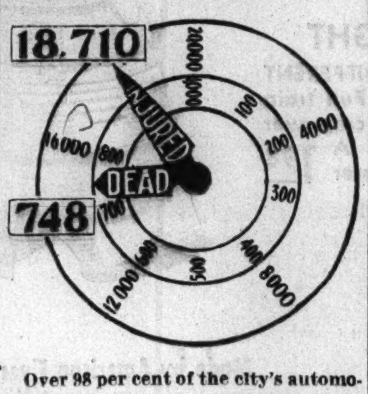
THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1936 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

WIFE OF FORMER ALDERMAN IS HIT BY AUTO; KILLED

Mrs. Mulac Is Struck Crossing Street.

Mrs. Filomina Mulac, 70 years old, 2452 South Sawyer avenue, wife of Rudolph Mulac, former alderman of the old 12th ward, was killed by an automobile as she was crossing 25th street at Sawyer avenue last night. The driver was Franklin Suda, 31, of 2032 West 21st street.

Mrs. Mulac was a native of Bohemia, and a resident of Chicago since 1880. Her husband served in the city council in 1915-'16. About eight years ago he was a west parks commissioner. The Mulacs celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1934.

Harry Bonner, 60 years old, an inmate of the Oak Forest infirmary, died there supposedly from injuries incurred six weeks ago when he was struck by a truck on the grounds of the institution.

Injuries Cause Death.

John Virgoni, 47 years old, 3517 Neenah street, died in the Swedish Covenant hospital of a skull fracture received Sunday when his car collided with another at Caldwell avenue and Carpenter road. His wife, Josephine, 33 years old, was seriously injured.

Joseph Kuchaj, 18 years old, 2620 West 22d place, was killed and two companions were injured seriously yesterday when their automobile skidded on the icy pavement and crashed headon into a surface lines car on Roosevelt road at 54th avenue in Cicero.

The two injured are Edward Brennan, 19 years old, 719 West 66th place, driver of the car, and John Labus, 20, who lived with Kuchaj. They were taken to the Frances Willard hospital. No one on the street car was injured.

Two Pedestrians Hurt.

Two pedestrians were seriously injured in separate accidents when they were run down by hit and run drivers of automobiles. Michael Chanski, 51 years old, 1712 North Wood street, was struck as he alighted from a North avenue street car at Holt street. Edward Throjniar, 24 years old, 5257 South Winchester avenue, was struck while he was crossing 69th street at Ashland avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 996 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 748 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 18,710 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

PAYS FINE ON BRIBE OFFER

Philip Isenberg, 28 years old, 7627 East End avenue, an accountant, paid a $200 fine yesterday before Judge John Gutknecht in Trafic court for attempting to bribe a policeman. He was arrested Sunday by Park Policeman Clarence Veach after he had tried to give the policeman a dollar to tear up a court summons for a minor trafic violation.

"I realize I made a mistake," Isenberg said, "but I was excited and he kept leading me on by asking how much it was worth to me not to get a ticket." Judge Gutknecht indicated that if Isenberg would remain in jail for three days he would impose a minimum fine of $5. Instead Isenberg paid the larger fine.

In Safety court Judge Charles Dougherty sentenced three motorists to the county jail. They are Royal C. Main, 51 years old, 915 Wilson avenue, ten days for driving while drunk; Sam Ward, 31 years old, 3012 South Wabash avenue, colored, five days for reckless driving, and Raymondo Bairemo, 43 years old, 3551 Ellis avenue, five days for driving while drunk.

BOOSTS NEW HIGHWAYS

Modern highways to replace obsolete surfaces would be more effective in curtailing trafic accidents than controling the automobile driver or curbing speed, John B. John of Cleveland told 300 members of the Portland Cement association yesterday, at the opening of its thirty-fourth annual meeting in the Blackstone hotel.

Mr. John, who is chairman of the accident prevention committee of the association, pointed out that speed in itself is not so wicked as many believe. He asserted that enforcement of proper trafic laws and education of drivers are important.

"Nevertheless," he commented, "many of these safety campaigns ignore the fact that many roads and streets are obsolete for present day trafic and must be rebuilt to modern standards before much headway can be made toward highway safety."

Dictator Chiang's Son in Berlin; Dodges Questions

BERLIN, Dec. 14.—The Chinese domestic crisis has interrupted the studies of Chiang Wei-ko, student at the University of Berlin, and son of Dictator Chiang of China.

Acting on the wishes of the embassy, young Chiang has kept to his room to forestall attempts to question him concerning his father.

Young Chiang arrived in Berlin about a month ago. He enrolled in the university under an assumed name as a student of economics.

Paced Ahead of Changing Times, this Editorial Technique proves its Fundamental Vitality

WHAT a forward-looking, outspoken people we Americans are today! Now nearly every vital subject concerning human welfare is discussable in print. Everyone seeks knowledge—how to be successful, happy, healthy—a better citizen.

But the public wasn't always so progressive, as shown by the genteel magazines of Yesterday. Then editors had to be timid because readers were touchy, intolerant.

The pageant of half a century of American advancement has passed before one liberal editor, Bernarr Macfadden. He did much to foster liberality by creating a new Editorial Technique. This new Editorial Technique was once called radical simply because it was so different . . . today it is accepted as sound—the mainspring of the many successful Macfadden Magazines.

While times have changed, the Macfadden Editorial Technique has not had to be revised—because it is so basic. The Times have simply caught up with this dynamic Technique.

One example of the Macfadden Editorial Technique as a forward force was its advocacy of better health education—it urged fresh air, exercise, proper nutrition, infant welfare—every subject affecting national health. Strangely enough, these novel ideas were once derided—today they are almost commonplace.

The Macfadden Editorial Technique, daring and dramatic, "sold" new ideas in a popular manner so all could understand their value. This Editorial Technique brought countless letters straight from the hearts of thousands of ambitious people. Hence Macfadden Magazines lean toward the educational, answering in simple language the "How" and "Why" and "What" of life.

Each Macfadden Magazine will always be progressive, because the Macfadden Technique is progressive. Not one is "just another magazine." Study True Story and the Macfadden Women's Group, for example—see how they treat modern problems of life. See how Physical Culture keeps ahead in health education. Liberty is a newsy, vivid mirror of the thrilling world we live in. So, with all Macfadden Magazines—each is alive, keyed closely to Today and Tomorrow—not Yesterday.

A progressive kind of people—millions of them—read Macfadden Magazines. Advertisers seeking volume sales find these progressive people extremely responsive to advertising in their favorite Macfadden Magazines.

This series of advertisements is sponsored by Physical Culture, the first of the family of Macfadden Magazines

WHAT NEXT?

As the curtain was falling on the romantic drama of a king's love and renunciation, leaving a world breathless and amazed, an event took place in a distant land that may soon overshadow that enthralling story and fill the stage with action and with actors more momentous by far. For, in China, Chiang Kai-shek has been kidnaped. His captor is Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, his former ally, whose army clamors for a declaration of war on Japan.

It is very difficult to know the meaning of any event in the turmoil of China today, and this is no exception. If the kidnaping is merely another instance of those selfish rivalries which have been the curse of China since the republic was founded it is possible to hope captor and captured will compromise and the incident close without fateful consequences. But the event has more probable and serious implications than that. The report that the soldiers of Chang demand the readmission of communists to membership in the ruling party, the Kuomintang, from which they have been debarred by the captured generalissimo, suggests the influence of Moscow. But there are more impressive reasons for suspecting it. The advance of the Japanese in northern China and Mongolia is putting Japan on the flank of Russian communications with Russia's eastern province on the Pacific and endangering its defense in a war with Japan. Events are moving steadily toward such a conflict and Moscow may have decided that it can wait no longer. It may have made terms with Marshal Chang.

On the other hand Japan may be the moving influence and the demand on behalf of the communists a blind. Her government may have decided that it must get rid of Chiang Kai-shek, who, despite his refusal to yield to the foolish demands of misguided patriots to declare war upon Japan, has persisted in a policy which, in outside opinion, is the only practical course for China to follow so long as her military and economic condition is what it is.

Whichever theory is true, if either, the capture of Chiang must fill every intelligent Chinese and every friend of China with something like despair. Chiang has been charged with selfish ambition, with treason to his country, with undue friendliness to Japan. But the best judgment recognizes in him the best hope of China's restoration. If his course of conduct is fairly followed it will be approved as wise and courageous. To his own danger he has resolutely refused the headlong demands of impracticals, has put down demoralizing divisions, and has yielded nothing he has means to defend. His task has been heart-breaking but, as far as we can see, it has been ably addressed. No one we see in China can take his place. China needs peace at almost any price. He has bravely preserved it as far as it can be preserved.

In this he has contributed decisively to the peace of the world and his removal is only too likely to be an international disaster. His capture may precipitate a war between Russia and Japan with consequences not merely to China but to the world which are not pleasant to foresee.

MORE ABOUT LICENSE PLATES.

The first response to THE TRIBUNE'S suggestion for public discussion of automobile registration comes from the Illinois Automobile club. This organization has been urging the state legislature to postpone the date for license change to March 1. Of the forty-eight states in the Union only seventeen make the change effective on New Year's day. The other thirty-one fix dates ranging from Jan. 10 in Arkansas to Nov. 15 in Alabama. The midyear, July 1, is observed by a single state, West Virginia. While in most cases Jan. 1 was originally set as a deadline, changes have been made for various reasons, prominent among which was the inducement to keep a maximum number of automobiles on the streets during the winter and thus increase gasoline tax collections.

But there is a prompt objection to the automobile club's plan. March 1 comes at the close of a season during which living expenses have been highest and the family budget stretched to the limit to include fuel costs. It also appears a favorite month for tax bills, including the income assessment. On the other hand, a third correspondent objects to July 1 on the theory that many Illinois cars would be out of the state during the vacation season, which raises the question as to the number of cars that will tow trailers to Florida during the month of January.

As a colored gentleman observed to the judge when seeking the continuance of a sentence for chicken stealing that had been suspended while he harvested his meager crops, "There jist ain't no good time to pay dis here debt to de law." Nevertheless, Jan. 1 is unpopular. THE TRIBUNE would appreciate some plans involving special inducements in addition to suggestions for changing the date.

THE NEW KING GEORGE AND HIS JOB.

After the bachelor interlude and the romantic turmoil the British will now try rehabilitation, forgetting, if not forgiving, with the family type of king. The new royal family is complete for the domestic scene and can be used for pictorial purposes in the ceremonial and useful arts of government.

The king and his consort will be that core of eminent respectability and competent dignity which the British hope represents the realities of national life, soundly preserved, whatever may be the frivolities regarded as exotic in conspicuous if not distinguished circles. The children are of an age to be artfully treated and decorated for the illumination of family life.

In the succession the British people, recovering from their astonishment, will have a family which can take a keen interest in orphan asylums, can christen battleships, patronize the arts, lend encouragement to worthy enterprises, hold court, and even continue the Christmas broadcasts.

It is probably understood that there must be a period of convalescence. Although the abdication bill refers to the "demise of the crown"—the passing of it—there is not a succession after the corporal death of its wearer and the period following could not with propriety be one of mourning and must be regarded as one of recuperation. The crown undoubtedly was very sick before its demise, although the official acknowledgment of the illness covered a period of hardly more than two weeks. The political medicoes who have guarded the health of the crown have had long experience and they know the best course to pursue. That the present condition of the institution will require great skill in treatment goes without saying. It wouldn't be safe to predict that the recovery would be complete or rapid.

A legitimate king in exile may conscientiously and scrupulously avoid adding complications to the restoration of regal importance, but he cannot wholly obliterate himself, and if, as some English commentators remark, there is a mysticism surrounding English royalty, the man in exile, whatever he calls himself, has once been bathed in that. And yet he is plainly no mystic but a fellow man whose activities for a long time will at least mildly engage the public attention.

If Edward of Windsor should happen upon disillusionment, if he should be unable to find a restful and contented life, if decorum should fail to dignify his increasing number of years, he would still be one who had once been king of England and no one will forget that.

A son who has cut loose from his family hardly ever relieves the family from responsibility for his actions. The family may harden its heart against a delinquent and it may cast him off, but he nevertheless carries some of the family reputation in his hands, and if this be true where the name of the family is a matter of concern only to it what must be the truth of it when the name of the family and its illustrious mien are conceived as the mystic tie holding empire together? You may think that battleships are a more substantial tie, but the British themselves place responsibility upon the crown.

It may develop that the future of the royal family and the monarchical institution in Great Britain and the empire will evolve not only from what goes on in Buckingham palace but in places abroad where from time to time David Windsor, duke or Prince Edward, may have his residence.

He has emerged from his difficult even if self-created situation with as many sympathies following him as he reasonably could have expected to win. He has placed upon himself the responsibility for a regimen more rigorous than would be required of a king.

IMPROVING THE ROAD.

The inside story of how many trunk line railways have managed to pull through the depression was described by President Downs of the Illinois Central railway at the Investment Bankers' convention. He opened the eyes of many listeners as well as newspaper readers to what had been going on behind the scenes. To the average citizen the railroads have made substantial progress in train speeds and have introduced new and radically different types of equipment. Aside from these improvements, it is the same old "two streaks of steel and a right-of-way."

Every time-honored procedure has been subjected to acid tests developed in the more modern automotive industry. Where railway practices were found wanting they were changed. Switches are being heated by electricity to insure continuous operation in cold weather, ties are being treated to prolong life, and the familiar "click of the rails" is in some instances being eliminated by welding rail joints. "Clicking" is wearing and wearing is waste. The maul and wrench of the section man have been replaced by labor-saving machines, all to produce a more perfect roadway over which to operate higher speed trains at lower costs.

The demagog will have his ready criticism—economy at the expense of labor—but the answer will be readily discernible. Backbreaking toil becomes a thing of the past as the section man becomes a mechanic, capable of handling power tools. The number will not be reached because of the insatiable demand of the American people for more transportation just as soon as the cost is brought within reach.

Editorial of the Day

AMERICAN DIPLOMATS.

[Sioux City (Ia.) Journal.]

Ray Tucker, writing in the Journal from Washington, calls attention to the fact that our diplomats abroad must be wealthy if married to hold their posts, or must remain bachelors if poor to stay in the service. The point is that one with a family does not have sufficient income, if wholly depending upon salary, to make the grade. Consequently, a good many brilliant career men necessarily remain single.

If the Roosevelt administration really wishes to set this thing straight it will influence congress to revise laws governing the diplomatic service. It never should be required of a diplomat abroad that he pay many times the amount of his salary in meeting the expenses of his office. Because of this narrow view of our government scores of capable, useful men have been denied opportunities in a service for which they naturally are fitted.

It is doubted that any branch of our government service is more important than that which represents us abroad. America ought to have the most capable citizens available to interpret and represent her in foreign capitals. A wealthy nation such as the United States ought to make the adjustments necessary to provide nothing less than the best in ability when it comes to the handling of our foreign affairs.

SHADES OF INFLECTION!

When I first began riding the Howard street L I was puzzled and intrigued by the strange cries the conductors uttered at two points on the line. One sounded like this: "Randoenwah; chaino-dewahsah." The other was: "Bay-mo-nay; chaino-rayoo." This went on for weeks, then there appeared a bright-eyed young conductor who would cry out in a pleasing voice: "Randolph and Wells, change for the west side," and "Belmont next; change for Ravenswood." This fellow, I felt certain, would not last long. Sure enough, he soon disappeared. "Fired?" I asked another conductor. "Nope; don't think so. Either on another run or off for more training." It must have been the latter, because he finally reappeared. The train was just grinding to a stop at a north side station when I noticed him. He stuck his head into our coach and bawled: "Bay-mo-nay; chaino rayoo!"

WHEN TOBACCO REDUCTION IS NEEDED.

THE widespread use of tobacco as a sedative, a stimulant, or a nerve quieter has elicited many inquiries as to the methods that may be adopted to allay an excessive desire for the weed.

Now and then physicians are called upon to advise a patient that, temporarily at least, he should stop smoking. While this can be done, and is done without a compensating factor, nevertheless it involves something of a struggle on the part of the victim. Sucking air through a goose quill in lieu of smoking a pipe of fragrant tobacco is a rather poor subterfuge. It is comparable to replacing one's favorite oolong or orange pekoe with "cambric" tea.

We know that some persons use too much tobacco. Persistent addiction may upset digestion, interfere with the absorption of food, and affect the nervous mechanism governing the heart beat. It is no uncommon sequel to have an irregular heart resume its normal rhythm on reducing the consumption. No one can deny that nicotine is a poison, but tobacco varies considerably in the percentage of this alkaloid. If smoke is inhaled routinely more of this substance is retained.

As is well known, the body will establish a tolerance to many drugs, among them nicotine. Some of us recall our first essay at smoking grandfather's pipe. If we persisted long enough nausea appeared.

But physical injury from tobacco is a matter of quantity and individual response. It should not be used by growing youngsters, as it definitly retards cell development. By age 25 a certain amount of resistance will have been acquired and the effect upon the fully developed nervous system will not be nearly so obvious.

Occasionally the question is asked: "Is tobacco an aid to digestion?" The answer is "No!" However, if one has been accustomed to smoking after meals the nervous reaction due to deprivation may upset the normal flow of the digestive fluids. There is no question but that the confirmed smoker who is unable to indulge shows increased signs of nervousness.

If one really wishes to reduce his tobacco intake and finds, as many do, that excessive smoking leads to increased irritability, insomnia, etc., it is not difficult to accomplish the end desired with medical aid. Physicians have found that either the extract or the alkaloid from lobelia [Indian tobacco] will relieve the craving.

The program is essentially that suggested by J. L. Dorsey, who recommends that smoking be discontinued after a decided upon midday meal. Coincident with the abrupt withdrawal, lobeline sulphate is given by mouth in capsule form. The dose is very small and may be repeated frequently as the longing becomes overwhelming. After a bit the patient may learn the exact amount required and some have been known to take as many as 18 doses in 24 hours. Dorsey reports that after the drug has been used for a day or two the inclination to smoke becomes less and less. The craving, however, returns in waves which are easily controled by lobelia.

The effects of the drug, on the whole are salutary. Appetite is improved and nervous, undernourished young women particularly may recover the bloom of health. In some cases chronic coughs disappear and persistently coated tongues lose their decorations. In no small number of patients circulation is improved, as noted by the absence of habitually cold hands and feet.

In lobelia we have a drug that offers a substantial aid in tapering off the daily ration or of stopping altogether. It apparently provides a buffer against the misery that sometimes ensues when one attempts to break off the habit. There is very little discomfort attending the use of the drug, although if a considerable amount is employed there may be some nausea accompanied by a slight metallic taste. On the whole the plan appears to be the least harmful of any of the methods proposed previously.

ARTHRITIS.

J. C. writes: What is meant in describing the different types of arthritis, as rheumatic, gouty, rheumatoid, gonorrheal, tuberculous, and traumatic?

REPLY.

Arthritis occurs in a number of different forms, depending upon the cause. Rheumatic fever is a general infection characterized in many instances by acute inflammation of joints. Gonorrheal arthritis is an acute inflammation of the joint, caused by the gonococcus. Gout is often mistaken for acute rheumatic arthritis, but is distinguished by the intensity of the pain and the exquisite tenderness of the skin over the affected area. Uric acid in the blood is greatly increased. Rheumatoid arthritis is a chronic disease affecting the joints which is slowly progressive and crippling. Tuberculous arthritis occurs most frequently in children. Tuberculosis of the hip joint and of the spine are the two most common forms. Traumatic arthritis follows a mechanical injury.

ELECTRIC VICTIMS.

W. P. M. writes: How does one release a victim from an electric wire safely and quickly?

REPLY.

If the person is in contact with a live wire, work a coat, a piece of dry cloth, or a dry rope under his body and drag him off the wire. If rubber gloves are promptly available, grasp the injured person's dry clothing and lift or drag him away. If assistants are at hand, raise the injured person from the wire with a dry cloth or line under his body and have some one remove the wire with a dry wooden tool handle or dry board.

In doing rescue work of this character rubber gloves should be worn if possible. Do not touch the injured man while he is in contact with the circuit. Take hold of his dry clothing only. Look out for his shoes, as you may get a shock through the nails, which are conductors.

BALANCED DIET.

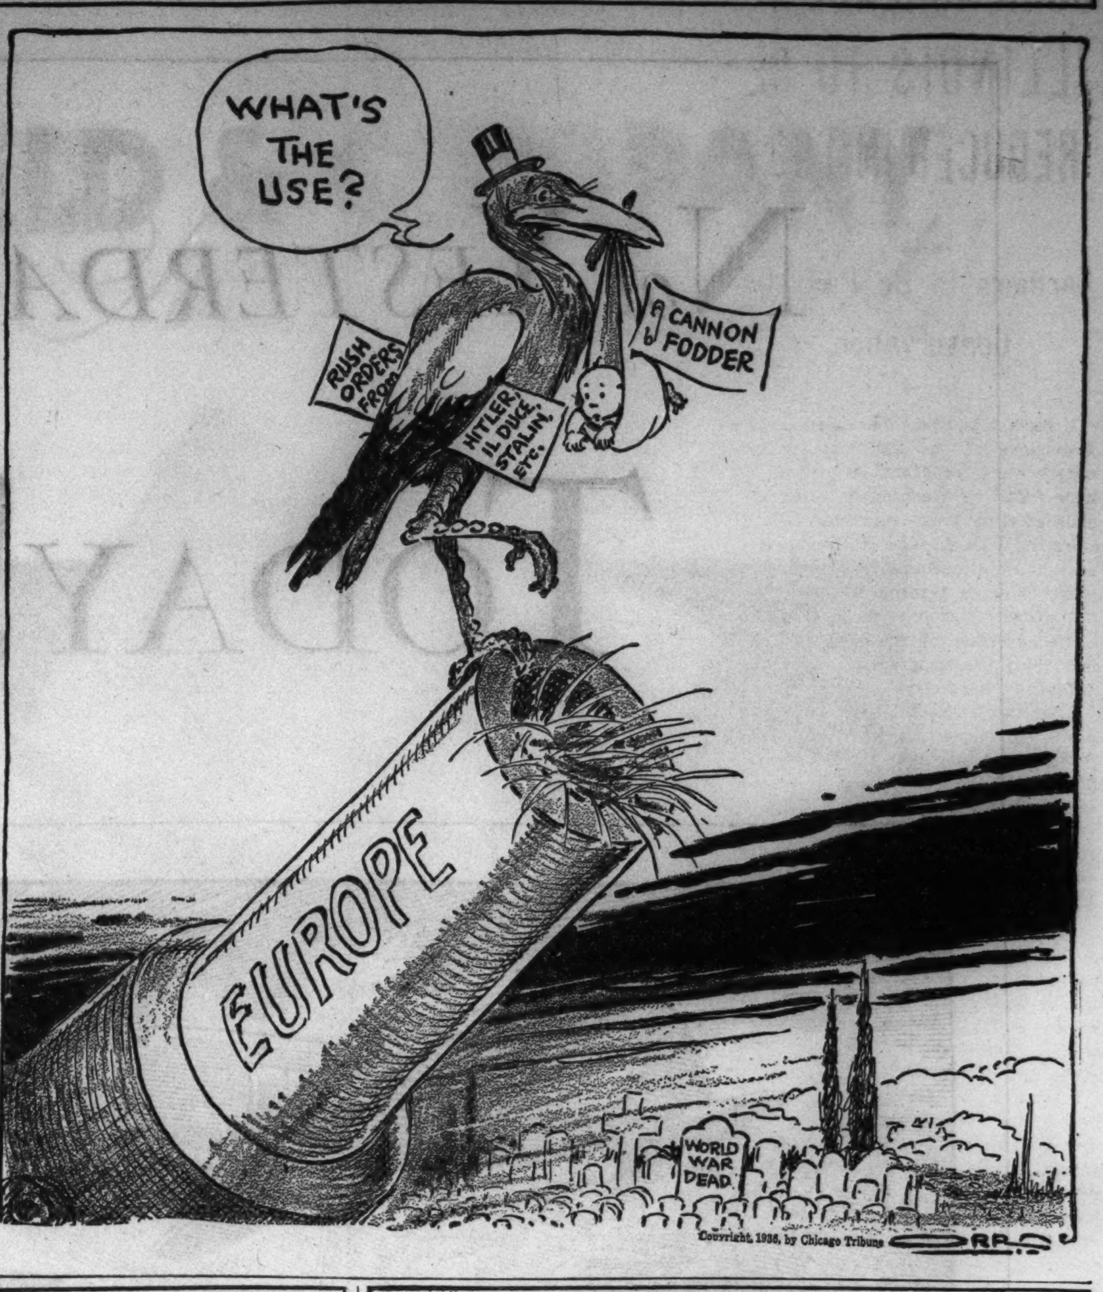
W. E. writes:

1. Will you discuss the necessary vitamins for adults?
2. Is it dangerous to cook food in aluminum vessels?
3. Can a letter from a relative who is afflicted with boils infect the receiver?

REPLY.

1. The normal diet, as a rule, provides sufficient vitamins. We have a balanced diet list that you can get by sending a stamped, addressed envelope.
2. No.
3. No.

LOADING THE CANNON



Copyright, 1936, by Chicago Tribune ORR

From Across the Sea

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Brighter uniforms are coming back to the British army in the effort to stimulate recruiting, but other picturesque bits of equipment are being dropped for the sake of economy and efficiency. The sword is the latest.

Except on ceremonial occasions, new army dress regulations specify, swords are to be carried only by officers in cavalry regiments. Last month the navy gave up the cutlass, one of its traditional weapons and one of the deadliest in the hands of boarding parties a century ago. A few cutlasses are to be retained aboard each ship for parades and funerals.

First to go in the pruning of outdated weapons was the lance, which for the last eight years has not been carried by lancer regiments except on parade.

Mechanization of the army is being rushed ahead and only ten regiments of horse cavalry remain. Two cavalry regiments now are equipped entirely with armored cars. Eight others have exchanged, or are in process of exchanging, horses for mechanized equipment of one sort or another—chiefly light tanks.

Though still listed as cavalrymen, officers in these mechanized units would find a sword even more of an incumbrance than would infantry or artillery officers, but the new regulations do not exempt them from carrying swords on active service.

OWNERSHIP OR OCCUPANCY?

Chicago, Dec. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. A home was given as a wedding gift twenty-eight years ago and taxes were paid by the donor up until two years ago; these taxes have not been paid yet, but the deed has not been presented, although there are witnesses to that effect and now the donor wants to take it back.

2. Is that possible?

3. The party it was given to laid the sidewalk, put in the lighting fixtures, the shades, built a two car garage, put up a fence, planted a great deal of shrubbery, built a large pool and did all decorating and painting for the inside and outside all these years, with the expectation that the deed would be turned over. Now the donor wants to hang a for rent sign in the windows.

4. How does one go about getting separate maintenance?

W. H. P.

1. This wording might mean that he gave or agreed to give outright ownership or merely that he agreed to give occupancy. In general, the statute of limitations does not run where possession is permissive as distinguished from adverse.

2. We are not in a position to say it is impossible.

3. Where a grantee under oral agreement goes into possession and makes permanent improvements it is possible to enforce an oral contract if the facts can be sufficiently proved. We advise the employment of an attorney.

4. Employ an attorney.

Joliet, Ill., Dec. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The following paragraph appears on all securities belonging to my husband and me. Will you please explain in simple words the meaning? "L. C. F. and M. F. joint tenants with right of survivorship and not as tenants in common."

L. F.

To create a joint tenancy in real estate the conveyance should expressly declare that title is to pass not in tenancy in common but in joint tenancy [Ill. revised statutes, chap. 76, sec. 1.] If title is already in one of the parties, it should be deeded to a third person who is not subject to judgment liens. He should then deed back to the two, using a joint tenancy form, which can be secured from a stationer.

To create a joint tenancy in personal property the "Will or other instrument in writing" should express "an intention to create a joint tenancy . . . with the right of survivorship" [sec. 2]. Under the statute we consider it advisable not to rely on the wording of a stock certificate nor on the fact that the parties have joint access to a safety box. The intention should be expressed in writing by the owner or owners.

On the death of a joint tenant, the property passes to the survivor without necessity for probate and to the exclusion of the heirs or devisees of the one who dies first. The one-half that thus passes by survivorship is subject to inheritance tax.

MEDITATION ON A THIRD ANNIVERSARY.

Norfolk, Neb., Dec. 8.—In many of the older European countries barmaids, usually buxom daughters or next of kin of the tavern keeper, are found dispensing the amber fluid with much the same éclat as would be displayed by a well trained chambermaid doing her daily chores. In such countries the barmaid has become a fairly respectable institution. Nothing of the flapper, come along, unconventional type recently installed behind many of our American bars.

Barflies, or moochers, have long been a source of annoyance and vexation to our saloonkeepers and patrons of the bar. They may be called an American institution in which we can take but little pride. Barmaids in this country are an innovation. The Bartenders' unions of Chicago and some other large American cities have recently importuned their city officials to dispense with barmaids by legislative enactment.

On this third anniversary [not yet officially designated a legal holiday] of the return of legalized liquor "without the saloon" we have the saloon in its aboriginal state, plus a liberal touch of femininity so conducive to the restoration of the tired business man's morale.

The progress of a nation may be accurately measured by the moral tone and character of its women. When any considerable number of our women get on the toboggan the male contingent may need another Moses to lead them out of the wilderness. Men may be loath to admit it, but their success is almost solely attributable to the constant goading of an ambitious, level minded, home loving woman. Those now engaged in the saloon business employing barmaids of the easy virtue type are riding to a fall. Either through sheer stupidity or a willful disregard of popular sentiment, this type of saloonkeeper is on his way out.

J. C. ROBINSON.

GOOD, BUT NOT THAT GOOD.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—I'll admit that the east and middle west outclass the west coast football teams, and it's all right to handicap the best team, but when Pittsburgh plays in the Rose Bowl game I hope they don't have a handicap like Notre Dame's against Southern California, that is, playing against fifteen men [eleven players, four officials].

PITTSBURGHER.

IS IT?

Chicago, Dec. 12.—Is it true that the workers for the WPA who work on paving or on cleaning up garbage have to pay $2 per month union dues to a Mike Corrozo? If so, why do the taxpayers who support the WPA have to stand for this?

FAIR PLAY.

MEDICAL ADVERTISING.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—In connection with your editorial on medical advertising in today's TRIBUNE, published, no doubt, as part of your fine campaign to remove the taboo of secrecy from syphilis, may I call attention to the study of medical advertising made in 1932 by Miss Mary Ross of New York and published by the Julius Rosenwald Fund? This booklet reviews the experiments undertaken by a number of county and state medical societies and dental societies with medical advertising and likewise the experiments with medical advertising of numerous public health agencies, and clinics, and hospitals in various parts of the country. Much more has been done by medical societies and other medical agencies with medical advertising than is commonly known, and the successes as well as the failures of various experiments may be useful in the present campaign.

Copies of the pamphlet can be had by any interested person without charge from the Julius Rosenwald Fund, 4901 Ellis avenue, Chicago.

SUBURBAN BOTTLE NECK.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—The New York Central railroad may consider buying new locomotives, and they may need them, too, especially on the suburban runs, but what they need most is adequate tracks from the La Salle street station to beyond Roosevelt road. In this short distance a dozen tracks merge into three or four, making a bottle neck situation, forcing suburban trains to wait at either end of this bottle neck for a clear track. Five and ten minute delays are frequent events both morning and night.

A WOMAN HANGED IN ILLINOIS.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—It has often been stated that no woman has been legally executed for crime in Illinois. One Elizabeth Reed was hanged at Lawrenceville, May 23, 1845, for murder of her husband in Crawford county, Ill., by arsenic poisoning. She obtained change of venue and the case was tried in Lawrence county. Execution was public. When they were aged, I knew two of the jurors, both honest farmers of prominence.

THE SUPERIOR SEX.

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 10.—After much traveling about the country and meeting many wives of distinguished men, I am convinced that in general women are inferior to their husbands and that it's a good thing for many a wife in this country her man's position is not dependent on his choice in women.

CORN ACREAGE IN ILLINOIS TO BE REDUCED IN 1937

Farmers to Be Paid for Conservation.

Urbana, Ill., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Provisions of the 1937 agricultural conservation program, as explained here today by Washington AAA officials at a meeting launching it, will limit the corn acreage of Illinois next season to something less than the 9,183,000 acres planted in 1936.

Otherwise, except for provisions made necessary by the drouth of the last year, the program is but little different than the one of 1936.

Like the preceding one, the program for the coming year will make payments to farmers who meet specified conditions for shifting land from soil depleting crops to soil conserving crops and for carrying out approved soil building practices, it was explained by Robert W. Straszheim, field man for Illinois and Indiana.

Should Aid All Around.

The new program, he said, not only should improve the soil but also should protect the interests of consumers and help to preserve the economic gains which farmers have made during the last four years.

Attending the meeting were members of the state agricultural conservation committee which will be in charge of the administration of the program, district supervisors, field men, and representatives of the extension service of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

One complicating feature in placing the new program in operation in this territory is the fact that the supply of seed of such soil conserving crops as alfalfa and clovers is abnormally low. Normally the corn belt seeds about 30 million acres of soil conserving crops annually and, in addition, this year it had been hoped to increase this by 15 million acres through the new program. However, the present supply of clover and alfalfa seed is sufficient to seed only about 31 million acres.

Money Not Yet Voted.

The program will be carried out under the 1936 soil conservation and domestic allotment act, but the 500 million dollars the act authorizes for carrying out the purposes of the program has not been appropriated by congress, it was pointed out by Washington officials.

Following the two-day state meeting, which will be concluded here Tuesday evening, district meetings will be held at seventeen points in the state as the next step in getting the plan before all Illinois farmers. Dates and places for these are: Dec. 21—Carrollton, Monmouth, Murphysboro, Olney, Peoria, and Polo; Dec. 22—Cambridge, Champaign, Geneva, Mt. Vernon, Springfield, and Vandalia, and Dec. 23—Belleville, Camp Point, Charleston, Harrisburg, and Pontiac.

SATURN'S RINGS GET NEARER AND NEARER TO A STRAIGHT LINE

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Persons astronomically inclined were urged today by Dr. Ethelwynn R. Beckwith, professor of mathematics and astronomy at Milwaukee-Downer college, Milwaukee, to turn their glasses on the planet Saturn.

"Saturn is putting on a show that will not be seen again for another fifteen years," she said. "What is happening now is that Saturn's concentric rings are getting closer and closer to an edgewise position. They have been doing so since June. No longer do they have the appearance of an encircling ellipse [in which much of their surface may be seen], but rather that of a straight line through the center of the planet. The exact edge will face the earth on Feb. 20, 1937."

Saturn may be seen, not long after sunset, in the southwestern sky in the constellation Aquarius. It can be recognized by its steady, ruddy glow as contrasted with stars which seem to twinkle.

Bandits Break Victim's Arm in $3.80 Robbery

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—So anxious were three men to rob Cecil Fitch, 38, of $3.80 that they broke his right arm, according to the story he told today at St. Joseph's hospital here, where he was taken for treatment.

IF YOU COULD SEARCH THE ENGLISH BOOKSHOPS—for your Christmas gifts . . .

If you could browse in the dim old Charing Cross bookshops or in the student-haunted ones clustered around the great English universities, you'd come upon treasure—modest or lavish. Something so unusual, so individual and distinctive that it would instantly strike you as the very gift for a most fastidious friend.

Field's has done your rummaging for you! Just as you'd do it yourself, with a leap of the heart at a good find. We know all the happy hunting grounds. We've been honored customers for many years in some of them, anonymous browsers in others. Our buyers have made cellar-to-garret searches, climbed twisting stairs, blown royal dust off ducal morocco.

In our Old Book Section you'll find a collection of marvels. Books on almost every subject imaginable, for practically every hobby. Some have color plates made by lost processes—rich and glowing. Some have engravings you'll pore over. Some have bindings—of morocco, levant, calf, tree calf and niger—exquisite with hand tooling by the finest English binders.

There are illustrated 19th Century volumes, limited editions, first editions and little modern press books—often of some newly discovered story of a favorite author, often of some enduring fragment of English prose or poetry. You'll find the unusual, the curious—to enchant some friend you have in mind.

And though you may pay a vast sum you may also pay a very small one. And we mean really small. You'll be amazed at what $5 will do! Yet you'll have a gift—we have only one of a kind, remember—that shows thought and discrimination as nothing else could.

Yes, this east end of Field's Book Section is a unique and wonderful place at any season. And at Christmas—an oasis. In the pleasant hurly-burly of Holiday shopping we pause in quiet to show you our treasures and to discuss with you their adaptability to your needs.

KRESGE TO START REMODELING UNIT ON SOUTH SIDE

$175,000 to Be Spent on Englewood Store.

BY AL CHASE.

One of the largest modernization programs announced from an outlying business section in recent years is to start Jan. 4 when the S. S. Kresge company will remodel and enlarge its two Englewood stores at the southwest corner of Halsted and 63d streets. According to R. E. Ramsdell, supervising engineer for the Kresge company, approximately $175,000 will be spent in rebuilding and air conditioning the first floor and basement.

The general contract recently awarded the B-W Construction company, calls for completion in time for the Easter trade. It will include an entirely new store front of stainless steel along both Halsted and 63d streets with a large, new curving entrance at the corner, surmounted by an illuminated clock.

Take Additional Space.

At present the Kresge company has a "five and ten cent" store at the Halsted-63d corner. It operates a "25 cent to $1" store to the south but separated from the "dime" unit by a 40x153 store operated by the Miller-Wohl company. The Miller Wohl lease expires Jan. 1 and the Kresge company will take over the space it now occupies. It will be remodeled as a tea room and used to extend the floor space of the "five and ten" unit.

Two large arches will be cut through the wall now separating the Miller-Wohl store from the "25 cent to $1" unit and the combined Kresge stores will occupy a floor area fronting 153 feet on Halsted and 117 feet on 63d street. The upper floors of the three story buildings on the site are now used for offices and by the Kresge company for storage.

The Kresge company also has let a contract with the B-W Construction company for enlarging its store at 2774 Milwauke avenue. Adjoining space formerly used by the Friend department store will be remodeled and used by Kresge.

Mystery Surrounds Rumor.

Rumor of a 41 story $10,000,000 skyscraper, containing a 3,200 seat moving picture theater, to be erected at 17-29 West Randolph street, which originated on New York's Rialto yesterday had not yet reached the owners of the properties in question.

Miss Mary Kranz, head of the John Kranz confectionery concern, owner of the 40 by 180 foot parcel at 17-19 West Randolph street, said she had never been approached in regard to changing the improvements on the property now used by her company. Officials of the John R. Thompson company, owner of the building adjoining the Kranz property on the west, said they knew nothing of any theater project. The Thompson parcel is 60 by 180 feet. The two parcels form a site 100 by 180 feet, just east of the United Artists theater.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN HOME.

Mrs. Josephine Bialkowski, 60 years old, 1026 Fry street, was found dead in her home yesterday, apparently the victim of heart disease and exposure.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—As mysteriously and suddenly as she was found by police shortly before dawn, Elinor Fair, one time movie star, disappeared tonight from Hollywood police receiving hospital.

The officers found her incoherent and violently ill and Police Surgeon E. E. Terrill diagnosed her ailment as an acute nervous condition. Failure of the former beauty to regain her film position preyed on her mind and accounted for her condition, he said.

When doctors and nurses were out of her room, however, the sad eyed actress departed without permission. Hours later she had not been re-located.

Officials of the motion picture relief fund said Miss Fair has been receiving aid since last September. At that time, while ill, she faced eviction from her apartment but intervention of her two ex-husbands, Bill Boyd of the films and Thomas Daniels, avaitor, relieved her financial distress.

YOUNG PAROLEE HELD TO JURY.

Douglas Jones, alias Bouse, 20 years old, 8747 Wabash avenue, who is on parole from the St. Charles reformatory was held to the grand jury in $5,000 bond on each of four charges of burglary by Judge Stephen Adamowski in the Boys' court yesterday.

15th Lawyer Fails in Move to Free Mrs. Tegtmeyer

Mrs. Daisy C. Tegtmeyer failed yesterday in another of her numerous attempts to gain freedom from the county jail where she has been held since Jan. 5, 1934, on a charge of contempt of court for refusing to account for $30,000 in an estate case. Judge Cornelius J. Harrington in the Circuit court dismissed a motion to quash the original mittimus on the ground that it was faulty. Mrs. Tegtmeyer's attorney, Francis Callahan, the fifteenth lawyer who has represented her in the case, which has been before eight judges, announced his withdrawal immediately after yesterday's dismissal.

CONSIDER PLANS TO PUT 'L' BACK ON PAYING BASIS

Decline in Revenues and Trafic Shown.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

How the elevated lines can be put on a profitable basis is one of the important questions that will be discussed in the conferences on Chicago's transportation problems. These meetings are to begin today in the city hall between representatives of the surface lines and a subcommittee of the city council's local transportation committee.

The chief goal of the conferences is the drafting of a new franchise for the surface lines, but this franchise is expected to provide the basis for immediate or future unification of all local transportation facilities in the city. Therefore the financial position of the elevated system becomes an important factor in the situation.

Unprofitable for Five Years.

The elevated lines have been operating unprofitably for the last five years, reaching the lowest point in 1935. Last year the lines failed to receive sufficient revenues to cover operating expenses, taxes, rentals, and depreciation.

Trafic on the elevated declined rapidly between 1926 and 1933. In 1934 and 1935 there was a slight pickup.

Some way of increasing trafic must be found if the lines are to be preserved, transportation experts said yesterday. Most of them agreed that if the elevated and surface lines were consolidated and a broad program of rehabilitation and reconstruction of the elevated facilities was undertaken, the combined operation, under satisfactory franchise arrangements, would be a paying proposition.

New Lines Are Suggested.

While a unification would be the ideal arrangement, the experts said, there is no assurance that such consolidation could be effected or the necessary new capital raised to finance improvements immediately. According to some engineers it would be advantageous to discontinue one or more of the elevated lines now operated, construct new lines and extensions and improve the present structure in several places.

Elevated officials asserted that their system could be operated profitably if the company were allowed to install a system of feeder buses.

Such a program was proposed by the company two years ago when it gained authority from the city council to operate buses on streets in the north and northwest sections to connect with certain stations on its lines.

The company subsequently asked the Illinois commerce commission for authority to establish nine interconnecting bus routes covering about 50 miles.

No final decision on the feeder bus program has been made. It is a controversial matter between the commerce commission and the city council, now revolving around the question as to whether the surface lines or the elevated should operate buses in Foster and Kimball avenues.

Shows Down Trend in Traffic.

A study of trafic and financial statistics of the elevated shows that the down trend in trafic started ten years ago. The following table shows the number of revenue passengers carried and the total revenues in each of the last ten years:

Year.	Revenue passengers.	Total revenues.
1927	226,212,172	20,011,912
1928	207,864,238	19,995,276
1929	196,774,395	21,106,491
1930	182,954,846	19,624,045
1931	152,414,248	16,508,068
1932	126,989,541	13,432,304
1933	124,855,354	12,921,394
1934	127,276,803	13,016,061
1935	127,459,188	12,768,708

The 1935 passenger figure does not include 3,961,400 riders carried under the joint transfer arrangement between the surface lines and the elevated between Sept. 22 and Dec. 31, 1935. With these transfer riders, the passenger total for the year was 131,420,588.

Following is the earnings record of the elevated for the same period:

1926	$3,583,478	$1,117,632
1927	3,313,304	816,096
1928	3,160,185	642,314
1929	3,667,162	1,069,479
1930	2,802,920	207,863
1931	1,082,151	*1,530,131
1932	118,233	*2,540,929
1933	581,399	*2,114,452
1934	69,405	*2,520,919
1935	*320,204	*2,910,528

*Deficit.

No deductions were made for depreciation from 1930 to 1933. If such reserves had been set aside in those years the showing would have been poorer.

According to elevated lines officials, the two major factors in the loss of business in recent years were the depression and the deterioration in areas adjacent to the elevated lines.

As business more nearly approaches normal proportions they expect to regain some of the lost trafic but they say that the effect of the deterioration of some neighborhoods adjacent to the elevated can be offset only by making the system available to more people.

Col. A. A. Sprague, one of the receivers of the elevated, asserted yesterday that the lines could operate profitably "if they are permitted to operate without existing restrictions as to whom they may serve."

"The company," he said, "is in no different position from any other business. Its service must go where the customers want to be served.

"If the company is permitted to enlarge its field of sales, through interconnection of its branches and extensions of its service to more people, as it has consistently requested, it can be made to pay, and the people of Chicago will at the same time be greatly benefited."

TAVERN SLAYING HELD JUSTIFIABLE BY INQUEST JURY

A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday after it investigated the fatal shooting of Nathan Krockover, 34 years old, 1938 Jackson boulevard, a minor police character, in the tavern of Jacob Brasler at 3516 5th avenue early Friday. Policeman Samuel Pollock of the Austin station, who has since been suspended, reported that he shot Krockover when the latter entered the tavern firing a pistol.

Supervising Captain John Stege, after the jury's verdict, declared that charges will be filed with the city civil service commission against Pollock for neglect of duty.

ALDERMAN TAKES A MATTER INTO HIS OWN HANDS

For two months Ald. Thomas Airth of the Sixth ward, Evanston, has been annoyed by a house to house canvasser selling stationery in his name. Last night a North Evanston housewife telephoned Airth.

"You may be pretty good as an alderman, but your salesmen are too fresh," she complained.

Airth raced in his automobile to the neighborhood and came upon James Kane, 26 years old, carrying a box of envelopes and writing paper. Airth pounced upon him, and Kane fought back. The alderman finally won, shoved Kane into his car and drove him to the police station.

Kane, who said he lived at 446 North La Salle street, Chicago, was charged with selling without a license.

ARRAIGN EDITOR FOR ROOSEVELT LIBEL CHARGES

San José, Cal., Dec. 14.—(AP)—P. Milton Smith, Mountain View editor, was arraigned today on a charge of criminal libel for an editorial attack on President Roosevelt. His preliminary hearing was set for Jan. 13.

The complaint was sworn to by Horace Beales, electrician, on behalf of the Mountain View Patriotic league.

There was no mention of the charge being dismissed, as announced by United States Attorney H. H. McPike at San Francisco Saturday.

HIS "FUNERAL" 84 YEARS AGO; DIES AT AGE OF 100

James Stewart Boyd, who was 100 years old last July 22, died last night in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Skinner, in Zarley road, two miles southwest of Joliet. He was a retired farm implement dealer.

Mr. Boyd was born in Ireland and came to the United States in 1852 on a sailing vessel. The Atlantic was unusually stormy at that time and the trip required fifty-six days. As a result it was believed the vessel had gone down. When Boyd landed in New York public funeral services were being held for him and the other "victims."

Mr. Boyd has lived in the Joliet region more than seventy years. Surviving him are ten children, nineteen grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren. The funeral will be held probably Thursday.

RECAPTURE ESCAPED LUNATIC.

Clarence Hayes, 37 years old, who escaped Sunday from the hospital for the insane at Elgin, was captured last night by Sergt. David Coughlin's squad at Fulton street and Ashland avenue.

REOPEN INQUEST TODAY ON ELEVEN L WRECK DEATHS

The inquest into the deaths of eleven persons killed on Nov. 24 when a North Shore line electric train demolished the wooden rear car of an elevated express at the Granville avenue station will be resumed at the county morgue at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The inquest was opened the day after the accident when the death toll was ten and was continued to await the outcome of the injuries of fifty-eight other victims of the wreck.

On Dec. 6 the eleventh victim, Harry Walborne, 45 years old, 6652 North Clark street, died at the Edgewater hospital. Since then most of the others injured have recovered and several of them will be on hand to testify at the inquest today, which will be conducted by Deputy Coroner James J. Whalen.

The chief witness will be Van R. Grooms, motorman of the North Shore train, who was the only person injured on his train. He has been recovering at St. Francis hospital in Evanston and is expected to return there for further recuperation after his testimony.

The tragic accident occurred during the evening rush hour when the all-steel North Shore train crashed into the elevated express which was standing at a switch just north of the Granville station.

Grooms was blamed for the accident in testimony at the first session of the inquest that he should have seen the switch signal and the standing train on the straight track ahead of him in plenty of time to stop. Grooms has asserted that he did apply the brakes and reversed his power in an emergency effort to stop, but the wheels of his train skidded.

Other witnesses who will testify today include George Correll, motorman of the elevated train, and other members of the crews of both trains.

THREATEN STRIKE AT MORTON HIGH OVER DISMISSALS

William McFetridge, president of the Suburban School and Municipal Employés union, local 39, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, threatened last night to call a strike of 40 maintenance employés at the J. Sterling Morton High school in Cicero, unless three dismissed employés are reinstated. They were dismissed on Nov. 24 by Dr. L. M. Hrudka, school superintendent.

The school board at a meeting last night promised to name a representative to deal with McFetridge's union. The school has more than 7,000 pupils.

PAROLED RAPIST HELD ON CHARGE OF GIRL, AGED 10

Ben Kapustka, 29 years old, 4856 Elizabeth street, a paroled convict, was arrested by New City police last night on complaint of a 10 year old girl, who said he tried to entice her into a gangway. Police said that Kapustka was sentenced to Joliet prison in 1932 for rape, and was paroled in 1934.

EIGHTEENTH SAFE LOOTED.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Police here today were investigating the eighteenth safe robbery this year in South Bend after it was found $400 had been obtained by knocking off the combination of a safe at the Davies laundry.

'Mad Holiday' Wastes Cast on Poor Story

"Our Relations" Comedy Is Funny in Spots.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"MAD HOLIDAY."

KIND: Comedy melodrama with satire intent.

FUNNY? No.

ACTING: Excellent players are completely wasted on asinine vehicle.

DIRECTION: Confusing.

STORY: A screen star, best known for his prowess as a detective, expert in solving cinema mysteries, becomes fed up with his playacting and starts on a vacation. Finds himself in a real life mess that outmesses any screen mixups in which he has been entangled.

DIALOG: Uninspired.

SOUND, STAGING, PHOTOGRAPHY, ETC.: Good.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: None that I could discover.

"OUR RELATIONS."

KIND: Laurel and Hardy comedy.
FUNNY: In spots.
ACTING: Characteristic.
DIRECTION: So so. Lacks finesse. When the director thought he had an amusing scene he prolonged it to a pitiful last squeak. Witness the episode where the boys rock about in concrete casts.
STORY: Has its points. This trip the stars are twins. Rather, they have twins. They are a couple of unmarried sailors, and they are a pair of henpecked married men. Comedy situations develop through mistakes in identity.
DIALOG: Fat-witted on the whole.
TECHNICAL GETUP: Okey.
AUDIENCE APPEAL: I heard some laughs. Not particularly hearty nor prolonged ones.

See you tomorrow.

Flattering to Growing Girls

JUNIOR GIRL'S PRINCESS FROCK.

This little frock is extremely flattering to the figures of growing girls, because its cut conceals the awkward angles of the immature silhouette. The sleeves are puffed at the shoulders and clever paneling creates a snug fit through the waist and allows graceful fulness below the hips. Ruching embellishes the trim little Peter Pan collar, the cuffs and the patch pockets on the skirt. Buttons do their share for chic, too, lending tailored smartness to the entire length of the dress.

The original of this trim little model is created practically in clan plaid woolen, an excellent choice for everyday wear. The ruching may be of white piqué or of any suitable fabric in a harmonizing shade. Other fabric suggestions are rayon challis prints, dotted percales, woolen crêpe, and rough silk crêpes. For "best," this dress would be pretty in velveteen.

This little frock is beautifully simple to make, since it is cut in one piece from neckline to hem. Your daughter would appreciate having this dress as a Christmas gift, and there still is time to make it, since you can "run it up" in a jiffy. If you have a favorite niece you might give pattern and material to her mother who likes to sew.

Style No. 3180 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2⅜ yards of 39 inch material, with 1⅝ yards of 1 inch plaiting.

Betty Jaynes Is Second Film Singing Prodigy

Deanne Durbin Wins Fame in First Picture.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Betty Jaynes of Chicago will be the second precociously capable girl singer in Hollywood when she brings her 15 year old voice and poise here for her Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contract. Deanne Durbin, who, at 14, possesses an agreement for Metropolitan Grand Opera tryouts in New York, but is waiting for a few more years of experience, is already bracketed close to Jeannette MacDonald in Hollywood's own estimate of motion picture popularity based on singing.

The sunny haired Durbin girl, who has been overwhelmed with pleas for her songs at Christmas festivals, found herself recently immersed in filmfame after the release of her first and current picture, "Three Smart Girls." She is being coached by that shrewd veteran of opera triumphs in this country and Europe, Count Andres de Segurola. The showmanship lessons that Eddie Cantor has been giving her have also added to Miss Durbin's celebrity around Hollywood.

It is an odd circumstance that Metro, whose scouts went all the way to Chicago to sign Betty Jane Schultz, under the name of Betty Jaynes, had had Miss Durbin under contract for six months, but never used her. Deanne was then given a long term contract by Universal, her present employers. Her early voice training was from her father, James Durbin, a singing blacksmith.

Mr. Durbin, who talks with a thick English burr, but sings most pleasantly says:

"I always wanted to sing, myself. But when I was growing up, there was no money for voice training, nor any time except for earning wages to help the family. But I always sang, although my voice remained untrained. When Deanne's older sister, Edith was born, I hoped she would become a great singer, but Edith did not have that voice quality that is so unmistakable. Then Deanne was born and she did have it. I trained her, and encouraged her as well as I could, and then it became financially possible to turn her over to a fine teacher."

Miss Durbin is to sing as guest star with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra next year. She is a coloratura soprano whose appearance of juvenile maturity belies her limited years.

Mary Rogers, the late Will Rogers' actress daughter, probably will open her lucrative film career at Twentieth Century-Fox as the feminine lead [and only woman in the cast] in "The Last Slaver" with Wallace Beery.

Fred Stone will play Santa Claus at a Christmas party for crippled children Friday afternoon at the Milton Berry sanitarium here. The master of ceremonies will be Leo Carillo, with Paula and Dorothy Stone, Anne Shirley, Tom Brown and Johnny Downs in charge of Christmas gifts and specialty entertainment.

June Martel, ex-Chicago girl who sang in night clubs there and in New York, has been cast a top spot in the B. P. Schulberg movie production, "The Love Trap," with Francis Drake, Tom Brown and Ricardo Cortez. Miss Martel is the girl who, after making a prior try at films, and appearing in a Universal picture titled "Frightened Youth," took one look at herself on the screen and left Hollywood.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Prowling around the beauty salons these days we find the hair departments simply buzzing with activity. One medium sized shop reported more than a hundred patrons on the day of one of the large balls. And all the shops report that women are asking for newer and nobbier coiffures these days, paying more attention to hair arrangement than they have for several years past. Those who usually had their hair done twice a month are showing up every week now, demanding that their heads be dressed with taste and skill.

For the pre-Christmas parties there are lots of new coiffure ideas. One smart maid-around-town found a raft of stunning ornaments in the millinery department of her favorite shop. With a suave black velvet frock, cut simply and worn with no ornaments except a string of pearls, she placed a small, glossy blackbird plump in the middle of her pretty blonde head. The picture left all the feminine beholders in a dither of envy.

Another woman we saw at the opera recently—small and black haired—had tiny, artificial pink rosebuds making a band that circled her entire head. She'd also made a bracelet of the same rosebuds for each wrist. The effect, with a powdery blue gown, was so picturesque it stopped the crowds in the foyer.

Hair generally is worn fairly high, but it's in the choice of ornaments that a woman can show her mettle as a possessor of originality and flair. Small jeweled combs are good, of course, and so are flowers. But one can work out any number of arrangements that are original and striking if one is just a little daring.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

For the pre-Christmas parties you must have a smart coiffure. Try your hand at choosing unusual ornaments. Flowers and small, colorful combs are the most popular—but the most striking are apt to be the unusual feather or ribbon arrangements.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

WHEN FOURTH HAND SHOULD PASS.

The player in fourth position, when the other three players have passed, must decide not only whether or not to open the bidding for himself but whether or not he should reopen for his opponents.

The requirements for opening bids as given apply generally to all four positions from first to fourth hand, whether vulnerable or not. Fourth hand should nevertheless pass hands containing the bare minimum requirements in the following cases:

1. When his strength is entirely in the minor suits and he does not hold so much as adequate trump support for either major. In such cases, even though the strength is evenly divided between the two sides, the opponents with their major suits will be able to take the bidding away from the opener with his minor suits.

2. When the opponents have a part-score, fourth hand should not open the bidding with the minimum of two and one-half honor tricks unless he has a strong trump suit of his own which he is prepared to rebid, or unless his hand is strong in intermediates and offers probable support for a suit partner may bid.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 no trump	Double	2 hearts	2 spades
4 hearts	Double [final bid]

Since South's two heart bid was made directly over a take-out double, North should have recognized it as a warning, or weakness bid, and never should have jumped to game. West's free bid of two spades was not to be criticized, despite his almost total lack of honor count. His six card holding in the highest ranking suit and freak distribution waranted his action. He could, in fact, have made a game in spades, but correctly permitted his partner, who had assumed captaincy by virtue of the take-out double, to dictate the destiny of this hand.

West opened the queen of spades, dummy covered, and East won. At the second trick East made the first of two glaring errors: he returned a spade on the theory that South would have to ruff. But South did not ruff. South was delighted at the opportunity to concede the trick, discarding a diamond and, at the same time, establishing dummy's spade ten for a future discard. [East, with the K-J-10 of diamonds over the ace-queen, needed little imagination to foresee that this might take place.]

West had to win with the spade jack. He shifted to a diamond, but dummy's ace was promptly played and South's remaining diamond discarded on the spade ten. The heart finesse now was accomplished, and East's hearts drawn. Declarer next led a club to dummy's queen, and at this point East made the second of his glaring "bulls"—he won with the ace!

A novice should have been able to see that if he won this trick it would be an extremely embarrassing matter to make a return lead. With only diamonds and clubs remaining in the East hand, the diamond king would court a ruff and a club would go back into dummy's tenace. To avoid this, East had only to hold up the club ace and wait for a future round when its acceptance would not be so embarrassing. Declarer then would have been "out of luck." East would have to get two club tricks for the defeat of the contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Partner opened the bidding with one no trump. Next hand passed. I held ♠ K 7 ♥ 9 6 5 ♦ A 10 7 5 3 2 ♣ 8 5. Should I have shown the diamonds or raised the no trump?

Answer: You should have bid three no trump.

Clever Recipes Use Leftover Bread Slices

BY MARY MEADE.

A friendly letter from an 80 year old reader chides us a bit for being unthrifty. In order to prove that we do have a few thrifty ideas we're going to suggest several ways to use up the bread crusts.

A jar of toasted and rolled crums is a pantry shelf convenience of no mean value, a great time saver in preparing scalloped dishes for the oven and meats for the frying pan. The cover should be screwed on loosely so that the crums will not mold.

The presence of a supply of dried out bread in the bread box and odds and ends of vegetables in the refrigerator offers a chance for a cream vegetable soup with croutons, penny saving, filling, and delicious. And, in addition to their use as meat or poultry stuffing ingredients, bread crums may be used in many a bread pudding, such as the following:

Coffee Bread Pudding.

2 cups coarse stale bread crums
1 quart scalded milk
¼ cup ground coffee
½ cup sugar
⅓ cup melted butter
2 slightly beaten eggs
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Soak the crums in the milk, which has been scalded with the coffee and then strained from the grounds. Cool slightly before adding other ingredients. Stir all together lightly and bake in a buttered pan at 325 degrees [slow] for an hour. Serve hot with a vanilla or fruit juice sauce, or with burnt sugar sauce.

BURNT SUGAR SAUCE—Melt one cup of sugar by stirring it in a heavy frying pan. When it has become a smooth, light brown sirup add one cup of boiling water gradually and stir until sirupy. The sugar will harden when the water is added, but will go into solution as it is stirred. More water may be added if a thinner sirup is desired.

Applesauce Bread Pudding.

6 thick slices stale bread, buttered
1 cup applesauce
3 slightly beaten eggs
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 quart milk

Spread the bread thickly with butter and arrange it in two layers in a buttered baking dish, spreading the applesauce between the layers. Add sugar, salt, and milk to the eggs, strain and pour over the bread and applesauce. Allow to stand for thirty minutes before baking at 325 degrees [slow] for an hour, covered for the first half hour. Serve with hard sauce.

Retain Plans to Be Present at Coronation

Many Chicagoans Will Go to London.

BY JUDITH CASS.

LAST week when Edward's abdication was announced, one heard on all sides, "I shan't go over for the coronation if Edward isn't to be crowned." But now most of those who said that in their first disappointment have changed their minds and are going ahead with their plans for being in England at the time of the coronation of King George VI.

And why not? Crowning a king and a queen will be even more exciting, it would seem to me, than crowning a bachelor king, and certainly the festivities and ceremonies will be just as colorful and thrilling whether it is Edward's or George's head upon which the heavy jeweled ceremonial crown is placed.

The James Ward Thornes are planning to sail in April, taking with them the exquisite miniature Georgian library that will be installed in the Victoria and Albert museum in Kensington Gardens. They are not among those who thought even for a moment of not going to London because of Edward's abdication, for they are going primarily to take the little room that was made at the request of Queen Mary, so seeing the coronation is a secondary reason for the trip.

Mrs. Harry M. McIntosh is one of those, we are told, who had planned to attend Edward's coronation and who will not go to see George crowned.

Mrs. Albert T. Evans, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cummings, Mrs. Thomas W. Ritchie, and the Edmond Rafterys are among those, however, who are carrying on with their original plans for being in London by May 12, no matter whether it is Edward or George.

English Union Group May Be Enlarged.

Miss Grace Telling, who will take a group of English Speaking union members to London next spring has found so many who want to go that she is thinking of increasing the size of her group from fifteen to twenty-five. She reports that there does not seem to be any lessening of interest since "the golden glamor of Edward has shown itself to be brass."

Mrs. Ernest R. Graham and her sister and their niece, Miss Anna Fitzu and Miss Edna Kellogg, are going over for the coronation, and Mrs. Townsend McKeever is going with them. The Charles H. Bosworths are going, too, but since both their daughters, Mrs. Trevor Stamp and Mrs. Gordon Padley, live in London, they are going as much for a visit with them and their families as for the May 12 ceremony.

This is true also of Mrs. Ralph James and Mrs. Otho Ball, for the former has a son and two daughters living in England, and Mrs. Ball has a daughter, Mrs. Gerald Wellesley. Mrs. James' son is Charles James and her daughters are Mrs. Gordon Stannus and Mrs. Charles C. Smith.

Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick defintly has decided not to go over for the coronation—not because of Edward's abdication, however—but because she prefers to visit her many brothers and sisters in England in July or August rather than in May. Her son, Leander J. McCormick, who has been visiting her for the last several days, is leaving today for New York to sail very soon for England. His home now is in Kitzbuhel, Austria, but he is going to visit in England before returning to the continent.

Casino Will Hold Christmas Party.

Members of The Casino, their children and grandchildren are to be entertained by the governors of the club at a Christmas party next Sunday afternoon, to which the price of admission will be a toy. The toys will be put under the club's mammoth Christmas tree and later distributed to the children in the care of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society.

The hosts and hostesses are planning a program of entertainment that will appeal especially to the younger guests, and the refreshments, too, will include goodies that are certain to appeal to younger palates.

Farmer Ready for 32d Year as Santa Claus

Ask any of the 2,000 school children in Clinton county. They can prove it.

Also—he's tall, 6 feet 9 inches, has a special mirror so he can tie his tie without stooping, sleeps in a bed a foot longer than the standard size.

He believes even the poorest, shivering little girl would rather have a doll to cuddle than a sweater to warm herself.

Mr. Shaver, who owns 1,800 acres of farm land, has given away $40,000 worth of toys in the last 31 years. Using a farm wagon he arrives at the schoolhouse and puts a "sample" of each present against the wall. Each child picks what he wants—and gets it, from the wagon outside.

"One Christmas, as I distributed my gifts, it was very cold," Farmer Shaver said.

"In a country schoolhouse was a little girl who had no covering for her hands and that morning, coming to school on a road exposed to the wintry blast, her fingers were badly frostbitten. I had mittens and gloves, but do you think that girl took a pair? No, sir. She selected from the pile of gifts a doll and hugged it to her and she went back to the seat."

So Shaver quit giving anything but toys.

He is proud that his gifts "cost me at wholesale an average of $2 apiece." In years past he has visited all 63 county schools on Christmas. He's sorry he will be able to visit only six this year, but expects confidently a pickup in the cattle business to send him around to all 63 again next year.

Why does he do it?

"Well, I have never had children of my own," he explained. "As I prospered in life, I saw that it would be foolish for me to hoard up more than I needed or to waste it in useless extravagances. I spent a good deal of time planning how to make money, but I also made up my mind that a man ought to spend as much serious thought on how to use his money as on how to make it. I have a 'share-your-wealth' philosophy of life."

Becomes Bride

Mrs. Philip Angel was Miss Frances H. Levy until yesterday, when she was married to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Angel of Huntington, W. Va., at the Drake hotel. She is the daughter of Mrs. Emile Levy and the granddaughter of Mrs. Hannah G. Solomon of Chicago. She is a graduate of the Francis Parker school and has been attending the University of Chicago. Her husband, who was born in Inverness, Scotland, is a graduate of the University of West Virginia and has served as assistant United States district attorney in that state.

Yacht Models Among Shows Worth Seeing

Water Colors by Yovan on Exhibition.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There is a fascinating group of exhibits in the Roullier galleries, Fine Arts building. Chief among them are the ravishing scale models of yachts by Edward Brewster, carved in wood and finished with exquisite exactitude. They rank with the most interesting of miniature cratfs.

Anyone with a taste for open water, a spanking breeze, a stout keel, and white sails like spread wings will glory in this show. The beauty of the sailing boat was never better illustrated.

Water colors by Yovan hang in the same room. These are full of atmosphere and color. The youthful painter has come to a very pretty compromise between the techniques of Segonzac and Winslow Homer and his paintings are stunning.

Near these hang several most amusing compositions by Halicka [Mme. Marcoussis in private life, the wife of the painter]. Halicka believes firmly in the use of oddments in making a picture. You are liable to find anything in her work, including a bit of cheese from a mouse trap or the heel of a slipper. There are shells, beads, rags, woven hair, paper, and a dozen other objects readily discernible, the composition being built up against a painted backdrop.

In the larger gallery hang the modern paintings of John Pratt, and they are none too good. A tired feeling pervades his flower still lifes and the polyglot jargon he uses for technique is more than a ltitle monotonous. One feels one has seen this all before. His redeeming grace is a good sense of color. The most satisfactory picture in the show is an arrangement with bananas, lemons, and pears. Next in vitality come a bewildered bird and a spouting whale.

The water colors and drawings by Kenneth Shopen in the Paul Theobald gallery, Monroe building, are well handled. They have vivacity and sparkle. Mr. Shopen is a young man, and this is his first exhibit. He teaches art to the boys of the Chicago Latin school. His exhibition is full of promise.

The paintings by Margaret Selleck, on view in the Allerton gallery, leave one cold. The most interesting is "Shrarecroppers Cabin." Mrs. Selleck is trying to do for Wisconsin in water color what Lane K. Newberry has done for Illinois in oil. This example of her progress is not particularly thrilling. She has a long way to go before becoming a persuasive interpreter of the beauties of that state or its places of historic import.

The Christmas show at the Drake hotel, under the auspices of the All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts, would be nothing were it not for the brilliant water colors of Nina K. Griffin. Her work carries. The other painters seem to have contributed only second bests.

When Serkin Lets Go He's Great Pianist

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A young Russian who resembles Aldous Huxley and who plays sometimes like a great pianist, sometimes like a lamentably minor one, drew a large audience to Orchestra hall last night. He is serious, scholarly Rudolf Serkin and this, his first full length recital here, was sponsored by the Chicago section of the National Council of Jewish Women.

When Mr. Serkin really lets himself go, as in the final movement of the Beethoven "Apassionata" sonata, his playing achieves that difficult and much to be desired combination of great sweep with solidity and beauty of texture. His technical resource is enormous.

Others of his best qualities were demonstrated in the same sonata's middle movement. The man's chords sing enchantingly because he has mastered the feat of giving their upper tone considerable prominence without sacrificing precision of attack. In other words all the notes of a chord are struck exactly together, yet the top one, the melody note, dominates the chord and preserves the eloquent line of the music.

Justification for the charge that Mr. Serkin does not always maintain the highest professional standards could be found in such widely separated places as the Bach English suite which opened the program and the Chopin Polonaise which closed it [or which closed the scheduled part of it, at least].

His Bach lacked the simplicity and sweetness which one must work so zealously to preserve when this remote and delicate music is transferred to a comparatively rough instrument like the piano. Not that a man should try to make a piano sound like a harpsichord, which is impossible in any case, but it is entirely fitting that the spirit, if not the actual tone of the ancient instrument should be transferred over to the modern one.

In striving for too much definiteness and emphasis Mr. Serkin did some violence to the fragile 18th century loveliness of the music.

The Chopin Polonaise, the epic one in A-flat, seemed to have too many accents. Such a conception of the work compromises the long breathed nobility of its phrases.

Mr. Serkin's other Chicago appearance was with the symphony orchestra at one of the Tuesday concerts last season.

Music Publishers Give Hot Numbers to Menard Prison

New York, Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Some forty pounds of orchestrations, mostly of modern dance melodies, were en route to the Illinois state penitentiary at Menard today, the gift of the American Society of Composers and Authors to the prison band. The music was sent in response to a plea by Donald B. Scott, otherwise number 11766, who said the prison orchestra was well equipped with instruments and talent but lacked printed music to play.

Scott's letter described himself as a professional musician in civil life.

After prison officials verified the convict's letter the plea was circulated among music publishers, and the forty pounds of hot "swing" and kindred types of music were forthcoming.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

A CHICAGO woman tells a story about the little Princess Elizabeth that illustrates how the heir apparent to the British throne is being reared and the graciousness of her royal grandmother. One morning when visiting the queen mother, she was greeted in a corridor of the palace by one of the secretaries with a "good morning, little lady."

Discipline—Children—A. A. Milne—Wisecrack.

"I'm not little lady, I'm a royal princess," retorted the child.

Word of her reply reached Queen Mary's ears, and the following morning she took Elizabeth by the hand and led her to the secretary's office.

"Good morning, Sir Blank," she said. "I'd like to present my little granddaughter. She's now a royal princess, but she hopes some day to be a little lady."

* *

CHILDREN apparently have been as interested in the British situation as their elders, and in a number of the city's schools arrangements were made for the students to hear the king's radio farewell to his empire. In Miss Harris's private school, the radio talk and the whole situation were neatly tied in with an English lesson. In an earlier day, would the matter have been handled so sensibly one wonders. There possibly would have been a hint of scandal about the whole thing and children would have been told they were too young to understand. The young also have decided opinions about the matter, too. When one mother met her 10 year old child after her dancing lesson the day of the abdication she told her the news.

"O, mummy, I'm so sorry," the child replied, and she added, "Mrs. Simpson doesn't really love the king."

"Why do you say that?" her mother inquired.

"Because if she did she wouldn't let him disappoint all those other people who love him," the little girl answered.

* *

ANOTHER child, tremendously interested in the Windsor-Warfield romance came out of a protracted spell of silence to inquire whether the king had ever met Ginger Rogers.

* *

A LITTLE boy named Tom Mulroy was reading Milne's "When We Were Very Young," aloud and when he came to the verse "They're changing guard at Buckingham palace, Christopher Robin went down with Alice," he called in to his grandmother, "This ought to read 'They're changing kings at Buckingham palace, Edward the VIII. walked out to Wallis."

Perhaps Alice put ideas in Edward's head or at least expressed his own when she says "They've great big parties inside the grounds, I wouldn't be king for a hundred pounds."

And the end of the Milne poem expresses perhaps, what the majority feel "We looked for the king, but he never came, well, God take care of him all the same," says Alice.

* *

This Is Season for Seekers of Novelty in Hats

Angora-Jersey and Pillbox Turbans Are Favorites.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Last minute headlines for the practically insatiable hat collectors: Tiny skull cap hats of fabric or velvet, to wear far back on the head, in bright colors and street shades to contrast or harmonize with suit or fur coat. They are ideal items for large fur collared coats for they perch comfortably and decoratively inches away from the collar.

New and smart are the Angora-jersey turbans. Swathed cleverly to fit the head they are most comfortable to wear. They're warm and come in all imaginable colors. White is featured in high models and the fitted styles, pearl gray, black, all high shades of red, blue, green and one striking mixture of at least seven different colors, should please any one out for an unusual hat for mid-season wear. They are for midwinter clothes and for fur coats and have surprisingly modest price marks.

Other tricky tops are the pill box turbans in felt and silk or fabric, with what is called a schoolgirl bow at the back. This crisp bow is attached to the headband and looks for all the world like the old ribbon bow of school days. These bow hats are not to be judged too infantile till seen, for they're tremendously interesting variations of the right kind of a small hat for all the off the face coiffures of the fashion.

For the weary shopper, weary of too many revealing small hats that never flatter or provide an alluring shadow over the eyeline the newest excitement of the week! It is wide brimmed, very shallow crowned, black felt hats, but in black felt only! They are swanky beyond the telling, have a ribbon band that hangs at the side, and do everything flattering for your eyes, headline, and face. No less an authority than Lily Dache sponsors these broad brims in black felt for midwinter wear for afternoon clothes.

The Man on the Blue

[Copyright: 1936: By Luke Short.]

By Luke Short

SYNOPSIS.

Shamrock Ireland, wanted for shooting a town marshal in self-defense over a card game, reaches Arizona on his blue, and saves the life of Sherif Lobell, who is about to be shot by a girl, Nancy Hyatt. The Hyatts—Nancy and her brother, Mayo—have lost their ranch, the Double Diamond, to the bank. Mayo has threatened to kill any man who serves him with a dispossess. Because Shamrock believes it was Mayo who betrayed the man who brought him up, he accepts the dangerous task of serving the papers. He confronts Mayo at his ranch and learns he has misjudged him, but Nancy scorns him. She tried to shoot Lobell to save her brother, paroled on good behavior, from killing him. Shamrock bullies Lobell into appointing him deputy sherif. He suspects Lobell intends to kill him "by accident" and cleverly outwits him, causing Lobell to shoot one of his own men. Maginnis, a stable boy, is wanted, according to Lobell, across the border as a killer. Shamrock senses that Lobell, for some reason of his own, plans to have the lad shot while "attempting to escape" on the trip across the border. He steals the jail keys so that the boy cannot be taken out while he's away at the Hyatt ranch with Lobell. Lobell sends Shamrock in to face Hyatt. Shamrock convinces the Hyatts he is with them, and persuades Mayo to leave the ranch till they can investigate. He tells Lobell that Hyatt has left and the ranch will be given up peacefully as soon as the hands are paid. Shamrock overtakes the posse riding out with Maginnis and rescues him.

INSTALMENT XXVI.

A YOUTH'S TRAGIC STORY.

"Might's well start from the beginnin'," Shamrock said presently. "Even to the name."

"It's Lee," Maginnis began. "Same as my old man. He died in this country, not far from here, when I wasn't more than fourteen or so."

"In Malpais Springs?"

Maginnis nodded and said tonelessly: "Not in town exactly. Just on the edge. He died swingin' from that big cottonwood just across the bridge."

"No," Shamrock said softly.

"Mayo's father?"

"Yes." He looked at Shamrock. "But he never done it though. I know dad. I'd seen him when he was murderin' mad, and I know. Nothin' in the world would've made him kill a man—except some one he caught beatin' a horse or cheatin' at cards, maybe."

"Go on," Shamrock said, cursing himself because he had not thought to question Hyatt when he mentioned his father's death.

Maginnis thought a minute. "Dad was prospectin'—always had. He wanted me raised with a family and women folks, so he put me with an aunt down in Tucson. He wrote reg'lar. He kinda' liked me, and I reckon I was that way about him. We'd made big plans for as soon as I was growed up. Then one day word come to my aunt that dad had killed a rancher named Hyatt up in this country, and that he'd been lynched for it—took out of jail and strung up."

"Lobell's jail?"

"His jail." Maginnis said grimly.

He went on: "That was about a year after it happened that the news came. They tried to keep me there is Tucson, but I run away. I kept workin' up to this country sometimes swampin' long enough for stage fare to the next town, sometimes workin' in stables. Everyone I talked to, I asked about this lynchin'—and about Lobell. By the time I hit here a couple of months ago, I knew enough to know that if I wanted to stay in town, I'd better change my name. I did—to McKinley." He smiled at Shamrock. "You know I never thought I'd told you I was Maginnis till after you'd gone, then I thought you'd never think about it.

"I'm sorry I ever did," Shamrock said. "Go on."

"I got one letter from dad before he died, mailed less than a week before the lynchin'." He scowled and looked down at his heels. "I memorized it. Here's the way it went: 'Son: I've got holt of somethin' big. If I get the backin' I need and got to have, we'll buy us so many horses you'll be an old man before you've rid 'em all once. More later. Love, Dad.'"

Shamrock whistled softly. "Gold, then."

"Couldn't be anything else, could it?" Maginnis asked gravely, as though questioning an elder.

Shamrock didn't answer. He was thinking of something else, of the elder Hyatt, Nancy's and Mayo's father.

"Your dad never had no trouble with Hyatt?"

"A little. Hyatt and a Double Diamond rider caught dad fillin' his burro kegs at a lake up in the Ritas that sets on Double Diamond land. He ordered dad off and dad went, after tellin' him that he'd never denied a dog water and he never thought he'd live to see the day when a dog would deny him water, but he had."

"Did your dad write that?" Shamrock asked quickly.

"No. I got that from the Double Diamond rider. He's gone now."

"How was Hyatt killed?"

"Beefed. They found the tracks of a burro and a prospector's hand pick with dad's initials burned in it near the body." He looked up at Shamrock. "It was a fresh burn; dad never marked his stuff. Why would he when he traveled by himself?"

"Where was he when Lobell got him?"

"In town. Lobell arrested him and took him to jail. Then the talk started—wrong talk, about how dad had insulted Nancy Hyatt and old man Hyatt ordered him off the place. And—and other things. None of it was true. Then the mob started. Lobell made out like he was fightin' 'em off, but a bunch of 'em got him and tied him up and took dad out across the bridge."

Shamrock looked off into the east, watching the sun magnify and clarify every ridge and gut and break in the land until it looked painted on a flat canvas.

"That ain't all," Maginnis said softly. "I've talked as much as I could—pretendin' dumb, askin' questions—and I reckon I've got a good hunch who started the lynchin' talk."

"I think I know," Shamrock said. "You've never stumbled onto the backer your dad mentioned?"

"Never a trace."

Yet they must be close, Shamrock reflected, for old Maginnis had been staying in Malpais Springs when Lobell arrested him.

"You wrote the claim office if he had anything registered?"

Maginnis nodded. "He had fifty, but none of them were near here—not anywhere near."

That was understandable too, for registry would give away the location of his claim and start a rush. Old Maginnis had been smart enough to try and make a dicker with a rich backer who could form a company. He could name his own price, and then with the capital behind him, could go to the spot and sew it up—all of it, every foot of it. And there, the trail blanked out—blanked by old Maginnis' horse trading sense and his caution.

"Lobell knows," Maginnis said, his voice cold with hate. "He knows who paid him to throw the blame for the Hyatt killin' on dad. If he don't know where dad's claim was, he knows who does know. Damn him!" he said passionately. "All hell won't hold the outlaw I'm goin' to turn into."

"They ain't all like him, Lee," Shamrock said truthfully. "There are good sherifs, and when they're good men don't come better. Don't let a curly wolf like Lobell toll you into the biggest mistake a man can make."

Maginnis studied him silently, then said with a surprising candor: "You're on the owl-hoot, ain't you?"

Shamrock nodded and rose wearily. "That's why I know what I'm talkin' about."

Shamrock smiled a little. "Good. And I'm goin' to send you to a man that can teach you . . . Mayo Hyatt."

TREAT A COLD AS IF YOU MEAN IT!

The so-called "common cold" causes more serious sickness and more enforced absence from work than anything else.

It's a mistake to treat a cold lightly. A cold calls for a cold treatment and not a "cure-all". A cold calls for internal treatment, for a cold is an internal infection.

One of the best things you can take for a cold is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Your own doctor will tell you that.

First of all, Bromo Quinine is a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds.

Secondly it is internal medication and of fourfold effect.

Here's what it does:

First, it opens the bowels, an advisable step in treating a cold.

Second, it checks the infection in the system.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

Play safe in your treatment of a cold! The moment you feel the first symptom, go right to your druggist for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

Start taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. That action will usually break up a cold in 24 hours.

Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. Ask the druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine and insist upon getting what you ask for!

The few pennies' cost may save you a lot in medical bills.

Retain Plans to Be Present at Coronation

Many Chicagoans Will Go to London.

Mrs. John L. Cochran, one of the Casino governors, is president, is preparing enough of its famous gingerbread men so that each child at the reception can have at least one.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Love [Anne Schuttler] are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, their first child, Sunday night at the Passavant hospital. The baby is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schuttler and of the Edwin M. Loves.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Carr and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall G. Sampsell, have cards out for a dinner-dance next Tuesday night at the Arts club for Robert Adams Carr, their son and brother. The party is being given to welcome home young Mr. Carr who has been in South America for the last two and a half years. Mrs. Robert Carr is living with her mother, Mrs. Benton Cowin, in Boston.

Dinner Parties for Subdebutantes.

Mrs. Harold Amberg has sent out invitations to a large group of subdebutantes for a dinner at the Fortnightly on Dec. 23 preceding the Christmas Fortnightly dance. She is entertaining for her young daughter, Frances Amberg. Mrs. James E. Bennett will give a smaller dinner for her daughter, Barbara, that night, also at the Fortnightly. Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Peace will entertain at home for their daughter, Miss Sara, before going on to the dance.

Mrs. Robert B. Gregory will give a dinner on Dec. 21 for her granddaughter, Miss Adelaide Sweetser of Switzerland, daughter of the Arthur Sweetsers. Miss Sweetser will be with her aunt and uncle, the Raymond E. Durhams, over the holidays. After dinner the young guests will hear the Yale Glee club's concert.

Undoubtedly many of the young guests at the cocktail party Miss Virginia Anne Hodges and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Hodges, are giving the afternoon of the twenty-first for Miss Phœbe Massey will go on to the concert. Miss Massey and Miss Hodges are debutantes.

Principals in Ballet to Attend Luncheon.

Chicago balletomanes are excited over the plans for an unique party Saturday, for those who attend it not only will see the matinée of the Ballet Russe in the Auditorium theater, but they will meet the principal dancers at luncheon first in the Auditorium hotel. And after the performance the guests will go backstage.

Prince and Princess Galitzine, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, the Byron Harveys, Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Mrs. Philip Maher, Mrs. Lloyd Laflin, Princess Rostislav, Durand Smith, Thomas S. Tyler, and Col. and Mrs. George Voevodsky are among those planning the affair.

They all will be there, of course, and so will Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, Mrs. A. Ballard Bradley, Mrs. Frank B. Mulford, Mrs. Thomas A. Connors, Mrs. Mitchel Follansbee, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mrs. William A. Nitze, Mrs. Frank R. Fuller, and the Robert J. Thornes, all of whom are regular in their attendance when the ballet is in Chicago.

Irving Deakin of New York will give a brief talk at the luncheon and each guest will be given a copy of his book, "To the Ballet." He was the youngest American on the personal staf of Serge Diaghileff during the days of the old Russian ballet and is well known as a lecturer and writer on the dance. His wife is the daughter of Mrs. Adolph Bolm, who with Mr. Bolm used to live here.

John Gould Ralstons to Entertain Today.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gould Ralston are entertaining between 5 and 7 o'clock today at the Ambassador East at a farewell party for themselves before going to their farm at Dixon, Ill., for the holidays. The Ralstons will take their daughters, Lucile and Joan, and their niece, Ruth Harvey, to the country with them. The girls are students at the Latin School for Girls. Ruth Harvey will be among next winter's debutantes.

Among those who are planning to hear Boake Carter talk tonight after dinner at the Lake Shore Athletic club are the junior Samunel Insulls, Mrs. Jacob Baur, the Chauncey Blairs, the Murray Washburns, the George Woodruffs, and Gen. and Mrs. Frank Parker.

Mr. Carter will speak at a Town Hall meeting at which Orville J. Taylor will preside. Preceding Mr. Carter's lecture last night at Thorne hall, McKinlock campus, Northwestern university, the Mark W. Cresaps entertained at dinner for the news commentator at the Casino.

Archibald Evans and Miss Harriot Hopkinson will be the speakers at a meeting tonight in the Library of International Relations at 86 East Randolph street. Mr. Evans, who studied at Cambridge, will speak on the general work of the international labor office, of which he is a member of the staff. Miss Hopkinson, member of the United States department of labor in Geneva, will speak on the international labor office and the United States.

Swedish Expert Calls Strength Part of Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Is it true that the American woman in her pursuit of physical education cares only for beauty and loveliness, strength being anathema to her conception of perfection?

Mrs. Ingril Holm, director of physical education of the State college, Gothenburg, Sweden, now in this country, believes after visiting many American universities and studying their physical education methods that strength as a desirable characteristic is not sufficiently emphasized among us.

In America the ideal is to be beautiful and lovely, but not necessarily strong. In Sweden the aim in the care and development of women's bodies is not only health and longer life but to build for beauty and strength. In other words, in Sweden strength, loveliness, and beauty are considered together.

In the young Swedish girls and boys a taste for the outdoors is developed early so that it becomes a part of their daily routine, we learn. They hike a great deal. The thing that has been tried here in this country of establishing inexpensive accommodations for hikers with only fair success, meets with enthusiastic encouragement at Swedish hostelries. In the elementary schools in Sweden, hiking trips are planned ahead with the youngsters saving pennies to meet expenses, which the Swedish state sees are reduced to a minimum. Low railroad rates to the student group are granted by the state. A $5 fare would be reduced to the equivalent of 25 cents, we're told. And these youngsters hike, eighteen miles being considered an average day's sprint.

In the summer many schools in Stockholm and other large cities become hostelries. Benches are taken out and Red Cross beds moved in. Cooking facilities are provided. The charge is extremely nominal.

Mothers aren't left behind to nurse their housework blues surrounded by four walls. They are up and on the walks, too, along with the men and the children. Mothers hike, camp, swim and play with their children, with the consequence that women in Sweden not only register strength and beauty but as women they enjoy a unique position in their country.

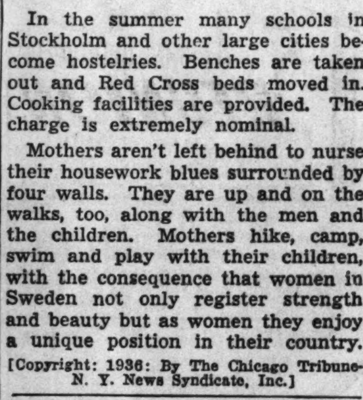
Many Colors Are Used in This Old American Quilt



Joseph's Coat.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Joseph's Coat" is an old early American pattern so called because of its many colors. In Pennsylvania, where it gained much popularity, it frequently was called the "Scrapbag" block, because it was designed to utilize the last remnants of the pieces from other quilts. Either printed or plain materials, or a combination of both, is effective in this pattern. As the "Scrapbag" block it appeared set together in an alternate arrangement with plain blocks. As "Joseph's Coat" the pattern is composed entirely of pieced blocks set together to form an all-over design.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

With practically no choice time left to sell to sponsors, broadcasters are casting about for new ways of increasing their revenues. Some are boosting their rates while others are looking for new and bigger audiences. NBC has been covetously eyeing South and Central America for many months. The current spotlighting of South America in world news has convinced the network that the time to strike for this market is now. Accordingly the chain this week is beginning daily broadcasts to South America through its Boundbrook, N. J., short wave transmitter. By Jan. 1 it will have a new directional beam antenna especially designed to attract attention in South America.

The programs include press comments in Spanish and material especially designed for foreign consumption. After sustaining programs are built up, firms selling in South and Central America will be invited to buy time.

Wayne King's sponsor has a representative in South America, it is reported, exploring the potentialities of tropical markets. King is already making recordings with announcements in Spanish for radio distribution in Cuba.

WLS yesterday announced a rate increase effective immediately. This may or may not increase the station's revenue since it also announced a new policy of setting aside a greater number of periods that are not for sale to advertisers.

"We believe that with more sustaining programs," said Manager Glenn Snyder, "the interest of listeners will be increased and the station made more productive, and of even greater value to its fewer numbers of advertisers."

In adopting such a policy WLS follows a precedent set by W-G-N which long has reserved many of its choice evening hours for its more ambitious musical and dramatic presentations without benefit of commercial sponsorship.

Amelita Galli-Curci's attempt to make a comeback by radio Sunday evening was disappointing. Apparently unsure of herself, she groped and faltered throughout the hour, particularly in the lower passages.

Maj. Bowes, minus his amateurs, is to make a guest appearance on the Sunday Evening Party series over NBC next Saturday. This is the show Walter O'Keefe lately walked out on. Rudy Vallee was guest m. c. last week and now the major makes his first appearance on a sponsored program other than his own.

Berenice Taylor substituted for Ruth Lyon as soloist on the "Headin' South" show Sunday evening. Miss Lyon is ill and may still be missing next Sunday. . . . Sylvia Clark, monogolist, is to open a new program at noon today over WCFL-NBC. As the Optimistress she will do a variety program of songs and character sketches. . . . Hal O'Halloran, WLS announcer, is to be the narrator for a picture in the process of making entitled "The Romance of the Century." Yes, it's the story of Prince Edward and Wally.

Girls Should Learn the Men Love Limelight

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Here's just what we've been telling you girls and women all along! Let the man talk about himself. Let him brag. Let him tell how good he is, if you would be thought the perfect audience and the perfect girl.

Perhaps now you'll take it as it comes from the pen of a doughty man who knows his own sex through and through. In his "Art of Conversation" [Whittlesey House] Milton Wright tells you under a caption, "Pleasing the Other Sex," that the parties to a dialog between the sexes can succeed best when each recognizes the things in which the other is most interested and each adopts a tone, a manner and a form of conversation calculated to increase the other's pleasant emotions.

"A man likes to talk about himself or about his business or his hobbies. He likes to brag. He likes to express his opinions. He likes to tell how good he is. For all of this he needs an audience. To be that audience is the function of the woman. If she is a good audience, the man has a delightful time throughout the conversation, although to the woman the occasion may have been rather boring."

Some women, Mr. Wright grants, like to listen to men. Other do not enjoy it, but suffer it in order to make a good impression.

Women, our authority opines, are constituted similarly. They enjoy the emotion of elation as subscribed to by being permitted to express themselves and being shown appreciation. In fact, it is conceded that because women get this appreciation less than men, they enjoy it more.

Mr. Wright isn't above enlightening his own sex on a few pointers about charming the women. He warns his sex against that common frailty recognized in such expressions as: "What else can you expect from a woman driver?" Don't be that kind of a man, you are warned. Treat the girls as your mental equals, at least. They may be just thinking rings around you in the course of your conversation.

Men are warned not to be so entirely self-possessed for fear of breeding an antagonism which frequently happens where the individual appears cocksure of himself.

DAUGHTER FINDS BODY IN HOME NEAR GAS RANGE

First Westerner to Make Camp's Team.

Clarence B. Herschberger, the celebrated Hershie of University of Chicago football in the late 90's, was found dead in the basement of his home at 3415 West 64th street early last night.

A daughter, Ruth, 18 year old sophomore at Chicago, found the body of the former Maroon full back lying near a gas range. A hose connected with the range lay near by. Apparently he had put one end of the hose in his mouth and inhaled the gas.

Herschberger, the first player west of the Atlantic seaboard to make Walter Camps All-American team, had been ill for a number of years. Following frequent attacks of heart trouble, he suffered a nervous breakdown in June of 1934 and was committed to the Illinois Research hospital for observation.

Despondent Over Health.

Old teammates, with whom he played on the Midway in 1894, 1896, 1897 and 1898, had him removed to a sanitarium in Oconomowoc, Wis. Returning to his home, he attempted to take an active part in his real estate business, but was held back by his health, and finally became despondent.

Mrs. Grace Herschberger, to whom the famous full back was married in 1902 after a campus romance on the Midway, was shopping, and Herschberger, who was 60 years old, was alone in the house at the time of his death.

Another daughter, Harriet, 28, and two sons, Clarence Jr., 32, a former University of Wisconsin varsity swimmer, and Jack, 25, also survive.

Herschberger was one of the legendary figures in midwestern football lore. Although he never weighed more than 158 pounds, he ran and kicked his way to a place among the all time greats of the sport. He was Chicago's only 13 letter man, competing in baseball and track, in addition to football, for four years.

Begins Career Under Stagg.

He began his career under A. A. Stagg in 1894 and quickly distinguished himself as one of the outstanding players in the country. When he returned home to Peoria in the summer of 1895 he found parental consent withdrawn from his football activities. If he could not play football, he would not go to school, he decided.

Consequently he spent the fall of 1895 hunting, but when he accidentally shot himself in the hand his mother told him she would rather have him with the scars from Michigan cleats on his face than with a bullet in his head and told him to prepare to return to Chicago.

He rejoined the Maroons in 1896 and defeated Michigan in the famous Thanksgiving game played in the old Coliseum, located on 63d street near Stony Island, by kicking a rolling ball forty yards for a field goal. Previously he had punted out of bounds on the two yard line, setting the stage for a safety by Hogg, the Michigan punter, who was trapped behind the goal line, giving Chicago a 2 to 0 lead. The final score was 7 to 5.

Forte Was Kicking.

Despite his lack of weight in the days of power house football, Herschberger was an exceptional ball carrier, but his forte was kicking. With Herschberger in the lineup Chicago paid no attention to touchdowns, but concentrated on getting the ball up to the opponents' 35 yard line, from where Herschberger either drop-kicked or place-kicked field goals, equal in value to a touchdown at the time.

His kicking attracted wide attention throughout his career and in 1898 Camp broke precedent by going beyond the Appalachian mountains for a member of his All-American team and selected Herschberger, who had captained the Maroon eleven the year before. Herschberger's selection was hailed as a triumph for midwestern football.

Stagg blamed Herschberger and Capt. Walter Kennedy for the loss of the Western conference championship in 1898, when Herschberger and Kennedy are alleged to have staged a steak marathon at the training table the night before the Wisconsin game. Stagg, who often repeated the story, claimed the two stars attempted to see who could put on the most weight at one sitting. After prolonged gorging, Kennedy had added seven and a quarter pounds and Herschberger seven. Chagrined at his defeat, Herschberger is said to have eaten 13 eggs just before the game the next day to reëstablish his superiority and was promptly stricken with a complication of stomach disorders. Although Stagg insists it was 13 eggs and not eleven Badgers that defeated Chicago, 23 to 8, Ken-

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ONE reason the White Sox couldn't get Pinky Higgins from the Athletics was that the latter's manager, Connie Mack, thought the Chicago club has sufficient strength at that particular spot. . . . "Why do you want a third baseman?" inquired Mack of Jimmy Dykes. . . . "The fellow you got is so good I would take him for Higgins, if he were about four years younger." . . . Dykes blushed a bit, because he knew he was the player his former boss was talking about. . . . Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, while on a scouting trip to Los Angeles last week, told this department that Wisconsin was the toughest conference opponent the Gopher eleven encountered this season. . . . Which should be interesting news at Northwestern. . . . There is a possibility that St. Mary's and Marquette will not be able to play a return engagement at Soldiers' field in 1937. . . . The only date St. Mary's can play is the Saturday after Thanksgiving, which is the day of Chicago's annual charity high school championship game. . . . The California eleven has offered to play in Milwaukee. . . . A decision must be reached within a couple weeks, because University of California at Los Angeles has offered St. Mary's a game for the same date. . . .

Curley Lambeau, coach of the world champion Green Bay Packers, handled the team sixteen years without a contract before he was signed last season at $5,000 a year for three years. . . . George Musso, Bears' tackle, Sunday will marry Miss Pauline Hallford at Decatur, Ill. . . . George Cutshaw, former National league second baseman, operates a thriving gas station in Brawley, Cal., one block from the hotel owned by George Hildebrand, former American league umpire. . . . Cutshaw also owns and lives on a 40 acre grapefruit ranch, five miles from Brawley. . . . Mrs. Charles Bidwill waited seven years to see the Cardinals defeat the Bears, and when they did it two weeks ago she was bedridden with influenza contracted at the Army-Navy game. . . . One of the reasons University of Washington invited Pittsburgh as its Rose Bowl opponent was that Ray Eckman, athletic director, and Jimmy Phelan, head coach, were convinced it would be refreshing to have other than a southern team in the New Year's day classic. . . . Mr. and Mrs. William Veeck of the Cubs office staf are parents of a nine pound boy born Saturday. . . . Mr. Veeck says he will call him William Veeck III. . . .

Primo Carnera is the only heavyweight champion who has successfully defended his title since Max Schmeling knocked out Young Stribling at Cleveland. . . . It's a good thing Don Ameche, newest star at Twentieth Century-Fox, had athletic training at Columbia academy, Dubuque, Ia., because he takes a pretty severe mauling from Frank Moran, old heavyweight fighter, in the rubdown scene of "Love Is News," completed only last week. . . . Ameche was a member of the Columbia academy basketball squad. . . . Phog Allen, basketball coach at the University of Kansas, is experimenting with a light on the basket which flashes when a goal is scored. . . . The Green Bay Lions club is sponsoring a victory banquet for the Packers tomorrow night. . . . Motion pictures of the National league championship game will be shown. . . . Charley Grimm, manager of the Cubs, set a one man trading record at the recent baseball meetings. . . . Including major and minor leaguers he had a hand in altering the courses of twenty-three players. . . . Jess Tinsley told his Chicago Cardinal teammates six years ago he had a cousin who some day would show the world just how end should be played. . . . The cousin is Gay Tinsley, two time

ROSE BOWL SOLD OUT; PITT TEAM OFF TOMORROW

Crowd of 85,000 Assured on New Year's.

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Tournament of Roses football authorities announced today that Washington and Pittsburgh would play before a capacity throng of approximately 85,000 in the annual Rose Bowl game New Year's day.

Enjoying a little snicker at the expense of doubting critics, who predicted a sharp letdown in Rose Bowl prestige when once tied, once beaten Pitt and Washington were named as contestants, officials shut down the ticket windows this morning.

Sold Out in Seven Days.

"The Rose Bowl is definitly sold out for the New Year's day game," Carl Kilgore, manager of athletics of Washington, announced. Overflow requests for tickets, he said, would be returned this week.

The ticket office was open just seven days. Apparently it made no difference that the opposing teams had imperfect records.

The Tournament of Roses committee, obviously anxious early last week over the fate of its annual game, was desirous for Pitt and Washington to proceed directly to Pasadena to train in order to stimulate local ticket sales.

Pitt Trains at Arrowhead Springs.

This won't be necessary, and it's just as well, because Dr. Jock Sutherland had already arranged to keep Pitt at Arrowhead Springs, 30 miles east of here, until just before the day of the game.

PITT LEAVES TOMORROW

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Athletic authorities at the University of Pittsburgh today announced the itinerary for the Panthers' invasion of the west for the Rose Bowl game with Washington New Year's day.

The squad will leave here Wednesday night at 7 o'clock on a special train. The party will have sixty members, including thirty-four football players. It will carry its own supply of water in seventy-five five gallon containers.

One Drill En Route.

The special is due in Chicago at 2 o'clock on Thursday morning and will be switched to the Santa Fe. Short stops will be made on Thursday for calisthenics, but no drills are scheduled until the party reaches Albuquerque, N. M., at 10 o'clock Friday morning. A sightseeing tour is scheduled there before the squad holds its only workout en route on the University of New Mexico field. The trip will be resumed at 5 o'clock, the squad being due in San Bernardino, former training camp of the Pittsburgh Pirates, at noon Saturday.

The squad will establish headquarters at Arrowhead Springs, Cal., about thirty miles from Los Angeles. Workouts will be held at the San Bernardino municipal baseball park.

Duquesne Trains at Home.

Duquesne university, city champion for the second successive year, likewise is making preparations for a foreign invasion, being scheduled to meet Mississippi State in the Orange bowl at Miami New Year's day. The Dukes will train at home until Dec. 27, arriving in the Florida city on Tuesday, Dec. 29.

Matthews, Ex-Big Leaguer, Joins Cardinal System

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals hired a new assistant today for the club's extensive baseball organization. Wid C. Matthews, former major league outfielder with the Philadelphia Athletics [1923] and the Washington Senators [1924], will join the Cardinals Jan. 1, Rickey said.

AND THAT FOR YOU, MR. SIMMS

HOLD NEXT THREE SERVICE GAMES IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 14.—(AP)—The Army-Navy football game will be played in 1937, 1938, and 1939 in the municipal stadium where two weeks ago it was played before 105,000 persons.

A three year contract, with an option of three additional years, was signed today by Mayor S. Davis Wilson and representatives from the West Point and Annapolis academies.

"The Army and Navy were so well pleased with the facilities in Philadelphia," Mayor Wilson said, "that they have executed a six year contract for the rental of the stadium at $10,500 a year. This means they have agreed to play the game here for three years with the option of an additional three years."

The option is contingent on the approval of whoever succeeds Wilson as mayor in the 1939 election.

"The Navy is satisfied that Philadelphia is the best place to play the game," Capt. R. C. Giffen, director of athletics at the naval academy said. "That applies not only to trafic, but to the handling of the crowds and everything."

"There is little that the Army could add to what Capt. Giffen has said," Lieut. Col. J. L. Devers, graduate manager at West Point said.

PENNSYLVANIA, HARVARD PLAN FOOTBALL SERIES

Philadelphia, Dec. 14.—(AP)—After a lapse of eleven years the University of Pennsylvania and Harvard, will renew football relations in 1939, it was announced today. The first of a home and home series will be played that year at Cambridge, Mass., on Oct. 21, H. Jamison Swarts, director of athletics at Pennsylvania, said Harvard will come to Philadelphia Nov. 9, 1940.

The last Penn-Harvard football game was played at Cambridge in 1928 with Penn winning, 7 to 0. It was the second of a home and home series arranged in 1927 after a lapse of twenty-two years.

Warneke Father of Hurling Prospect: 10 Pound Son

Hot Springs, Ark., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Lon Warneke of the St. Louis Cardinals said today that he had a new hurling prospect for the Redbirds but that the youngster probably would need a few years of training. The prospect is a ten pound son.

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—After being hard pressed at half time Indiana university's basketball team swamped Kansas State, 60 to 33, here tonight. Bill Johnson, Jeffersonville sophomore, led the Hoosiers with nine field goals and a free throw.

Indiana was held to a 24 to 22 lead at the intermission and Burns tied the score shortly after the second period tipoff. His teammate, Groves, sent the Jayhawks into the lead a minute later by sinking a long shot. Fred Fechtman, lanky Indiana forward, tipped in a field goal that started the Hoosiers on an eighteen point scoring streak that was not interrupted until Miller scored a free throw for Kansas State.

The Hoosiers scored twenty-nine times from the field out of eighty-eight shots, and the visitors hit fifteen out of seventy shots. Score:

LOYOLA PLAYS TONIGHT

Kansas State meets Loyola on the northside tonight with the Chicago five seeking its third victory. Loyola won its first two games from Arkansas State, 44 to 23, and Beloit, 42 to 30.

Frank Groves, Kansas State, and Mike Novak, centers, are the outstanding players on their respective squads. Groves, a 6 foot 5 inch senior, has been the all-conference center for two years. Last year he was the high scoring center in the Big Six and runnerup for individual championship. He averaged 76 per cent on his free throws last season.

DE PAUL VS. HAMLINE

De Paul university will play Hamline university of St. Paul, Minnesota conference champion for the last five years, tonight at the 132d Regiment armory.

Four former De Paul academy players will be in De Paul's starting lineup tonight. Tony Tracy, reserve last year, will fill in, temporarily at least, for Fred Knez, who was roughed up a bit in the game with Pittsburgh Saturday. Other former academy players are Nick Yost, center; Willie Phillips, forward, and Bill Wendt, guard. The fifth member of the Demons' starting cast will be Ed Campion.

BROWN BOMBER LANDS ONCE AND FIGHT IS OVER

12,000 Disappointed at Brief Bout.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber of Detroit, knocked out Eddie Simms, Cleveland heavyweight, in 28 seconds of the first round of a scheduled ten round bout tonight.

The finishing blow, a left hook to the jaw, was the only one landed by Louis. Although it traveled only a few inches, Simms was catapulted to the canvas and remained there squirming and endeavoring to rise until the count reached eight.

When Referee Arthur Donovan reached the count of eight, Simms, groggy and unable to see Louis advancing, blindly prepared to meet his foe, but the referee threw up his hands and ordered Louis to his corner.

Crowd Is Disappointed.

The crowd of nearly 12,000, which packed Public hall to witness the eleventh annual Cleveland Christmas fund show, was stunned by the sudden ending and booed as Referee Donovan raised Louis' hand to signalize the termination of the fight. The spectators had paid from $5 to $15 to see the Brown Bomber in action and did not take kindly to the brief exhibition.

Receipts were placed at $52,000, Louis receiving 40 per cent.

This was Louis' 27th knockout in the 32 bouts of his professional career. It was also his quickest.

Simms rushed out of his corner and sent a short left that was wild. The Clevelander then connected with a sharp right that landed on the Bomber's chest.

Louis feinted Simms out of position, maneuvered in close and shot a left uppercut to the jaw. Simms blinked and then crashed to the canvas. Twitching and trying to get his muscles to function, Simms got to one knee at the count of six and regained his feet when the count had reached eight. He was out on his feet and turned to face the crowd with both gloves extended. Referee Donovan rushed over and stood in front of the semi-unconscious Clevelander as Louis rambled over to resume the attack.

Substitute for Risko.

From the time the bout got under way until Louis was declared the victor only 28 seconds elapsed. The knockout blow was delivered 18 seconds after the bell rang. Simms was on the floor 8 seconds and 2 more seconds were tolled while he was being shielded by the referee.

Simms, a capable heavyweight who has fought Leroy Haynes and other leading heavyweights, was substituted for Johnny Risko when the veteran rubber man fractured several ribs in a training drill.

Simms fought a four-round exhibition with Maxie Baer when the playboy was ruling the heavyweights and connected with a right that closed Baer's eye. Baer also claims he fractured his hand on Simms' head and blames his loss of the title to Jim Braddock on the exhibition with Simms.

"When Did He Hit Me?"

In his dressing room after the fight, Simms didn't even know that the battle had been started.

"I walked out and circled him," Simms said, "and that's all I remember. He must have hit me but I didn't see the blow coming. I can't imagine where it started from."

Tiger Clark, former national A. A. U. middleweight champion, stopped Dick Miller of Cleveland in 2:23 of the first round. Miller's seconds threw in the towel after Clark had scored two knockdowns and had his opponent groggy.

Harry Thomas of Chicago, handicapped by Jack Trammell's long reach, lost a decision in an eight round bout. The decision was booed by the crowd.

Barry Stops Shelby.

Michael Barry, Chicago heavyweight, scored a technical knockout victory over Ed Shelby, Cleveland, in the third round of a scheduled six-rounder.

Johnny Erjavac, Duluth, heavyweight, knocked out Tony Lamareto, Detroit, in the first of another scheduled six round bout, requiring only 31 seconds to stow away the Detroiter.

In the eight round semi-final Jimmy Vaughn, Cleveland lightweight, cut Ray Sharkey, also of Cleveland, to ribbons to take the decision.

Fight Decisions

At Cleveland, O.—Joe Louis knocked out Eddie Simms [1]; Johnny Erjavac knocked out Tony Lamareto [1]; Michael Barry stopped Ed Shelby [3]; Harold Dettman beat Sam Grippe [4]; Jack Trammell beat Harry Thomas [8]; Tiger Clark stopped Dick Miller [1]; Jimmy Vaughn beat Roy Sharkey [8].

BONURA, LYONS WIN FIELDING CHAMPIONSHIPS

Di Maggio Record Augurs Holdout Siege.

New York, Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Fielding records of the American league announced today laid considerable emphasis on features which figured in the winning of the rookie championship for the year by Joseph Paul Di Maggio Jr., Yankee outfielder. When it is considered that Di Maggio played in only 138 games, and that because of his foot burn he missed the first 17 contests, his total of 22 assists is phenomenal.

Making allowances for those 17 contests, Di Maggio's fielding performance was about as gaudy as the league has seen since Tris Speaker made 35 assists in 1912. Di Maggio had 339 putouts, 369 total chances, and 8 errors. His throw to get Pete Fox of the Tigers at the plate in Yankee stadium was voted the most remarkable throw seen in the major league in some years.

More About Di Mag.

Behind Di Maggio's defensive achievement is an impressive batting record. While he fell down in the final fortnight and finished with only .323, he made 206 hits, as against Earl Averill's 232 in 14 more games. In the history of major league baseball only eleven other first year batters were able to make more than 200 hits.

Di Maggio scored 136 runs, had 367 total bases, 2[illegible] extra bases, 44 doubles, 15 triples, 29 home runs, and 4 stolen bases. Given the chance to run he would have been up among the base stealing leaders. But Manager Joe McCarthy would not take the risk. With that slugging outfit he did not have to.

Sox Best Fielders.

When Di Maggio left for his home in San Francisco it was reported he had signed for three years at $15,000 a season. It now develops that he spurned this offer and dashed off to the Golden Gate with Brother Tom dictating a financial policy which is almost certain to lead to interesting developments in the near future. It may not be easy to do business with Joe, the boy wonder of 1936.

The American league's fielding records reveal that the league did right well with the lively ball. It developed the defensive mark of .971 as against .972 for 1935, and .973 for the majors of all time. The Tigers dropped from .978 to .975, but held the club leadership, with the Yankees and White Sox tied for second at .973.

As a matter of fact, the White Sox were the best fielding club in the circuit. They made 174 double plays, and led with 1,965 assists, and 6,228 total chances. The Yankees did not shine in the vital detail of double plays, making only 148. The Browns, with 143, and the Red Sox, with 129, were the only teams less effective in this department.

Bonura Leads Gehrig.

Zeke Bonura is not one of the top flight first basemen in baseball yet the records insist he was the best in the league. Lou Gehrig rates second with Jack Burns and Joe Kuhel following.

There is no doubt as to the leadership among second basemen. He is Charley Gehringer of the Tigers. He had 946 total chances and participated in 116 double plays. The second best double play record is 98, by Roy Hughes of the Indians. Tony Lazzeri picked up amazingly with 88, but had only 785 total chances.

Marvin Owen of the Tigers, who had 495 chances against Red Rolfe's 446, and 28 double plays against Rolfe's 20, led third basemen. Rolfe was the steadier, with 19 errors against 24.

At shortstop, the records say Billy Rogell of Detroit, led with .965. But the more important figures reveal that Lyn Lary, with 872 chances, had something on the Tiger. And they also indicate that Luke Appling of the White Sox, batting champion of the league, had defensive virtues, as he led with 119 double plays. Frankie Crosetti of the Yanks had 826 chances, 95 double plays, and the greatest number of errors, 43.

Lyons Leads Pitchers.

Al Simmons of the Tigers is the nominal leader among outfielders, but there are better records. Roger Cramer, with 475 chances and 443 putouts, Joe Di Maggio, and Sam West, with 460 chances, a new major record, all rate over Al in actual skill. Still, Simmons' record is remarkable.

Ted Lyons, the finest fielding pitcher in baseball for many years, led the league again, with Bump Hadley and Vic Sorrell behind him. The best fielding catcher was Rick Ferrell, of the Red Sox, with 556 putouts and 619 chances.

PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

Pompoon, 3 year old son of Pompey, has proved to be a profitable investment for Jerome H. Loucheim of Philadelphia. Bought as a yearling for $2,000, Pompoon won $56,790 in the Futurity alone.

Herschberger, Maroon Star of '90s, Ends Life

nedy and Herschberger repeatedly denied the charge.

Stagg, in his book, "Touchdown," names Herschberger as the first football player to be X-rayed for an injury. The late Prof. A. A. Michelson, internationally known scientist, took the X-ray.

Originator of On-Side Kick.

Herschberger was credited with originating the on-side kick, recently eliminated from football, and is believed to have been the first man to spiral a punt.

An extraordinary athlete, Herschberger also was an exceptional student, excelling in mathematics. He graduated with Phi Beta Kappa honors and was awarded a fellowship which he held for several years. He helped Stagg coach the Maroons for two years after his graduation and then joined the faculty of the Princeton-Yale preparatory school as an instructor in mathematics and physics.

In 1902 he accepted a position as coach of all athletic teams at Lake Forest college and also taught mathematics there. In 1905 he transfered to Lake Forest academy, where he was made head master. He became associated with Frank A. Vanderlip, financier, and moved to New York, where he remained until 1921, when he returned to Chicago to enter the real estate business.

Meets Business Reverses.

His realty venture met with reverses and he set about recouping. The strain of his earlier athletic endeavors, which had weakened his heart, and the press of business combined to bring about a nervous breakdown in 1932, when he was forced to forego active participation in the enterprise.

He spent a great deal of his time at Washington Island, in northern Wisconsin, where he had set up a machine shop in his summer home.

Funeral services will be held at the undertaking parlor, 3125 West 63d street, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Burial will be private in Oak Woods cemetery.

PACKERS GIVEN BIG RECEPTION AT GREEN BAY

Green Bay, Wis., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Green Bay welcomed home its fourth national professional football championship team tonight. Thousands occupied all space in and around the railroad station long before the train carrying the Packer squad, which defeated the Boston Redskins in New York yesterday was due to arrive.

Upon alighting from their special car, the players, Coach Curly Lambeau and players' wives, who had boarded the train at cities along the route, were led across a loading platform appropriated for a stage.

Brilliantly lighted and equipped with loud speakers and radio microphones, the stage became the focal point of all eyes as Lavern R. Dilweg, member of the Packer championship teams of 1929, 1930, and 1931, assisted A. D. Murphy, secretary of the Association of Commerce, in introducing each player and expressing the appreciation of the community for his part in beating Boston.

A testimonial banquet, for which all tickets have been sold, will be held Wednesday night, followed by a victory ball.

Bobby Pacho Knocks Out Pete Mascia in Fifth

New York, Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Bobby Pacho, Mexican welterweight, tonight knocked out Pete Mascia of Greenpoint at the St. Nicholas Palace before 4,000 persons. Floored for the count of nine as the fifth round ended, and carried to his corner by his handlers, Mascia was not allowed to continue at the start of the sixth and Referee Artie McGovern stopped [illegible]ut, awarding the decision to Pacho.

PETERS WINS IN 8 ROUND BOUT WITH CONNOLLY

Nick Peters, former San Antonio, Tex., high school athlete, defeated Joe Connolly, lightweight champion of Scotland in an eight round slugging match at Marigold Gardens last night to score his 12th consecutive victory. Connolly was floored four times, twice in the first round and once in the third and fourth, but he had Peters on the verge of a knockout in the fifth session. The Texas youngster regained the lead in the next round and held it despite the fact that an old cut over his left eye was reopened in the final period.

The match was Connolly's third and last in this country. The Scotch-Irish battler, who also lost his two previous starts, will return to his home in Glasgow within ten days. Other results:

Tony Cianciola, Milwaukee, Wis., welterweight, knocked out Tony Mandell, Rockford [3].

Japanese Throws Conley in White City Match

Oki Shikina, Japanese jiu jitsu expert, tossed Jack Conley of Boston after 31 minutes 47 seconds of wrestling last night with a Japanese arm lock at the White City arena. Shikina was forced to snap Conley's arm in place after dislocating it at the finish of the bout. Tony Falletti and Wild Bill Brooks wrestled to a thirty minute draw. Jack Brown scored a fifteen minute victory over Roland Meeker.

British Star to Make His 1st Chicago Appearance.

Fred Perry of England, world's amateur tennis champion who recently turned professional, and Ellsworth Vines, former United States amateur champion and now world's professional champion, will appear in a match at the Chicago Stadium on Jan. 9.

Perry reached New York recently from England and signed to make a professional tour of the United States. Perry has never appeared in Chicago.

Other Matches Planned.

Ellsworth Vines, who was Bill Tilden's successor in American amateur tennis until he turned professional, is now rated as the king in the professional field. Other stars will be included in the tour and the full program for the Jan. 9 date at the Stadium will soon be announced.

Long Anticipated Move.

Perry's turning professional had been anticipated for two years. He refused all offers until he had won his second United States singles crown and twice had led the British team to Davis cup triumphs, but shortly after his marriage to Helen Vinson, movie star, his intentions of turning pro were known.

DETTON THROWS DEAN.

T. C. U. ACCEPTS BID TO PLAY IN COTTON BOWL

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 14.—(AP)—J. Curtis Sanford, Tyler oil man promoting the Cotton Bowl Athletic association, announced tonight Texas Christian university officials accepted an invitation for the Horned Frogs to play Marquette university in the Cotton Bowl here New Year's day.

Official approval of the Southwest conference was all that stood in the way for the first Cotton Bowl football game, Sanford said.

After Texas Christian accepted the invitation Dr. E. W. McDiarmid, president of the conference, requested Dr. J. T. McCants of Rice institute to poll representatives of other schools. Permission was expected tomorrow, Sanford said.

Under terms offered by Sanford, Marquette is to receive a cash guarantee of $6,000 and Texas Christian $10,000. Each will have the option of taking 40 per cent of the gross gate. Sanford expects a crowd of 20,000.

ENTRIES CLOSED FOR ST. GEORGE BASKET TOURNEY

20 Quintets Will Play for Trophies Friday.

The St. Mary's, Woodstock, Ill., quintet yesterday completed the entry list for the third annual St. George High school pre-season open basketball tournament which starts at St. George gymnasium, 350 Sherman street, Evanston, Friday night. In yesterday's mail there also came acceptances from St. Philip and St. Michael.

Six of the quintets entered will come from Indiana, Iowa, and downstate Illinois while the remaining teams are from Chicago, Oak Park, and Evanston. The total entry is 20.

St. Ignatius Withdraws.

St. Ignatius, a previous entrant, was forced to withdraw because of a conflict in dates.

The list of trophies to be given to teams finishing among the first four when the curtain comes down on Dec. 22 was announced by Brother Lawrence, tournament director, yesterday.

The permanent trophy, which must be won three years in succession to gain possession, is given by the St. George students' body. Thus far St. Mel and St. Patrick have their names engraved on the huge silver award. The first place trophy, a gold basketball, which goes to the winner of the meet, has been donated by Spies Brothers.

Silver Trophy for Second.

Second place will be rewarded with the Lowe-Campbell silver trophy; third place, the George Lovewell trophy, and fourth place, the Thomas D. Griffin award. Individual members of the first, second, third, and fourth place teams will receive gold basketballs, silver basketball charms, silver and bronze medals, respectively. All the individual awards will be donated by the St. George High school.

Ald. Wahl, Evanston, will be the donor of the diamond medals which go to players selected on the all-tournament team. Still another award is the most valuable player trophy to be given to the player whose efforts mean most to his team.

A complete list of the teams to compete follows:

Out of town teams—St. Mary's, Anderson, Ind.; St. Mary's, Woodstock, Ill.; St. Mary's, Huntington, Ind.; St. Mary's, Michigan City, Ind.; St. Patrick's, Kankakee, Ill.; Columbia academy, Dubuque, Ia. Local teams—De La Salle, St. Patrick, St. Mel, St. George, Loyola, De Paul, Fenwick, Leo, St. Rita, Mount Carmel, St. Philip, St. Michael, Holy Trinity, and Weber.

Drawings will be made tomorrow night at St. George High school and will be announced on Thursday by Tournament Director Brother Lawrence.

Vienna Skate Stars Arrive for Carnival

Austria's skating pair champions, Idi Papez and Karl Zwack, arrived in Chicago yesterday and went directly to the Chicago Stadium, where they will headline the fifth annual ice carnival, opening Christmas day.

There they tried out the ice in their first rehearsal of two new acts which will be presented here. The five time champions of Austria and twice champions of Europe will make the first professional appearance of a world tour in the Stadium show.

One of their two numbers is entitled "Past and Present," in which they do a Viennese waltz in the manner of 1875 and then return to do their modernistic waltz.

The other number, "The Skating Lesson," is a comedy affair of falls and spills. The Austrian pair were starred when amateurs on the 1935 Stadium program, and they have been a headline attraction on the continent for many seasons. They have skated together for ten years.

Orders for 200 new costumes were placed by the Stadium yesterday.

TWO TEAMS TIE FOR MINNEAPOLIS BIKE RACE LEAD

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 14.—(AP)—The teams of Maurice Gilles-Raymond Bedard and Chuck Yaccino-Mike Clarizio forged to the front by one lap at midnight tonight in the Minneapolis six-day bike race. They had covered 1,697 miles and 9 laps.

The Rodman-De Fillipo team was penalized one lap and Torchy Peden had a bad spill to fall two laps behind the leaders after he and his partner, George Dempsey, had been in the lead in the early hours of the race.

The standings:

Team—	Miles.	Laps.	Pnts.
Yaccino-Clarizio	1,697	9	306
Giles-Bedard	1,697	9	238
Rodman-De Fillipo	1,697	8	416

FORMER BIG 10 CAPTAINS LEAD TEAMS TONIGHT

Two former Big Ten college captains will be pitted against each other in the feature game of the Windy City Basketball league tonight at St. Philip's gymnasium, Jackson boulevard and Kedzie avenue. Sid Rosenthal, University of Iowa captain last year, will lead the Rivals against the Brandt Florals of Portage Park. The Florals are led by Chelso Tamagno, Michigan captain last year.

In the other league game the Collegians will battle the Homer Gwinns. The Gwinns have been strengthened by the addition of Benny Budrich and Joie Kluchinskas. In the opening preliminary game at 7:30 the T. J. Bowler Girls will face the Blue Island Brownies.

LISTS SEABISCUIT AS SANTA ANITA HANDICAP CHOICE

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Seabiscuit, Mrs. Charles S. Howard's impressive winner in the $10,000 World's Fair handicap at Bay Meadows, is an 8 to 1 favorite to win the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap in the future book Jack Kyne is operating here.

Kyne today released a line of quotations for straight, place, show, and fourth place on all contenders for the world's richest horse race, to be run at Los Angeles Feb. 27. The prices range from 8 to 1 up to 500 to 1 on the win end with as high as 50 to 1 being quoted for fourth place.

Top Row, winner of the last Santa Anita handicap and high weight horse at 127 pounds in the ensuing renewal, is listed at 12 to 1, as is Azucar, winner of the race in 1935. Equal second choices in the Kyne book are Time Supply, Rosemont, and Roman Soldier, each quoted at 10 to 1. The longshot in the race is Jimmy Sutro, a horse which dropped into the selling plater ranks during the summer. He is quoted at 500 to 1.

CAPT. HOWARD, FORMER NAVY COACH, IS DEAD

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 15. — (AP) — Capt. Douglas Legate Howard, U. S. N., retired, former navy football player and coach, died today of apoplexy.

Capt. Howard, son of a rear admiral, was born in Annapolis 51 years ago. He was captain of the Navy eleven in 1905 and won a trophy for having done the most for athletics in that year. From 1911 to 1914 he coached the academy team. He served as commander of a destroyer during the world war and later was commander of the U. S. S. Seattle, then fleet flagship.

Funeral services will be held in the naval academy chapel Wednesday, with burial in the academy cemetery.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

KNIGHTS OF DOG HOUSE.

THE Wake has been formally elected to Knights of the Dog House. Our active membership card, duly attested, has just been received from President Bud Hulett. We do not know why our admission was thus timed, for we are on unusually amiable terms with Mrs. Wake despite minor differences of opinion over the Wally case.

When in Florida last winter there was an informal chapter of this order, membership being based on permanent or temporary disfavor with the superior half for conduct or actions unbecoming a husband and helpmeet. We were on probation several times, but never quite made the grade of active membership. Jack Douglass, once of Evanston, was keeper of the seal.

Some of the privileges accorded Knights of the Dog House, according to our admission card, are:

Members are permitted to alibi for each other, or even to present facts as they should be rather than as they are if occasion demands.

Members may give other members advice on how to get out of D. H., but only at their own risk.

When in D. H. members are not obliged to give any explanation to any one relative to their actions, whereabouts, conquests, etc. Their conscience, if any, should be their guide.

Members may exchange interesting information they have on hand, such as telephone numbers, addresses, data, etc.

Members pledge themselves to carry on relentless war against feminine chiselers and bar flies.

Since a soft answer often turneth away wrath, members in D. H. should learn to speak softly, use discretion, finesse, and gentle persuasion to get back into good graces. Flowers, candy, and wearing apparel often help.

The Builder.

He sees the ground lying fallow there,
Nor trees, nor spires, but a place so bare
To others it seems but an empty space,
But the Builder a plan begins to trace.
He visions buildings straight and wide,
Built with the plans he draws with pride,
Buildings that quickly become real,
Erected of concrete, brick and steel.
A mighty plant soon rises there,
Where once had been a space so bare.
The Builder sees it peopled with men
All working—then, starts planning again.

Wildcat Five to Get Test from Irish

Northwestern's basketball team, successful in its first two games, will face its biggest test of the season when it clashes with Notre Dame at South Bend tomorrow night in the first of two games with the Irish. The second meeting will be staged at Patten gymnasium New Year's eve.

The annual Northwestern-Notre Dame series is one of the most intensive in basketball. In the last eighteen games the Irish have won nine, Northwestern eight, while the last contest resulted in a 20 to 20 tie due to a scorekeeper's error. The teams left the floor thinking that Northwestern had won, 20 to 19, when actually the score was tied at 20 all.

Both Are Undefeated.

Both teams have won all of their games thus far. The Wildcats turned in victories over Carleton and Pittsburgh while Notre Dame defeated Kalamazoo, St. Mary's, and Macomb Teachers.

Northwestern's veteran five has flashed a strong offense but against Pittsburgh its defense bogged down sufficiently to allow Pitt to uncork a rally that came close to tying the score. The final score was 37 to 28.

Wildcats Rely on Veterans.

In the games to date Coach Dutch Lonburg has relied largely on a veteran starting combination consisting of Mike McMichaels and Fred Trenkle, forwards; Jean Smith, center, and Duke Vance and Bob Voigts, guard. The latter is the only sophomore in the group. Against Pitt he scored three field goals and a free throw.

Herzl Junior College Beats Loyola B Team, 44-28

Herzl Junior college scored its fourth victory in five starts by defeating the Loyola university B basketball team, 44 to 28, on the Herzl court yesterday. The west siders held a 26 to 12 lead at half time. Miller and Wishner shared in honors for the winning five, the former making six baskets and two free throws, and the latter four baskets and two charity tosses.

MAREK-TREEST BOUT POSTPONED UNTIL DEC. 30

The state heavyweight championship bout between Max Marek and Billy Treest, scheduled at White City Friday, has been postponed until Dec. 30, because of a heavy cold contracted by Marek last week. Announcement followed examination of the former Golden Gloves and Catholic Youth organization champion yesterday by Dr. James V. Russell, C. Y. O. physician. . . . Art Oliver, heavyweight title holder of the American Olympic boxing team, and Johnny Erjavec, Duluth, Minn., yesterday were matched in an eight round headliner at Marigold Gardens next Monday. Irving Schoenwald, Marigold promotor, is laying the groundwork for a testimonial show for the late Dave Barry, referee of the Tunney-Dempsey title bout at Soldiers' field in 1927. . . . Handlers of Milt Aron believe that the ex-Dubuque, Ia., Golden Gloves king is ready for a contest with Barney Ross, welterweight monarch.

◆

Entry blanks have been mailed to more than 500 prospective candidates in the fifth annual amateur boxing tournament at the Illinois Athletic club Jan. 12, 13, and 20. Any boy who has never boxed professionally and is at least 16 years old is eligible to compete. Applications can be obtained at the club and the Central A. A. U. offices. . . . James C. Mullen, Stadium matchmaker, will return this morning from Cleveland where he attended the encounter between Joe Louis and Eddie Simms last night. . . . Promoter Fred Kohler will transfer his weekly wrestling shows from Arcadia Gardens to Rainbo Fronton after tomorrow's card, which is topped by Nango Singh and Ivan Rasputin. . . . George Lucas and Louis Ware, amateur heavyweight fighters, will head a program at Sears-Roebuck gymnasium, 3210 Arthington street, Thursday. F. M.

FAVORITES LOSE AS FLORIDA RACE SEASON STARTS

15,000 at Tropical Park Opening.

Coral Gables, Fla., Dec. 14.—(AP)—The Florida racing season opened at Tropical park today with the poinsettias in full bloom beneath the palm trees, the sun hot and the skies a clear blue, in fact, everything perfect except the form sheets.

Those of the 15,000 spectators who played the favorites could not collect until the sixth race when Hirsch Jacobs saddled his 167th winner of the year—Strategist II. The four year old gelding came in six lengths ahead of Sterling Away and paid $6.90.

The featured race was the Bougainvillea, the fourth, in which J. W. Parrish's Proph raced the five and a half furlongs in 1:06 to win by a head and pay $11. The favorite, W. H. Gallagher's Zaca, took the place a length and a half ahead of Mrs. Emil Denemark's Prairie Dog, also well backed.

Spill Mars Sixth Race.

A bad spill marred the sixth race when the Triumvir, ridden by J. Barba, apprentice jocky, fell over the inside rail at the quarter pole. Both horse and rider escaped serious injury.

The horses run for 26 days here and then move over to fashionable Hialeah Park from Jan. 13 to March 6, returning for a second meeting here that runs to April. The opening this year was a day earlier than ever before.

Opening Day Record.

William V. Dwyer, director of Tropical Park, said the opening day crowd was a record and predicted a 25 per cent increase over last year at the mutuel windows and the entrance turnstiles before the meeting ends.

A new finish-camera provided pictures of the horses crossing the wire for display at the judges' stand, grandstand and club house. It was used to decide the place in the first race when five horses were only heads apart.

Hawks Have Week to Drill for Americans

Games Tonight

Montreal Maroons at New York Rangers.
Detroit at Montreal Canadiens.
New York Americans at Boston.

The Blackhawks went through two light workouts yesterday, following their defeat by the Detroit Red Wings Sunday in an overtime game. In the morning they held a half hour's shooting practice. Later they went to a gymnasium for calisthenics. Tommy Cook and Johnny Gottselig, who are nursing injured legs, were excused from both drills.

With the exception of an exhibition game against the St. Louis Flyers of the American association, which is booked for tomorrow night at St. Louis, no games are scheduled for the week, and Manager Loughlin's plans call for light ice practice and physical training work today, Friday and Saturday in preparation for the game with the New York Americans Sunday at the Stadium.

The team will leave for their battle with the Flyers, who are leading the American association, at noon tomorrow, arriving in St. Louis at 5 o'clock. After the game they will entrain for Chicago.

AURIE LEADS SCORING

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Lawrence Aurie of the Detroit Red Wings, who made the greatest gain of the week by adding five points to his total, has forged into the leadership of the National Hocky league scoring, according to statistics issued from league headquarters today.

Aurie has been credited with eight goals and six assists, for a total of fourteen points. Tied for second place are Aurie's teammate, Herbie Lewis, and Dave Schriner of the New York Americans, each with eight goals and four assists, for a total of 12 points.

N. Colville of the New York Rangers, and Marty Barry of the Detroit Red Wings, are tied for third place. Colville has six goals and five assists, while Barry has three goals and eight assists.

GLOBE TROTTERS BATTLE WHITING FIVE TONIGHT

Bill Haarlow, former University of Chicago star, will make his Chicago debut as a pro basketball player with Whiting, Ind., against the Harlem Globe Trotters at White City tonight. Holder of the Big Ten scoring record over a three season span, Haarlow will be paired at forward with Joe Reiff, former Northwestern university player.

Whitey Wickhorst and Vince McGowan are others who will perform for Whiting against the Harlem quintet, which, in ten seasons, has won 1,156 games out of 1,264 against the outstanding teams of the United States and Canada.

Bunny Leavitt, holder of the world's free throw record at 499 in a row, will give an exhibition. In other games on the card the Luciana Owl Indians will face the Fouquette Books and the Alamo Co-eds, formerly the Frain Usherettes, will meet the Fellmuth Girls.

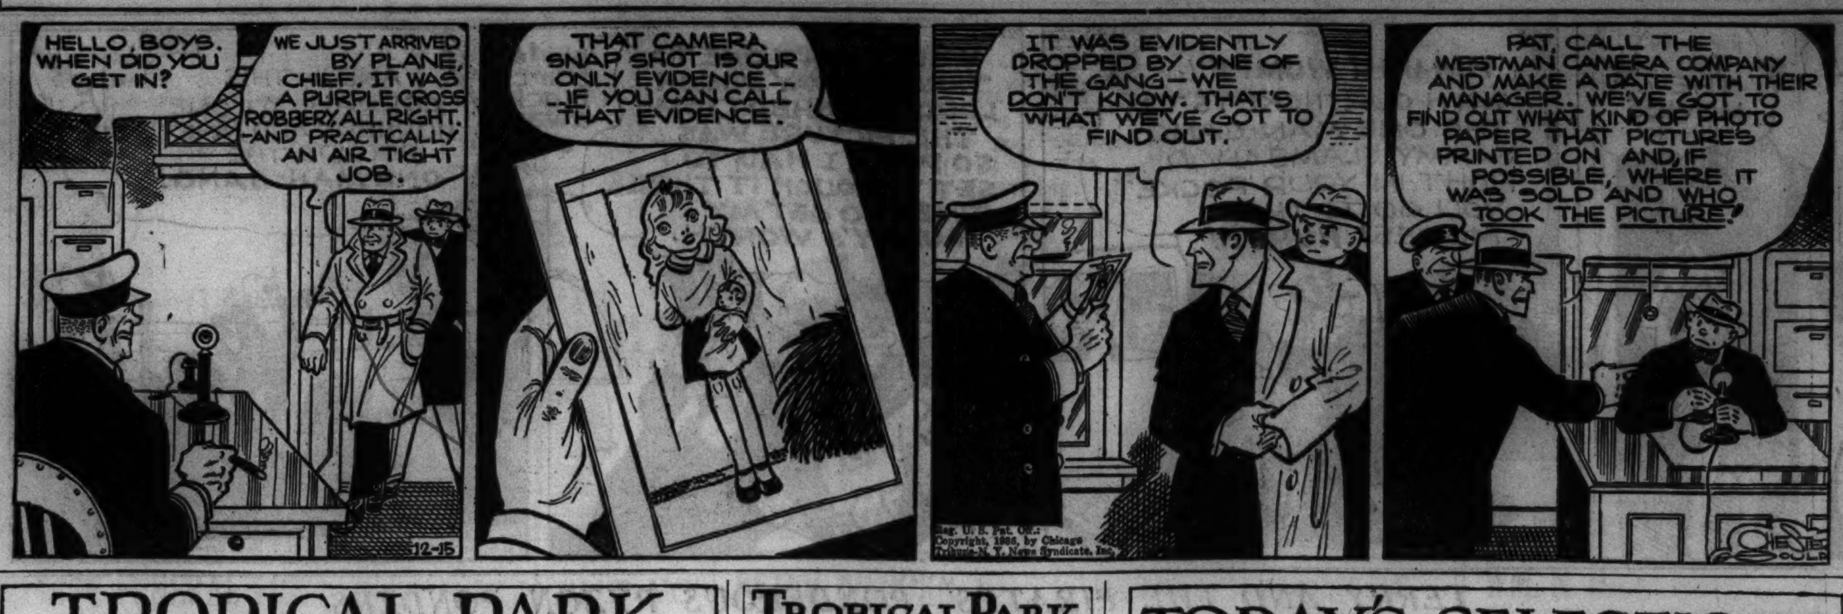
DICK TRACY—That Snapshot



HELLO, BOYS. WHEN DID YOU GET IN?
WE JUST ARRIVED BY PLANE, CHIEF. IT WAS A PURPLE CROSS ROBBERY, ALL RIGHT, -AND PRACTICALLY AN AIR TIGHT JOB.
THAT CAMERA SNAP SHOT IS OUR ONLY EVIDENCE— —IF YOU CAN CALL THAT EVIDENCE.
IT WAS EVIDENTLY DROPPED BY ONE OF THE GANG—WE DON'T KNOW. THAT'S WHAT WE'VE GOT TO FIND OUT.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: Copyright, 1936, by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

Time, 1:08 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Bob Charlie, $14.40 straight, $6.30 place, $3.60 show; Whittle, $17.20 place, $5.60 show; Sorceress, $2.50 show. Winner, ch. c., 2, by St. Henry-Handover. Owner, Mrs. C. P. Lindner. Trainer, C. P. Lindner. Went to post at 2. At post ⅓ minute. Start good. Won driving; place same.

BOB CHARLIE broke alertly and energetically ridden, closed ground in final furlong and won going away. WHITTLE, on the inside, got through entering stretch and held on gamely. SORCERESS was probably best, but was almost knocked down by I DO at the three and one-half furlong pole. She recovered quickly and was sent up on the outside and finished with a rush and might have won but for interference. SPOTLESS came from far back and was running fastest of all at the finish. I DO had plenty of speed but stopped badly at end. LEGSURE is sure to improve over this effort.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Three year olds and up. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

MISS CAPERS	110	9	9	10^1	11^2	12	12	H.Louman	34.15-1

Time, 1:13. Two dollar mutuels paid: Dark War, $12.10 straight, $6.50 place, $4.60 show; Zevanaid, $5.20 place, $3.80 show; Epitaph, $3.40 show. Winner, br. m., 6, by Traumer-Sun Thor. Owner, Mrs. C. Tumin. Trainer, A. G. Tumin. Went to post at 2:33. At post 3½ minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

DARK WAR well ridden. She was hustled along all the way, came around ZEVANAID entering stretch, closed fast and was drawing away at end. ZEVANAID displayed keen speed but weakened in last furlong. EPITAPH broke good but was allowed to drop back in early part, finished with a rush and was a fast going third. GALLOPING was a stout contender all the way and is worth noting. AUNT FLOR, never far from the pace, ran good race.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Three year olds and up. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

PLEA	118	2	5	4^1	6½	9	9	G.Gross	36.50-1

Time, 1:06. Two dollar mutuels paid: Bluebeard, $11.10 straight, $7.20 place, $4.60 show; Likewise, $11.80 place, $6.30 show; Joyride, $4.50 show. Winner, blk. c., 4, by Blue Larkspur-Herodias. Owner, Mrs. E. A. Rotelli. Trainer, D. J. McAuliffe. Went to post at 3:03. At post ½ minute. Start good. Won easily; place driving.

BLUEBEARD broke alertly, was rushed into long lead early, came a bit wide entering stretch but drew away easily at end. LIKEWISE was hard ridden all the way and just gained the place in last stride. JOYRIDE moved up very fast on inside but tired suddenly. COUNT RAE finished with a rush and is sure to improve. MY COLIN had plenty of early speed. QUICKLY had no mishap.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Two year olds. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:06. Two dollar mutuels paid: Proph, $11.00 straight, $2.90 place, $2.40 show; Zaca, $2.40 place, $2.20 show; Prairie Dog, $2.40 show. Winner, ch. c., 2, by High Time-Mary Belle. Owner, J. W. Parrish. Trainer, J. M. Goode. Went to post at 3:33. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won driving; place same.

PROPH got away very fast and was sent right to the front. He was steadied along all the way and, under a good strong ride, held on gamely. ZACA moved up very fast on the outside, but hung right at end. PRAIRIE DOG was in close quarters, saved ground but was again in close quarters in final furlong. NOEL H was sharply interfered with at the furlong pole and was knocked out of it. PRINCE SADOR, badly outrun to the stretch, finished fast. LITTLE SLEEPER had flash of early speed. JOAN ASBESTOS was outrun.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Three year olds and up. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:47 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Bushmaster, $24.20 straight, $15.10 place, $7.90 show; Mr. Bun, $4.50 place, $3.20 show; Idle Along, $3.50 show. Winner, ch. g., 3, by Cherokee-Dangertude. Owner, D. Hardy. Trainer same. Went to post at 4:02. At post 2 minutes. Start poor. Won driving; place same.

BUSHMASTER broke well in motion, was rushed into a long lead going into paddock turn and perfectly rated along, was given a breathing spell turning out of back stretch, but drew away in last quarter mile. MR. BUN began to close ground in run down back stretch, came to inside in stretch and was second in final stride. IDLE ALONG, rated along to far turn where she moved up, made her bid but faltered badly right at end. MAMA'S CHOICE was away poorly and had no chance. She, however, moved up around lower turn, but weakened in last quarter mile.

SIXTH RACE—One mile. Three year olds and up. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:40. Two dollar mutuels paid: Strategist II., $6.90 straight, $4.10 place, $3.10 show; Stealingaway, $5.70 place, $3.80 show; Real Jam, $3.70 show. Winner, b. g., 4, by Stratford-Vizcaya. Owner, Mrs. E. D. Jacobs. Trainer, Hirsch Jacobs. Went to post at 4:32. At post 4 minutes. Start good. Won easily; place driving.

STRATEGIST II. broke fast, opened wide gap early and just galloped along. STEALINGAWAY moved up gamely and was next best. REAL JAM, mean at the gate but got away fast, showed speed and held on gamely. PAY RACK well up all the way. JUST BUCK had no mishap. THE TRIUMVIR swerved, hit the inside rail and fell over the fence.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Three year olds and up. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:48. Two dollar mutuels paid: Indian Head, $75.10 straight, $22.20 place, $7.70 show; Tell Why, $5.20 place, $3.80 show; Flying Dere, $3.20 show. Winner, b. g., 3, by Thunderstrom-Lather. Owner, W. J. Sprow. Trainer, K. Ramsey. Went to post at 5:03. At post 1½ minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

INDIAN HEAD got away flying, quickly opened a good lead, rated along to the final quarter where he began to tire and just staggered home. TELL WHY followed pace to stretch, closed very fast. FLYING DERE ran good race.

EIGHTH RACE—Six furlongs. Three year olds and up. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

C.Y.O. Boxing Squad Wins in Cincinnati

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Chicago's C. Y. O. boxing team defeated a picked team of Detroit and Cincinnati boxers tonight before 4,000 fans at Music hall. The score was 12 to 4, the Chicago boys winning seven out of eight novice bouts and five of the open contests.

By winning from their Detroit and Cincinnati opponents tonight the Chicago Catholic Youth organization boys continued to uphold the tradition set by previous teams of C. Y. O. boxers. In six years of intercity competition no Chicago C. Y. O. squad has ever been defeated. New York, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Grand Rapids, Kansas City, Fort Wayne, Detroit and Cincinnati having fallen before the Chicago fighters.

In tonight's battles at Music hall, Frankie Kainrath, Cornelius Young and Johnny Noto, stars of the invading C. Y. O. delegation, led the Chicago squad by scoring impressive decisions over their Detroit adversaries. Edgar Waling, Detroit star, gave local C. Y. O. followers the biggest thrill of the evening when he battled his way to a three round decision over Joe Du Pont in a featherweight match.

Summaries:

OPEN DIVISION.

112 POUNDS—Johnny Noto, Chicago, beat Charles Gomez, Detroit [3].

SKATING GROUP APPROVES DATES FOR ICE RACES

Dates for skating meets were assigned at a meeting of the Illinois Western Skating association in the Sherman hotel last night, and Helen Bina, a member of the 1932 United States Olympic team, was refused reinstatement as an amateur.

The Bowler A. C. was awarded Christmas day for its meet. The Catholic Youth organization championships were approved for Dec. 27. The other dates beginning with the new year follow:

JESSE OWENS IS NAMED SEASON'S BEST ATHLETE

Carl Hubbell Is Second in Annual Poll.

New York, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Jesse Owens was voted the outstanding athlete, amateur or professional, of 1936 in the sixth annual poll conducted by the Associated Press. Final results were tabulated today. Owens, winner of four Olympic gold medals and undisputed world sprint and broad jump champion, almost trebeled the vote received by his nearest rival, Carl Hubbell, New York Giants' pitching ace and winner of the poll in 1933. Owens is the second colored athlete to lead the poll. A year ago it was Joe Louis.

Owens received 53 first place nominations among the 69 experts who participated in the voting. The Ohio State star, who now is cashing in on his reputation with various ventures in the professional field, polled 177 points, while Hubbell, drawing down only five first place votes, received 68 points.

The latest batch of ballots to arrive resulted in Larry Kelley, Yale end, yielding third place to Max Schmeling, conquerer of Joe Louis.

In addition to Owens, Hubbell, and Schmeling, others who received first place nominations were Glenn Morris, Olympic decathlon star and Forrest [Spec] Towns, Olympic high hurdle king, two each, and one each for Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, and Earl [Dutch] Clark of the Detroit Lions.

1. Jesse Owens, quadruple Olympic winner, 177 points.
2. Carl Hubbell, leading National league pitcher, 68.
3. Max Schmeling, German conqueror of Joe Louis, 37.
4. Larry Kelley, Yale end, 33.
5. Glenn Morris, world decathlon champion, 23.
6. Fred Perry, world tennis champion, 14.
7. Joe Dimaggio, Yankee outfielder, 11.
8. Forrest [Spec] Towns, world champion high hurdler, and Joe Louis, 7.
10. Dizzy Dean, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, and Tony Manero, open golf champion, 6.
12. Lou Gehrig, Yankee first baseman, 5.
13. Johnny Fischer, American amateur golf champion, 4.

W. H. M'CARTER MADE DIRECTOR AT DARTMOUTH

Hanover, N. H., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—The Dartmouth college athletic council today announced the appointment of William H. McCarter of the class of 1919, as director of athletics beginning Jan. 1.

Since Harry Heneage was taken ill fifteen months ago, McCarter has been acting supervisor in addition to assistant at the Baker library. Acting on doctors' advice, Heneage formally resigned last August and McCarter was asked to continue in his temporary capacity until the first of the year.

HOLD SERVICES TOMORROW FOR E. D. SHURTLEFF

Jurist Will Be Buried at Marengo.

JUDGE SHURTLEFF.

Judge Edward D. Shurtleff, on the bench of the Seventeenth Judicial circuit for the last seventeen years, died yesterday in his home on East Washington street in Marengo, McHenry county, where he had been critically ill for the last week. He was 73 years old.

Confined to his home for several months because of ill health, Judge Shurtleff had continued to carry on some of his court business until a week ago Sunday, when he was stricken with a heart attack. The Seventeenth circuit includes Winnebago, Boone, McHenry, and Lake counties.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the residence. Burial will be in the Marengo cemetery.

Long in Public Life.

Judge Shurtleff had been in public life in Illinois for thirty-six years. That period was divided almost equally between service in the general assembly and on the bench. He was a member of the house of representatives for twenty years and a judge of the 17th circuit for seventeen years. During his two decades in the legislature he served three terms as speaker of the house.

He was born at Genoa, a small city in De Kalb county, only about a dozen miles from the slightly larger city of Marengo, where he spent his adult life. After three years at Oberlin college he took up the study of law in a private office and was admitted to the bar in South Dakota in 1885. He was admitted to practice in Illinois in 1894.

Three Times Speaker.

After four years as a member of the board of supervisors of McHenry county he served four years as mayor of Marengo and then was elected state representative from the 8th district in 1900. He was reëlected nine times and in his third term—in 1905—he was chosen speaker by acclamation. In 1907 he again was elected by acclamation. In 1909 he was reëlected in a revolt against an attempt at dictation by the Republican party leaders.

Although he was not again elected speaker, he served five additional terms in the house and resigned in 1919 when he was appointed to the bench by Gov. Frank O. Lowden to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Charles Donnelly of Woodstock. From 1927 to 1933 he served in the third district Appellate court at Springfield.

Stormy Bench Career.

During recent years his career on the bench had been more stormy than is usual in judicial life. The Illinois Supreme court compelled him to expunge a writ of habeas corpus giving freedom to James [Fur] Sammons, a Chicago gangster, and set aside a probation order he had obtained from a Cook county court for two postoffice robbers, Carl Parker and Stanley Wilson.

Judge Shurtleff is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Sisson Shurtleff; a daughter, Mrs. F. R. Kelley of Marengo, and a son, Maurice Shurtleff of Elgin.

PRIVATE FUNERAL FOR GUS GENNERICH WILL BE IN WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—(AP)—The White House arranged today a simple, private funeral service for August [Gus] Gennerich, close friend and bodyguard of President Roosevelt, who died at Buenos Aires when the chief executive was on a visit there.

The body will be brought to Washington tomorrow night by the same train on which the President travels to the capital from Charleston, S. C.

With the President and Mrs. Roosevelt as mourners, funeral services will be conducted at 9:30 a. m. by the Rev. Dr. G. E. Lenski, pastor of Grace Lutheran church in Washington, in the east room of the White House.

Burial will be in the Lutheran cemetery, Middle Village, N. Y., the next morning.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

by Frank Ridgway

Berries Mulched

December 14, 1936.

FOLLOWING approved practices the combination berry plantation and vineyard is being covered with a mulch at the Tribune's Wheaton experimental farm. This is done to prevent the intermittent freezing and thawing of the soil around the plants, resulting in heaving. The mulch protects the roots and crowns of strawberries from becoming dried out by winter winds.

Caretakers at the farm have found that mulching strawberries is advantageous in keeping plants from starting growth too early in the spring. Early growth is especially dangerous when there is an abnormally early spring. They have found that where a mulch is kept on the ground there is less trouble from weeds, especially during the fruiting season. The mulch prevents the evaporation of moisture and aids materially in keeping the berries clean.

Wheat and Oat Straw Best.

Both wheat and oat straw have been used in covering the strawberries at the Wheaton farm because it was the most satisfactory mulching material available. Other materials, however, may be used satisfactorily, including leaves, planer shavings, pine needles, wild and marsh hay, and stable manure.

Men at the farm do not like to use stable manure because it has a tendency to encourage the drying of soil and burns the plants. They prefer wheat straw to all other materials, and find it better than oat straw or leaves because these materials often become packed down tightly. Rye straw and corn stalks are not considered good mulching material on strawberry beds.

Like other farmers, they are using home grown material most readily available. It required about 75 bales of wheat and oat straw, weighing a total of about two and a quarter tons, to cover the strawberry patch of sixteen rows 210 feet long. The straw when settled will be about four inches deep. With straw at $7 a ton the cost of the material used on the strawberries alone amounted to about $15.75.

A two inch mulch usually is considered sufficient, but because the berry plants are young and the soil needs to be enriched, an extra thick layer is being used the first winter.

The straw will be left on the ground. Next spring it will be pulled back away from the plants to give them room to grow.

A Use for Poor Alfalfa.

On that portion of the plantation where grapes, dewberries, Youngberries and blackberries are being grown an inferior grade of alfalfa hay, caught in the rain in 1935, has been used instead of straw. The ground is covered with a six inch layer of the hay, which is composed chiefly of coarse stems and few leaves. The hay was worthless as a feed, and is expected to serve as an effective mulch. It also will be left to rot on the ground.

During the extreme dry weather last summer several of the plants were killed in the vineyard and berry plantation which was started on the Wheaton farm last spring. Before the ground became frozen this fall all the missing plants were replaced, except the strawberries and Youngberries. These will be set out next spring.

FIND WILL, BUT NO ASSETS OF LEON HERMANT, ARTIST

Investigators of the public administrator's office yesterday found the will of Leon Hermant, 70 years old, 22 East Ontario street, widely known French sculptor who was found dead in his rooms earlier in the day, but were unable to find the assets disposed of in the document.

The will was discovered in a safe deposit box in the Northern Trust company. Dated May 30, 1934, it left $250 to a brother, Hilaire, and $50 to another brother, Alphonse. The residue was left to Miss Jeannette Levy, 22 years old, 857 Ainslie street, "to help her finish her musical studies."

The will was filed immediately in the Probate court and a search for assets was begun. The only assets that could be found were the sculptor's personal effects.

Mr. Hermant, a leader in the French colony here, was awarded the Cross of the Legion of Honor for his work on a Chicago memorial to Louis Pasteur. He served in the French army during the war.

Judge John F. O'Connell admitted to probate the will of Mrs. Julia Lucas, who died on Sept. 14 and who left an estate of $31,000 to her husband, three daughters, and a son. The will of Julius Hafner, who died on Dec. 7, was also admitted to probate. It gives the entire estate, valued at $9,000, to Ottilie Hafner, a daughter, who was named executrix.

JUDGE G. G. LYDY DIES; SON LEAVES TO ATTEND RITES

R. G. Lydy, 3240 Lake Shore drive, head of the chain of loop automobile parking stations, left yesterday to attend the funeral of his father, Judge G. G. Lydy, who died Sunday of pneumonia at his home in Springfield, Mo. Mr. Lydy was accompanied by his sister, Miss Edna R. Lydy, 2000 Lincoln Park West. Their father will be buried today at Springfield.

Judge Lydy was 71 years old. He was one of Springfield's most prominent citizens, having practiced law there for 45 years since moving from a small Ohio town. Judge Lydy served several terms on the bench of the Superior and Probate courts at Springfield.

New York, Dec. 14.—(AP)—The bond market today added fresh gains to the December advance under buying activities inspired to some extent by favorable business and industrial conditions and a further rise in the share list.

Liens of speculative ratings remained leaders of the upswing with numerous gains ranging from 1 to 5 points. Those of the metal and steel divisions were responsive to a boost of ⅛ cent a pound in the price of copper, and to a further rise in steel production to the highest point in six years.

Several Issues Rise Smartly.

In the forefront of the rise were Allis-Chalmers 4s, up 4¾; Francisco Sugar 7½s certificates, up 5¼; Warner Quinlan 6s, up 1⅞; United Power and Light 5½s, up 2¼; American Type Founders convertible 5s, up 2, and Studebaker 6s, up 2⅛.

Various low priced rails moved up smartly, although the carrier division as a whole was a bit uneven. Illinois Central 3½s rose 4½, and 1 to 2 or more points were picked up by Mobile and Ohio 5s, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 5s, M-K-T adjustment 5s, New York, Ontario and Western refunding 4s, and Seaboard Air Line 1st 4s.

Federal Bonds Irregular.

The list was not without a few sharp declines, most occurring in volatile issues which had risen substantially last week. The United States government obligations continued under the influence of cross currents which left values 5-32 of a point lower to 4-32 higher at the close.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

St. Louis-San Francisco Railway.

Investors' Guide: Kindly furnish me with a report and information on St. Louis-San Francisco railway.—J. A. K.

Answer: The St. Louis-San Francisco Railway company was placed in receivership in 1932 and filed a petition in 1933 for reorganization under the federal bankruptcy laws. No plan of reorganization has been submitted as yet, nor does one appear to be in immediate prospect. On Aug. 10, 1936, the prior lien bondholders' committee voiced objections to considering any plan at present, because revenues still do not provide the basis for any plan that would be satisfactory to security holders.

The road is weighted down with an extremely heavy funded debt, interest on which has not been earned since 1930. The debt amounts to $274,000,000 in addition to matured debt of $9,446,000, unpaid interest of $40,704,000, and loans of $14,000,000 from banks, the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and the Railroad Credit corporation. The balance sheet deficit was $46,000,000 at the end of 1935.

Operating revenues declined from $94,715,000 in 1925 to $89,109,000 in 1929, $74,209,000 in 1930, and a low of $40,694,000 in 1933. Gains to $41,852,000 in 1934 and $42,431,000 in 1935 were recorded.

Net income dropped from a high of $10,229,000 in 1929 to $5,622,000 in 1930, and losses amounted to $3,256,000 in 1931, $10,094,000 in 1932, $10,261,000 in 1933, $10,638,000 in 1934, and $11,560,000 in 1935.

Improvement in trafic this year is reflected in revenues of $34,801,000 and net loss of $5,771,000 in the nine months ended Sept. 30, compared with revenues of $29,632,000 and loss of $8,408,000 in the corresponding 1935 period.

The St. Louis-San Francisco road is one of the major transportation systems serving the southwest. It operated 5,550 miles of main line track between St. Louis and Kansas City on the north, and Memphis, Birmingham, Pensacola, Tulsa, Dallas, and Fort Worth on the south. Half of freight revenues come from manufacturing and 17 per cent from agriculture. Petroleum products provided 19 per cent of revenues and 16 per cent of tonnage in 1935.

SEVERAL LARGE ISSUES WILL BE OFFERED TODAY

Detroit's Refunding Liens Exceed 25 Millions.

Public offering will be made today of several large security issues. These include $25,333,000 of city of Detroit refunding bonds, $16,000,000 of Conecticut Light and Power refunding mortgage bonds, $9,000,000 bonds and 15,000 shares of preferred stock of the Missouri Power and Light company, $6,400,000 of the Western Pacific railroad's trustees' certificates, $5,000,000 Kansas Electric Power company bonds, and $5,000,000 of Dow Chemical company debentures.

A group headed by the Bankers' Trust company, the Chase National bank, and the National City Bank of New York are offering the Detroit bonds, which consist of $15,475,000 of 2¾ per cent bonds maturing from 1951 to 1963, priced at 100 for the 1951-'52 maturities and to yield 2.80 to 2.90 per cent for the other maturities, and $9,858,000 of 3½ per cent bonds, maturing from 1938 to 1950, priced to yield from 0.50 per cent to 2.85 per cent.

Refund Higher Rate Bonds.

Proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used to refund a like amount of bonds bearing higher interest rates which were issued by the city in exchange for general obligation bonds under a refunding plan promulgated in 1933.

The Western Pacific issue consists of 2¾ per cent trustees' certificates, dated Dec. 1, 1936, and maturing Dec. 1, 1938. A banking group headed by Lazard Freres and company is offering the certificates at 100 and interest to yield 2.75 per cent. This is said to be the first offering of trustees' certificates by any company in reorganization under Section 77 of the amended bankruptcy act.

Two Utilities Offer Bonds.

Offering of the Conecticut Light and Power company's $16,000,000 first and refunding mortgage 3¼ per cent bonds, series G, due 1966, will be made at 104 and accrued interest. This will complete the company's current refunding program. The company will redeem $8,530,500 of 4½ per cent and $7,287,000 of 5 per cent bonds now outstanding.

Sale of the securities of the Missouri Power and Light company will be devoted to simplifying the company's capital structure. The offering will consist of $9,000,000 first mortgage 3¾ per cent bonds, due 1966, at 102 and accrued interest, and 15,000 shares of $6 cumulative preferred stock at $101.50 a share. Funds will be used to redeem $6,500,000 first mortgage 5½ per cent bonds, $1,500,00 first 4½s and $768,000 first mortgage 4¼s.

Kansas Utility Bonds Offered.

The Kansas Electric Power $5,000,000 of first mortgage series A 3½ per cent bonds will be offered at par and accrued interest by a syndicate headed by A. G. Becker & Co. The bonds are due Dec. 1, 1966. Proceeds, together with treasury funds, will be used for refunding purposes. The company is a subsidiary of the Middle West corporation.

Edward B. Smith & Co. is offering the Dow Chemical issues consisting of 3 per cent debentures, due Dec. 1, 1951, at 100 and accrued interest.

FIRST DIVIDEND BY UNITED AIR LINES VOTED

20 Cents Declared on Common Stock.

Dividend announcements yesterday were headed by the declaration of an nitial payment of 20 cents a share on common stock by the United Air Lines Transport corporation. With 1,394,120 shares outstanding, the disbursement will total $278,824.

HAROLD CRARY.

Harold Crary, vice president of the company, said that the sharp increase this year in passenger and express revenues over 1935 made payment possible. Mail revenues are fixed, he said.

All cash dividends declared yesterday totaled about $20,000,000, bringing the total for this month to $279,000,000. Since the start of November cash dividends have amounted to $1,162,200,000.

Savings Association Pays.

The First Federal Saving and Loan Association of Chicago yesterday declared a semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent to 1,300 shareholders.

Directors of the General Stockyards corporation voted a special dividend of $1 per share on common stock, a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on common and the regular quarterly of $1.50 on preferred. The company paid 50 cents a share on common stock Nov. 2.

An initial dividend of 30 cents a share was ordered by Bartgis Brothers company of Baltimore on its common stock. The company also declared an initial dividend at the rate of 6 per cent on the new convertible cumulative preferred stock, covering the period between the date of issue, early in December, to the end of the year.

A dividend of 60 cents a share was declared by the directors of the Taylor-Wharton Iron and Steel company, Waston, Pa., on the concern's no par capital stock.

Trust Declares Specials.

Directors of Selected American Shares, Inc., large Chicago mutual investment fund, declared two special year-end dividends totaling $2,186,883 on the common capital stock. One payment, derived from normal sources of interest and dividends, is for 10 cents a share. The other, derived from profits on securities purchased and sold, it $3.25, or a total per share of $3.35.

The Easy Washing Machine corporation, Syracuse, N. Y., declared extra dividends of 12½ cents a share on class A and B stocks and the regular quarterly dividends of 12½ cents a share.

Mines Pay Much More.

Dividends paid by five mining companies in the Coeur d'Alene silver, lead and zinc region of Idaho totaled $5,401,847, almost doubling the $2,952,550 declared in 1935. The Sunshine company's 1936 dividend was $3,349,847; Bunker Hill & Sullivan, $1,144,500; Hecla, $600,000; Federal, $300,000, and Sidney, $7,500.

Directors of the Mangel Stores corporation declared a dividend of $5 on the 6½ per cent stock, the first to be paid since December, 1930.

An extra dividend of 15 cents a share and a regular quarterly dividend of 5 cents a share were voted on common stock of the Angostura-Wuppermann corporation.

The Glen Alden Coal company will pay a special dividend of 50 cents a share, bringing the total for the year to $1.50, compared with $2 last year.

Postpone Trade Hearings Against Swift, Armour

New York, Dec. 14.—[Special.]—An indefinite postponement of department of agriculture hearings on charges of unfair trade practices made against the Armour and Swift companies, meat packers, was announced today. Attachés of the department's New York offices said that the hearings could not begin before Jan. 4. The companies are charged with unfair practices in obtaining a monopoly on the meat business of steamship companies and in extending long credit to certain favored debtors.

Bunte Bros. and Jewel Tea Give Bonuses

The Jewel Tea company and Bunte Brothers Candy company were among the concerns announcing bonuses for employés yesterday, with payments for these two firms amounting to $90,000 and $50,000, respectively.

Employés of Jewel Tea will share the special wage extra on Dec. 19. More than 2,400 workers in continuous service from July 12 to Dec. 19, 1936, will receive the Christmas extra.

Individual payments will amount to 1.4 times each worker's average weekly earnings during the twelfth fiscal period. Employés whose average weekly income exceeded $50 will receive only the award based on the $50 maximum.

Third Bonus Granted This Year.

This will be the fifth wage extra voted by the company and the third to be paid during 1936. In the three extras for this year the company will have distributed approximately $325,000 in bonuses to workers.

Bunte Brothers yesterday distributed its bonuses, which range from a week to a month's salary, to the 1,400 employés who have been with the company for a year or more. The payments follow a 5 per cent boost in salaries on Sept. 5. In addition to the profit distribution yesterday, older employés will receive their regular yearly bonus, depending on length of service.

The W. A. Sheaffer Pen company for the third consecutive year announced a profit sharing bonus for more than 1,000 employés, amounting to 5 per cent of each employé's earnings for the year, or 1 per cent more than in the two preceding years.

Get Extra Week's Pay.

Approximately 4,000 employés of the Lerner Stores corporation will receive a Christmas bonus of one week's pay, to be distributed to all regular employés whose salaries do not exceed $75 a week. Part time employés will receive proportionate compensation.

About 2,500 men and women employés in 12 stove foundries and three enameling plants at Belleville, Ill., will benefit by a wage increase of 8¼ per cent. The announcement followed a conference between officials of the Manufacturers' Protective and Development association and representatives of the International Iron Moulders' Union of North America.

It was said the new scale will equal that of the 1929 level.

COMPLETE PLANS TO REORGANIZE BISMARCK HOTEL

Completion of reorganization plans for the Randolph Hotel company, owner of the Bismarck hotel, Palace theater and Metropolitan block, was announced yesterday by Chester R. Davis, chairman of the bondholders' committee. First mortgage bonds were originally issued against the property, known as the Eitel buildings, in an amount of $7,750,000 of which $7,250,000 was outstanding at the time of default.

All shares of common stock of the reorganized Randolph Hotel company have been issued to three trustees in accordance with the committee's plan of reorganization, which has been confirmed by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan under section 77 B of the amended bankruptcy act.

Holders of first mortgages and certificates of deposit will receive 90 per cent of the units of interest in the stock trust, and holders of preferred and common stock, which was outstanding prior to the reorganization will receive the remaining 10 per cent interest.

SHANGHAI MONEY FALLS SHARPLY IN U. S. MARKET

Shanghai dollars dropped sharply in foreign exchange trading at New York yesterday following reports of renewed tension in the far east and the closing of the Shanghai Stock exchange. The Chinese currency lost .30 of a cent, or 30 points, to close at 29.55 cents, with bankers reporting heavy purchases of pound sterling and dollars in the Chinese market.

European currencies were mostly higher against the dollar. The pound rose 5-16 cent to $4.90⅝ and French francs were .00 7-16 cent higher at 4.66⅝ cents. Swiss francs rose .00½ cent to 22.99½ cents, while Dutch guilders were unchanged at 54.45 cents.

An engagement of $7,910,000 in gold for shipment from England brought the total taken there for American account since Sept. 26 to $149,900,000, the New York Federal Reserve bank reported.

TWO CHICAGO BANKS ANNOUNCE ELECTION OF NEW PRESIDENTS

Carl F. Kuehnle Jr., yesterday was elected president of the Central National bank, which opened Oct. 15 at Roosevelt road and Halsted street. Kuehnle, who resigned yesterday as president of the Halsted Exchange National bank, will assume his new duties Dec. 24.

C. F. KUEHNLE.

Directors of the Halsted Exchange National last night elected R. E. Law, vice president of the Stockyards National bank, East St. Louis, Ill., as president and director to succeed Kuehnle.

During Kuehnle's four years with Halsted National that bank's deposits rose from $200,000 to $8,000,000 and the bank's capital structure increased from $100,000 to $300,000.

Kuehnle, a native of Iowa, came to Chicago after several years of country banking and two years with a New York bank.

ORDER ADDITION TO JANE ADDAMS HOUSES STARTED

Orders for starting construction on the Jane Addams houses addition, comprising about one-fourth of the total capacity of PWA subsidized housing in Chicago, were received from Washington yesterday by Chester A. Inman, district housing manager for the Public Works administration.

The orders were transmitted by Inman to Maurice L. Bein, Inc., and the Malkov Lumber Company, Inc., who recently were awarded the main construction contract jointly on their bid of $2,224,334. It is expected work will be started tomorrow. The contract calls for completion by Dec. 15, 1937.

Thirteen three story apartment buildings, containing 483 living units with 1,668 rooms, will be built as the addition. The original Jane Addams houses, now 32 per cent complete, will provide nearly 800 living units on Roosevelt road near Loomis street.

GOODYEAR PLANS NEW TIRE PLANT AT JACKSON, MICH.

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 14.—(AP)—Officials of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company charted plans today to construct a new plant here which they said would cost $3,500,000 and would start production June 15 with 1,500 men employed.

Clifton Slosser, vice president in charge of Goodyear production, and other officials from Akron, O., have made a personal inspection of the 38 acre site which Goodyear bought recently from the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel corporation.

Slosser said the Jackson factory will produce 5,400 passenger car tires and 1,000 truck tires and tubes daily.

Utilities Win New Victory in TVA Fight

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Private power companies won their first real victory over the government's utility yardstick plan today when Federal Judge John J. Gore issued a temporary injunction limiting expansion of Tennessee Valley Authority power facilities.

Under the injunction TVA is prohibited from soliciting new customers or negotiating new contracts. Transmission lines and other facilities now under construction may be completed but not used pending further orders from the court.

Rural coöperative distribution systems and other facilities being built by TVA for electric membership corporations can be completed and put into immediate use provided they already have contracts to purchase power.

Some Activities Untouched.

The injunction did not stop dam building nor interfere with electric service now being supplied to customers by the government agency.

A tense moment in today's hearing came when private utilities counsel, headed by Newton D. Baker, read an affidavit claiming that the TVA had turned its power into Gibson, a small west Tennessee town, while the injunction was being argued.

Third Round in Battle.

This was the third round lost by the TVA in a battle instituted last summer by nineteen power companies who claimed President Roosevelt's prize New Deal experiment is unconstitutional.

First, the TVA raised the question of jurisdiction, maintaining that any such suit brought against the authority had to be brought in the northern district of Alabama. That motion lost, counsel moved for dismissal on the ground that the suit presents no issue for the court to decide. That failed also.

Then the power companies asked the TVA activities be curbed until the original suit can be heard on its merits here March 8. They won today.

EXPORT SALES OF AIRPLANES SET NEW RECORD

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Exports of aeronautical products from the United States during the current year have been at record levels, the commerce department reported today.

Shipments abroad under this classification in the first ten months were valued at $18,271,077, compared with $12,164,768 in the corresponding period of 1935, an increase of approximately 50 per cent. The 1936 ten month total, it was pointed out, is 4 per cent greater than that recorded for the full year 1934 and 28 per cent in excess of the 1935 total.

Exports of aircraft were valued at $8,786,326 in the January-October period of 1936 against $5,944,312; parts and accessories, $5,089,513 against $4,220,772, and parachutes, $266,794 against $111,066, it was stated.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES TO HIGHEST LEVEL IN NEARLY SEVEN YEARS

The steel industry is currently operating at the highest level since February, 1930, rising 2.6 points this week to 79.2 per cent of productive capacity, according to an estimate made yesterday by the American Iron and Steel institute.

A month ago operations averaged 74.1 per cent of capacity and a year ago the rate was 54.6 per cent.

Experts in the industry said that back of the rise in output was the advance buying of steel by the motor industry and the demand from railroads.

Continued strength in scrap steel prices was also cited as a symptom of the industry's improved condition. Some of the steel buying is also traced to sources wishing to anticipate higher prices after Jan. 1.

BALDWIN ENGINE ORDERS LARGEST IN SEVEN YEARS

November bookings of the Baldwin Loromotive Works and its subsidiaries totaled $8,876,849, the largest volume in more than seven years, it was announced yesterday. The total compared with bookings of $3,092,739 in October and $2,311,739 in November, 1935. For the eleven months ended Nov. 30 bookings totaled $35,744,910, compared with $16,444,965 in the like 1935 period.

Shipments totaled $1,723,500 in November, compared with $2,172,938 in October and $1,228,098 in November, 1935. Total shipments up to Nov. 30 were $20,729,935, compared with $19,095,932 for the corresponding 1935 period.

Unfilled orders totaled $21,664,198 on Nov. 30, compared with $6,689,081 on Jan. 1, 1936, and $6,739,683 on Nov. 30, 1935. The company has on hand orders for 136 steam locomotives and 41 extra tenders.

The Bethlehem Steel corporation has received an order for 500 ore cars from the Great Northern railway. The Western Pacific is reported to be inquiring for 200 box cars as part of its 1937 program.

BANK CREDITORS' LAWYERS DENIED FEES BY COURT

Eighteen attorneys for depositors and other creditors of the Cosmopolitan State bank were denied fees yesterday by Superior Judge Walter T. Stanton.

"I am not in favor of running up debts of any institution where the depositors have accepted cash for part of their claims and waived the rest for stock in order to set up a new bank," said Judge Stanton.

"You better sit down and talk fast to settle your fees. I can see now that you are not entitled to any," Judge Stanton told Attorneys Jacob Logan Fox and L. E. Hart Jr., representing stockholders, when they said they were offered $3,500 to "get rid of their nuisance value."

Depositors waived 60 per cent of their claims and accepted an interest in the liquidation of slow assets of the old bank as part of a plan under which the Cosmopolitan National bank was opened several months ago.

BANKER STIRS WHEELER'S IRE AT RAIL HEARING

Defends Wide Power of Van Sweringens.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—The senate interstate commerce committee, which is investigating the operation of holding companies in the vast Van Sweringen rail system, today was embarrassed when William C. Potter, chairman of the board of the Guaranty Trust company of New York, delivered a sizzling reply to the intimations and innuendoes which have been thrown out at the quiz thus far by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.].

W. C. POTTER. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Potter and Wheeler engaged in a spirited exchange after the senator became irritated because the witness answered the charge that the Van Sweringens had been given "wide powers" to manage the system bearing their names, by pointing out that alphabetical corporations of the government had been given just as great powers during the last four years.

Cites New Deal Agencies.

"It is common practice in the case of modern corporations to give them the widest powers," said Potter. "I have with me charters of the Commodity Credit corporation, Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, and Federal Subsistence Homesteads corporation, all of which were incorporated during the last four years under the direct auspices of the United States government. I shall be glad to have these put into the record.

"The incorporators of the Commodity Credit corporation are Henry A. Wallace, Henry Morgenthau Jr., and Oscar Johnston. The incorporators of Federal Surplus Commodities corporation are Henry A. Wallace, Harold L. Ickes, and Harry L. Hopkins. The incorporators of Federal Subsistence Homesteads corporation are Harold L. Ickes, Oscar L. Chapman, and M. L. Wilson.

Tells of Powers.

"I shall not attempt even to summarize all these extensive powers granted to these corporations. I should merely like to note in passing that the Commodity Credit corporation is authorized to borrow money without limit and to purchase securities of any corporation organized under the laws of any state, country, nation or government and that the other corporations have similar powers. I do not say this in criticism, but merely to show the common practice."

"Are you putting these men you have named in the same class as the Morgans and Van Sweringens?" cried Wheeler.

"They're all good men," replied Potter, smiling at the wrath of the Montana senator.

Based on Federal Policies.

"The activities of the Van Sweringens in connection with the eastern railroads were founded on the policy of favoring consolidations of railroads into a few great systems that was declared by congress in the transportation act of 1920," Potter declared. "This consolidation policy originated in congress.

"After prolonged hearings it received the indorsement of this com-

Commodities Rise Sharply; Metals Lead

Domestic copper, lead and zinc all reached new high prices since early in 1930 and copper for export sold at a figure equalling the 1930 peak.

Cocoa for future delivery jumped more than a third of a cent a pound. Rubber futures advanced one-fourth of a cent, and cottonseed oil and hides also registered sharp gains. Cotton advanced moderately, but was irregular at the close.

Domestic Copper Rises.

Domestic copper led with a boost of ½ cent to 11 cents a pound. Heavy domestic demand and the soaring export price, caused in large part by the requirements of armament manufacturers, was assigned as the stimulant. Transactions in export copper were reported at 10.90 cents a pound.

Lead, also in heavy demand, was quoted at 5.25 to 5.35 cents a pound at East St. Louis and 5.40 to 5.55 cents in New York, an increase of from .10 of a cent to .20 of a cent.

Metal Products Higher.

Bare and magnet copper wire and brass and copper products rose ½ cent a pound in sympathy. Week-end demand for the red metal was exceptionally lively, with sales of 22,982,000 pounds reported, against 2,444,000 pounds the previous week.

Following an advance of 3-16 of a penny in London, the price of imported bar silver in New York was set at 45½ cents an ounce, an increase of ¼ cent.

BOND FLOTATION OF MIDDLE WEST UNIT IS PROBED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—The Securities and Exchange commission today indicated a new line of inquiry into the affairs of utility companies when it conducted a lengthy examination into the flotation of a new $5,000,000 issue of 4 per cent first mortgage bonds for Kansas Electric Power company, a subsidiary of Middle West corporation, Chicago.

The hearing, conducted on a declaration filed by the utility operating concern, revolved around the question of whether or not A. G. Becker & Co., Chicago investment bankers, had not wielded influence through holdings in Middle West to become manager for the underwriting groups in the new bonds and also to obtain a spread of 2½ points on sales to the public.

Lester Roth, vice president of the Becker house, asserted his firm had acquired less than 6 per cent of the outstanding 190,000 shares of Middle West as a business proposition and that this had nothing to do with its selection as manager. He said a 2½ per cent spread for underwriting services was not unusual. Similar testimony was offered by John E. Barber, vice president of Middle West Service company.

CONTINENTAL STOCK CROSSES $200, NEW PEAK

Common stock of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company yesterday set another new high since issuance in 1933, with sellers asking more than $200 a share. Closing quotations were $6.50 a share above Saturday at $199 bid, $201 asked.

First National stock improved slightly to $290 bid, up $2, and $294 asked, up $3. National Builders rose $5 a share to $100 bid, $110 asked, and Northern Trust gained the same amount to $795 bid, $805 asked. Harris Trust eased $2 in bids to $428, while sellers continued to ask $435.

STOCKS CLIMB; CHEERFUL NEWS SPURS TRADING

Steels and Utilities Share Spotlight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 14. — The stock market traveled along at a brisk pace today. Traders came back from the week-end in a cheerful frame of mind and pushed prices forward in the general list from fractions to 2 points. Some of the specialties showed even more impressive plus signs. Nearly all sections of the market took part in the advance with steel shares, metals, and utilities sharing the spotlight.

Trading broadened as the list moved forward with large blocks of low priced equities appearing on the tape. Transactions totaled 2,865,920 shares. While the session was definitly bullish, trading was orderly.

Market Gathers Strength.

Almost from the beginning the market reflected an improved position, but it was not until well into the forenoon that it was able to display its real power.

Traders came back to the financial district armed with a combination of bullish developments. Steel shares were prominent from the opening bell as the American Iron and Steel institute estimated that the industry will operate this week at the highest rate since May, 1930.

Substantial new demand boosted prices in the section with U. S. Steel and Bethlehem each mounting a point. Among the lesser lights, Crucible rose 2⅜ and Republic picked up a point.

Utilities shares stepped into the limelight in the afternoon on news that the Supreme court had ordered a retrial of the Duke power case, testing the matter of purchase of plants for public operation.

Some Carriers Fail to Rise.

Some of the carrier shares and a number of merchandising issues failed to join in the advance. R. H. Macy lost more than a point. J. I. Case lost 3½ points despite the boom in the wheat market, but other farm implement shares came forward. Deere registered an advance of 2 points and International Harvester moved up a fraction. Mail orders did little.

The boost in the price of copper to 11 cents a pound provided stimulus for the metal group where prices rose from fractions to more than 2 points. Anaconda posted a gain of 2½ points, Kennecott moved up more than a point, Calumet and Hecla rose 1½, Cerro de Pasco annexed a profit of 3¼, and Anaconda Wire spurted 5½ points in a thin market.

After its sharp decline last week, American Can turned and climbed 4⅝. Continental Can also turned strong.

Motor shares had a good day. Chrysler tacked up a gain of 2 points and General Motors rose 1½. Yellow Truck jumped 2⅛. Goodrich set a new record high. Oils hardened and Corn Products rose briskly.

STOCK EXCHANGE CUTS ITS DUES, READJUSTS PAY

New York, Dec. 14.—(AP)—The New York Stock exchange today announced a "selective" pay lift for employés and a reduction of members' dues.

Members' quarterly dues, which are their contribution to the exchange's operating expenses, were cut to $200 from $250 for the first three months of 1937. If continued for the full year the saving to members would aggregate $335,000. The constitution of the exchange limits members' annual dues to $1,000 each.

EMPHASIZING PROFESSIONAL

Investment Counsel as we practice it is distinctly professional, in equipment, methods, and point of view. The stress we lay on independent research, costly though it is, indicates our policy to replace guess-work with exact knowledge. The results completely justify it.

Each account is carefully studied and continuously supervised in and for itself. Our services to our clients are wholly personal. The findings of our research staff, economists, accountants, monetary experts, and specialists in particular industries, are applied to each account separately by an experienced counsellor.

And since the services of our staff of over 50 are shared by a large number of clients, the cost to any one account of $100,000 or more becomes very reasonable.

BUSINESS LOANS SET NEW PEAK FOR RECOVERY

Increase Is 32 Million in Last Week.

Commercial loans during the week ended Dec. 9 rose 32 million dollars to reach a new peak for the recovery period of 4 billion 100 million, according to the weekly report made public yesterday by the federal reserve board covering operations of member banks in 101 cities.

There was a drop of 54 millions in reserves with federal reserve banks, the total on Dec. 9 standing at 5 billion 317 million. The decline was attributed in part to the fact that money in circulation usually rises during the Christmas season, declining after the end of the year.

Interbank Deposits Fall.

Another seasonal development was a decline of 63 millions in interbank deposits of domestic banks, indicating that the country banks have been drawing down money to meet the demands of the holiday season. On Dec. 9 interbank deposits stood at 6 billion 218 million, an increase of 760 million over the total for the corresponding 1935 week.

Bank holdings of direct obligations of the United States government totaled 9 billion 192 million, an increase of 19 million over the preceding week and 696 over the total for the corresponding 1935 week.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was firm today. Prices remained nominally unchanged at 3.77c per lb for spots and 3.75 for new crop sugar. No sales were reported. Holders were asking considerably higher prices, with new crops held at from 3.85 up to 3.90. An initial advance of 2 to 3 points on buying encouraged by a bullish interpretation of the new quota figures was followed by reactions. Final prices were unchanged to 1 point net higher with sales of 14,400 tons. The sugar quota figures for 1937 were fixed at 6,682,670 short tons by the AAA, which was about 130,000 tons below the final adjusted figure for this year.

BANKER STIRS WHEELER'S IRE AT RAIL HEARING

Tells Broad Powers of Van Sweringens.

mittee and it became law with the signature of President Wilson. The desirability of railroad consolidations was repeatedly pointed out by each successive President, including Franklin D. Roosevelt, who in 1932 urged that 'proposed consolidations of railroads, which are lawful and in the public interest, should be pressed to a conclusion.'"

"The government doesn't take from the widows and orphans!" Wheeler cried at this point, with what some listeners thought was a degree of irrelevance.

"It might be regarded as taking it away from them with one hand and giving it back to them with the other," Potter remarked mildly.

Handled Sale of Securities.

Potter has been a witness at the hearing because the Guaranty company participated in the sale to the public of Alleghany corporation securities. The corporation controled the Van Sweringen system. Guaranty was trustee for the purchasers of $85,000,000 worth of bonds issued and Potter pointed out that it insisted that the bonds be secured by the deposit of collateral worth at least $150 for each $100 of bonds.

"We believed the bonds represented a sound investment," Potter told the committee. "They were amply secured and with provisions giving the wisest protection to the investor. The record of the last six years demonstrates that this belief was well founded."

As to the sale of $62,500,000 in preferred stock in which the Guaranty company also participated, Potter remarked that "stock is not a debt, but a share in the ownership. If things go badly, the bondholders must be paid before there is anything for the stockholder. This is recognized by the public and the preferred stock was sold on this basis."

Denies Secrecy in Deal.

Potter disputed flatly the accusation of Senator Wheeler that secrecy surrounded the pledging of stock by Alleghany corporation with the Guaranty Trust company. The stock was placed in the names of nominees, he explained, because requirements as to delivery and exchange necessitated that it be done, but this practice did not result in concealment of real ownership of that stock by Alleghany or of the fact that it was held in pledge by the Guaranty Trust company," he said.

The committee spent most of today inquiring into the transaction whereby the Van Sweringens in October, 1930, sold $10,500,000 of Missouri Pacific bonds to J. P. Morgan & Co. at par. The bonds were selling at 105⅛ on the market at that time. The Guaranty company participated to the extent of $3,000,000 in this purchase.

The Van Sweringens needed the money to complete the purchase of railroad terminals in Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., from the Swift and Armour packing interests.

The Van Sweringens intended to repurchase the bonds, but their option to do so expired April 16, 1931, when the bonds had declined to 82½ and were still descending.

Wheeler tried to get Potter to admit that the transaction was in reality a bank loan and not a purchase, but Potter steadfastly denied it.

FEDERAL FISCAL CHIEFS DISCUSS BANKING LAWS

Say No Radical Measures Will Be Requested.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. today met with the chief fiscal officials of the government for a discussion of banking legislation that the administration would request from the incoming congress in January.

Later in the day the secretary refused to comment on the conference, maintaining that it was "executive," but it was learned from a reliable source that no major radical measures, such as the banking act of 1935, would emanate from the New Deal at this session of congress.

May Simplify Examinations.

The possibility of doing away with overlapping functions for bank examinations, as prescribed by the federal reserve board, Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, and officers of the controler of the currency, was explored at the conference. Subsequent sessions of the group will shape the character of this legislation, as well as other amendments to clarify the existing banking laws.

Besides Morgenthau the others who participated were the following: Chairman Marriner Eccles of the federal reserve board, Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, Chairman Leo Crowley of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, and Controler of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor.

Another Meeting Today.

Morgenthau disclosed that the chiefs of the principal lending agencies of the government would meet with him tomorrow. Chairman John H. Fahey of the Home Owners Loan corporation had a long talk with the treasury secretary this afternoon but its nature was not disclosed.

China's military crisis had not so far affected the monetary agreement entered into by the United States and the oriental nation last winter, Morgenthau said. Under the agreement, the exact terms of which have never been revealed, the United States agrees to buy silver from China with gold which the latter country is using to bolster up her managed currency.

"It's not a pleasant situation, of course," said Morgenthau, in connection with the reported seizure of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. "It is one that has to be watched hourly and we're doing that. It is too confused to draw any definite conclusions from it. Every hour brings contradictory reports."

Dawes Bros. Asks Tax Board to Set Aside Assessment

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—(AP)—The Central Republic company and Dawes Brothers, Inc., asked the board of tax appeals today to set aside an income deficiency for 1929 of $14,921. They contended the internal revenue commissioner erred in finding them to be transferee of the assets of the Central Trust company of Illinois.

LARD HITS NEW PEAKS, BUT FALLS OFF SLIGTHLY

Aggressive buying of lard futures yesterday by eastern interests, based on the strength in grains and cottonseed oil, advanced prices to new high levels for the season. Heavy profit taking caused a recession from the top, with the close at net gains of 17½ to 25 cents. There was no evidence of foreign buying, according to brokers.

Card lard was quoted at $13..45; loose, $12.65; leaf, $12.25, and clear bellies, $16.50 per 100 pounds. Prices follow:

Court Dismisses Mills Novelty Action.

A suit filed by the Mills Novelty company in April, 1935, against some 80 ice cream manufacturers asking damages of $46,929,395 for an alleged conspiracy to form an ice cream monopoly was dismissed yesterday by Judge John P. Barnes in Federal District court here on a motion of the plaintif.

The Mills company, which was assessed court costs, had alleged the companies named in its suit conspired to block sale of a counter ice cream making machine. Similar suits are pending in the United States District courts in New York and Los Angeles where the Mills company is asking damages of $54,000,000.

Plaintif Drops Suit.

It was reported that the case was dropped by the plaintif when it was unable to comply with an order issued by the court Oct. 16 asking the filing of a bill of particulars within 60 days.

Among the companies named in the action were the National Dairy Products corporation, the Borden company Beatrice Creamery company, and the Colden State Company, Ltd. Damages sought were treble damages under provisions of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws.

Action Started in April, 1935.

The court action by the Mills company in April, 1935, closely followed the filing by the federal trade commission of a complaint against the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers and its officers and members which made similar charges of unfair competition in restraint of trade.

In its suit against the ice cream companies the Mills concern charged them with sponsoring and causing to be enacted legislation "ostensibly designed to establish standards of sanitation, but which was in reality initiated for the purpose of suppressing competition" in the sale of ice cream from counter freezers.

ALL LIVE STOCK PRICES SLUMP; SUPPLY LARGER

A break in prices hit all live stock yesterday, increased receipts and narrower eastern buying causing the setback. There was a flurry of action in the hog trade early in the session when a few orders came out for supplies on a steady basis, but this did not last long and the bulk of the supply fully 10 cents lower than at the close of last week.

Some final sales were 15 to 20 cents under the high spot of the forenoon. However, as prices went down demand on local account increased, resulting in a thorough clearance.

Only a few scattered sales of light steers, yearlings, and hefers escaped the price slashing in the cattle alleys yesterday. The top at $12.75 equaled the season's peak, but only a small portion of the run cashed above $11.50, the bulk bringing $8 to $11.50.

Lambs met a draggy trade at weak to 25 cents lower prices. Yard traders paid the $9.15 top.

COTTON PRICES HIGHER ON EUROPEAN BUYING

Aggressive buying of the deferred deliveries of cotton futures, attributed to European account, yesterday featured trading in that commodity. Closing trades on futures in Chicago were 6 to 13 points higher. December cotton in New Orleans declined 4 points and the same future in New York was off 7 points. The deferred positions in New York advanced 2 to 18 points. [A point equals 1-100 cent a pound or 5 cents a bale.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to 5 points higher with New Orleans at 12.85 cents per pound; New York, 13.05 cents; Huston, 12.70 cents, and Galveston, $12.65 cents. Prices follow:

FLORSHEIM SHOE PROFITS SET NEW PEAK SINCE 1930

Total $1,041,330; Gains in Sales Reported.

Earnings of the Florsheim Shoe company, Chicago, in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, amounted to $1,041,330, largest for any year since 1930, and nearly double those of last year, according to the annual statement issued yesterday.

The net profit for the last year was equivalent to $2.60 a share on the outstanding class A common and $1.30 a share on the outstanding class B common.

In the preceding fiscal year the company's net profits of $591,349 were equivalent to $1.48 a share on the class A stock and 74 cents a share on the B stock. In 1930 the company earned $1,909,937, or $4.18 and $2.09, respectively, on the class A and B shares.

All Divisions Gain.

"Earnings, which are substantially better than the previous year, are a result of the improvement that occurred in all divisions of our business," said Irving S. Florsheim, president, in his report to stockholders. "Present sales, at both wholesale and retail, are running well ahead of a year ago and there is every indication that the present season will show a considerable improvement over the previous year."

Current assets on Oct. 31, 1936, amounted to $7,428,206, including cash of $1,409,949, against current liabilities of $481,761, according to the company's balance sheet of that date. A year earlier, current assets were $6,980,650, with cash of $1,327,834, against current liabilities of $349,950.

Others Report Gains.

Wilson-Jones company of Chicago reported net income for the first quarter, ended Nov. 30, of the company's fiscal year, amounting to $143,878, or $1.05 a share on the common stock, compared with $90,185, or 66 cents a share, in the corresponding quarter of last year. Net sales for the quarter were $2,173,974, an increase of 19 per cent over the $979,117 for the like period of last year.

At the annual meeting of Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., in Wilmington, Del., yesterday consolidated profits for the quarter ended Nov. 28 were estimated at more than $2,000,000, which would compare with a profit of $1,031,316 for the corresponding period last year. The company is negotiating for refinancing, it was said.

PRICES OF EGGS LOWER; BUTTER CLOSES HIGHER

Refrigerator eggs for future delivery declined a cent a dozen yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Above normal temperatures for this season in the west held out prospects of increased production of fresh eggs and buyers were holding back in expectation of still lower prices.

Trade in butter futures was not large with prices ⅛ to ¼ cent higher. Sales were 55 cars. Prices follow:

WHEAT PRICES SOAR 5 TO 8c ON SHORTAGE FEARS

Prices Reach 7 Year Peak in Heavy Trading.

"Empty Handed in a Bull Market," by Arthur W. Baum in the current Country Gentleman.

Baum predicts that when the present wheat crop year ends on next July 31 there will be left in the world only about six weeks' supply of wheat. In the meantime, he observes, Canada, Argentina and Australia are cashing in on the opportunity.

Baum attributes much of the current problem of American wheat growers to the crop curtailment experiments of 1933, 1934, and early 1935. He declares that the Agricultural Adjustment administration was speculating the other way and was diametrically wrong in its wheat operations.

Europe's Bins Are Empty.

The significance of the prospect of heavier purchases of grain by European importing nations lies in the fact that the bins of the big exporting nations do not contain enough to meet the probable demand during the current crop year.

Statisticians have been warning the trade of an impending shortage for months, but, as is usually the case, realization of the full meaning of this situation has been dawning very slowly on the public. The situation was pointed out in THE TRIBUNE last July 26 by Frank Ridgway, agricultural editor, who presented statistics showing the world wheat crop was a half billion bushels short and that a normal demand for the grain would consume the entire world's reserve supply, leaving no carryover for next year.

Chicago trade statisticians now estimate that world import requirements of wheat from Dec. 12, 1936, to July 31, 1937, will total 385 million bushels, including the amounts needed by Germany, and that the exporting nations can supply only about 350 million bushels.

World Crop Is Short.

According to latest estimates the world's wheat crop this year aggregated 3 billion 490 million bushels, the smallest since 1925. The total available supply, including the carryover from preceding years, was placed at 4 billion 234 million bushels, the lowest in ten years.

These figures, however, do not tell the whole story. Germany, France, Italy and other nations this year have produced much unmillable wheat, suitable only for feed. The amount of this inferior wheat is not ascertainable.

In a report yesterday commenting on the European wheat situation the bureau of agricultural economics reported that the wheat crop this year was generally of below average quality, with a test weight of one to two pounds per bushel below the 1935 crop. Rains at harvest time, said this authority, caused much deterioration.

BORROW at
on YOUR Signature
REDUCED RATES
ON ALL LOANS ABOVE $100.
HOW YOU CAN BORROW.
1. If you can make monthly payments you can qualify for a loan.
2. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
3. No inquiries made of employer or friends.
HOW YOU CAN REPAY.
1. Payments on all loans are small. For example, payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
2. Monthly rate is 2% on the balance above $100, 3% on $100 or less. On $200 repaid in 20 months this is substantially less than the lawful maximum on loans over $100.
No Endorsers.

Promise-to-Pay
PLAN
No Security—No Endorsers.
No Wage Assignments.
Just Your Plain Note
Now you can get a loan on just your Promise-to-Pay. If you can make regular payments, sign only a plain note and nothing else. It is just like borrowing from a friend on a simple I. O. U.—no endorsers, no wage assignments, co-makers, furniture, real estate, stocks, bonds, diamonds, or other security required. We take you at your word and give you the money you need on just your Promise-to-Pay. Unbelieveably simple. Your honesty, integrity, and ability to pay are absolutely the sole requirements for a loan on the New Promise-to-Pay Plan.
Reduced Rates
Monthly charges are 3% on balances up to $100 and only 2% on balances above $100. Also all other types of loans at the same reduced cost. For full particulars stop in, write, or telephone the office nearest you.
